SOMETHING THAT DEMANDS THE IMME DIATE ATTENTION OF EVERY FARMER .---W. W. Stanley, a gentleman from central New York is exhibiting at the Hamilton House, in this village, C. L. Bottum's Patent Excelsior Churn, which he proposes to introduce through the county. He claims that it is simply the common dasher churn remodelled upon scientific principles. There are two processes concerned in churning, mes obanical and chemical. The mechanis cal consists in agitating or dashing the milk or cream in order to break the globules of cream. The chemical consists in introducing air into the cream that the oxygen of the air may unite with the broken globules and form the butter. In the common dasher churn the agitation principle is the greatest. but in the Excelsior the two principles are combined in the same proportion ; so in every instance it takes all the butter out of the cream, for it conforms to the laws of nature. In certain conditions of the cream, the old dasher does this, but tollowed his lonely and difficult road under most circumstances it talls far be- alone, into a rocky ravine three miles butter. This churn is as simple in construction as the old dash, is as easily by ro.ks, a man counting over money -worked and cleaned. It has no metal about it to rust, and is a great improve- the time of one of them had come, for ment on the old dash in gathering butter. Seven churnings have been made near Waynesburg, in every instance the cream was put in one vessel, thoroughly unixed, and half put in the old dasher, and half in the Excelsior, and then churned the blows being struck together. At the house of Daniel Boner, Esq , the butter in common dasher was churned in one hour, in Excelsior 25 minutes. No difference in weight of butter. At Mr. Isaac Inghram's, time in common dasher was 25 minutes and butter weigh ad 1 lb. 12 oz.; time in Excelsior 8 minutes, and batter weighed 1 lb. 14 oz. butter weighed 3 lbs. ? oz , time in Excelsion 10 minutes, and butter weighed 4 lbs. 5 oz. At Mrs. Lantz's, the time in common dasher was 55 minutes, time in Fxcelstor 15 minutes. No difference in weight of butter. At Mr. M. R. 4 of an hour, in Excelsior 17 minutes.
