PROSPECTUS.—"Of making many books there is no end," and the multiplication of newspapers is the popular source of educating the people. We are aware that the idea is quite prevalent that Bradford County has too many papers, but with the large number not one is wholly devoted to the interest of the great producing class—the agriculturists—and at the urgent solicitation of some of the best practical farmers in the county, we have decided to commence about the first of the new year, a local agricultural weekly, especially adapted to the wants of the farmers of this section. The contributors to the paper will embrace the best practical farmers in the county, and we shall aim to make it of real value to every tiller of the soil, dairyman and stock raiser in the county, by giving the results of experiments by those in whom the classes interested have confidence, and whose success in business is an evidence of thorough practical knowledge.

The paper will contain a condensation of the general news and the fullest local notes. Fuller particulars hereafter.

Major F. Melchor, editor of the Charleston (S. C.) Deutsche Zeitung, writes: "One of my pressman, Mr. J. M. Wheaton, was cured of a severe case of rheumatism by the use of St. Jacobs Oil, after other remedies had failed. He speaks very highly of it, and I think such a preparation is deserving of the highest praise that can be given it."

THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE.—The prospectus of THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE for 1882, will be found in another column. THE TRIBUNE needs no commendation. As an authority in political, commercial and literary matters its reliability cannot be controverted, and it is too well established to require comment. The mantle of Horace Greeley has fallen upon worthy shoulders, and THE TRIBUNE'S advocacy of the rights of the people in their persons and property is as fearless as in the days of its illustrious founder. Its able discussion of the leading questions of the day, its bright and fearless editorials, and its choice literary contents have combined to render it one of the most popular and valuable of the metropolitan journals, and its European reputation is excelled by no similar periodical on this side of the Atlantic.
