IMPORTANT TO TRAVELERS.—Special inducements are offered you by the BURLINGTON ROUTE. It will pay you to read their advertisement to be found elsewhere in this paper.

THE CENTURY MAGAZINE FOR JANUARY.—The third number of the new series of SCRIBNER presents, as a frontispiece, a tint-printed engraving by Cole of Bonnat's portrait of Thiers, accompanying a paper of personal recollections of the first President of the French Republic, by E. B. Washburne, late U. S. Minister at Paris. It is a popular record of stirring events in the establishment and life of the Republic, and acquires especial value from the intimate acquaintance existing between the writer and his subject. Mrs. Mary Hallock Foote's second paper on Mexico deals with "A Provincial Capital," viz: Morelia, and particularly with the home life of the place. The materials for this article and its illustrations were prepared by Mrs. Foote during her recent trip to Mexico. "The Caverns of Luray," by Ernest Ingersoll, is the first fully illustrated magazine paper that has appeared on the subterranean wonders of the newly discovered rival to Mammoth Cave. "The Revival of Burano Lace" is the subject of record by Catharine Cornaro, with drawings made for this paper by the Misses Montalba and the Princess Louise of England, and an engraving by Closson of a portrait of the beautiful Queen of Italy, patroness of the Burano Lace-school. Specimens of lace work are also given for comparison. "Who were the Chartists?" by W. J. Linton (who was himself a Chartist), is a vigorous account and vindication of the workingmen's agitation in England in 1848, with portraits engraved by Mr. Linton of six of the most prominent of the leaders of the movement. Colonel Rockwell's paper of reminiscences of Garfield, which it was not possible to prepare, as designed, for the December number, appears in the present issue under the caption "From Mentor to Elberon." Colonel Rockwell writes in the spirit of warm personal friendship, and deals with General Garfield's attitude toward the presidential nomination, both before and after it came to him; the canvass and his part in it; the home life at Mentor during the summer; his forebodings after the election; the preparation of the inaugural; the harassing crowd of office-seekers; the fortitude of the illness, etc. With this paper is given an engraving by Kruell of the Bierstadt artotype portrait, which is thought to supplement the Sarony picture engraved by Cole in the December number. The most elaborately illustrated paper of the number is Mrs. Lucy M. Mitchell's account of "Oriental and Early Greek Sculpture"—the first of several on Ancient Sculpture. The notable engravings which accompany this paper augur well for the papers to come, which will deal with the richer period of the Phidian age, etc. The Assyrian pieces, such as the "Lion from the Gate of Nimroud" and "The Wounded Lioness," are particularly fine.
