WAYNESBURG:

WEDNESDAY, JULY 18, 1886.

EVENING—Although Waynesburg cannot boast of the many public improvements, facilities and various other additions that contribute to the "make up" of a handsome country village, yet a stranger, or any one, spending an evening or two with us in the summer season, must acknowledge that we are a gay, fun loving, stirring, sociable town. It is there is one thing over which we like to boast is the good society, hospitality of our citizens, and our fine looking young ladies. Everings now is just the time to see all this verified. No sooner have the shadows attained their greatest length than every thing and every body seems to be awakened from the lethargy of the day. Stately maids and matrons, indulge in pleasant, door-step, chat, "g'y girls" and "lively boys" through the side walk, enlivening their promenade with mirth and repartee. Loud mouthed nebbies contribute to the general conviviality, and last but not least are the groups of staid "lards" gathered here and there discussing the irrepressible topic of "politics." New York may boast of her Central Park, and Fifth Avenue, Philadelphia of her Fairmount and showy Chestnut but for us they bear no comparison, or contrast with the above picture. You may think we're joking, but we are not. As the poet says, "there's nothin' like home—sweet home."—Even Canada flyers don't hesitate coming back—after the war is over.

A TALE OF WOE—I clasped her tiny hand in mine, I clasped her beautiful form, I vowed to shield her from the wind and from the world's cold storm. She cast her beautiful eyes on me, the tears did wildly flow, and said: I pray you do and purchase your Dry Goods of J. S. Gorman, as he is the best, and cheaper than the cheapest.

OPPRESSIVELY WARM—The weather during the past week must have proved a terror to our door workers as well as to our "loafers" about town. Indeed, those burning, scorching days caused the "oldest of us" to languish and sigh for the cool, refrigerative seasons when starchless shirt bosoms and fermentation by the sun process was unknown. At mid day all naturally seek the "lady side" of our street, taking, loitering, yawning, smoking, sleeping, withal presenting a sorry aspect. The "b'ys" can't stand it, those of them who for ever busy themselves in the laudable (?) occupation of doing nothing, betake them selves to the pleasant nooks and refreshing waters of Ten Mile there to spend the day. Unfortunately in his case when hunger compels to endure the martyrdom of a walk to dinner. 'Tis too much for human endurance and after the fatigue of eating he unconsciously "sinks to rest." We have become convinced that "such forbearance cannot always be depended on."

FESTIVAL AND FAIR—The members of the "Chalmers Mite Society" of the Presbyterian Church in this place, will give a grand Festival and Fair at the Court House on Tuesday evening July 31st. Every arrangement has been perfected to make the entertainment one of interest and satisfaction. The citizens of Waynesburg and vicinity are respectfully invited. Proceeds to be used in the advancement of Church interests.

TURN—Go all around to the stores in town and then to Gorman's, and you will be convinced that he sells the cheapest and best goods in the county.

THE SNOW—Tuesday last, the day appointed for the exhibition of Robinson & Co's Great Southwestern circus, came around, but brought no snow. Their agents who posted the bills were on a "bust," and lost their reckoning it is supposed. None will be the worse off hereabouts unless it was the hotel keepers, merchants, vendors of the "red-eyes" and the trading public generally; to the latter class, no doubt, it was a day of mourning. Altogether we regard it as a wholesome disappointment, a saving of immaterial dime, whole "figure heads" and "chairs" craniums. We congratulate our citizens on their escape from such a nuisance.

SUCCESSFUL ROBBERY—Not long since Mr. Michael Gopen, who resides on Dankard creek, near the famous Bob-tail well was robbed under the following circumstances: A man purporting to be an oil speculator introduced himself to Mr. Gopen at his home, making many enquiries as to the region and its prospects. Having obtained satisfactory answers the stranger was about retiring when three men with masked faces rushed into the house, seized and tied Mr. Gopen to a chair. Then with drawn revolvers and threats to kill, they compelled a disclosure of his treasure. They coolly counted it out, some $500 in greenbacks and silver, and took their departure, leaving Mr. Gopen as they placed him. No clue has as yet been gained concerning the perpetrators of the robbery. It is supposed the first individual was an accomplice of the others, and that all were well acquainted with the premises, from the manner in which the deed was done.

Gorman says if people will not buy their goods of him they must lose money.

CORRESPONDENCE containing interesting local news, or of a political nature, solicited from all parts of the county. All communications must be accompanied by the name and address of the writer not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

100 lbs. of Salt, $3.50 per 100, at N. H. McClelland's.

LABOR SAVING WASHING FLUID—Clothes that are washed with this fluid will last and wear as long again as there is no fiction as in the usual mode of washing on boards or machines. Washing Prints with this fluid brightens instead of fading them, and the expense is but a trifle more, to say nothing of the time and labor saved. Does not take half the soap. This recipe was introduced in this country from Germany. It is also very good for removing tar or grease.

A full recipe, printed and delivered for one dollar, by Samuel Hartzell.

Gorman buys cheaper than any merchant in town or county.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL—On Saturday last Officer Taylor arrested Wm. Roup, on complaint of Mr. J. H. Hook, for assault and battery; failing to bail he was sent to the county jail, to await his hearing. It will be remembered that said Roup was one of the chief instigators of the disgraceful rows in Jefferson on the 4th.

Saturday night was made hideous by the wild orgies of some person or persons who had evidently been taking their "beer." Where was our valiant (?) constabulary force?

Gorman buys for cash and sells for cash.

AN INCONTROVERTIBLE ARGUMENT.

The fact of any distinguished music teacher or amateur purchasing a particular make of piano for his or her use, is of undoubted importance to the public, as it indicates unerringly the kind best adapted for their use; and it is potent to every one that a music teacher of reputation must know what a good piano is, and that none but a No. 1 instrument will withstand the many hours daily practice it receives at their hands. Prof. Roubek, who is known to all our citizens as an artist and teacher of rare ability, has just bought one of Chickering & Sons New Scale Pianos, from the agents in this city, Messrs. Melior & Co. We have even heard the piano, but think it needless to speak of our high appreciation of its merits; the fact of its satisfying the delicate musical organization of such an artist as the Prof., speaks stronger than any words we could write. It is now more than twenty-five years since Prof. Roubek decided that the "Chickering" were the piano, and his opinion has been unvarying to this day. During this period he has purchased pianos of other makes, and although many of them proved good, yet none of them fully satisfied him, because they did not possess the touch, tone and durability that he considered absolutely necessary in a piano. These qualities, we have his word for it, he has always found developed to the highest degree of perfection in the "Chickering," and consequently has given them the preference. The Messrs. Chickering & Sons, and the Agents, Messrs. Melior & Co., of this city, have reason to congratulate themselves on this further proof of the Prof.'s partiality for the "Chickering."—Eds. Chronicle. See advertisement in another column.

The Genius of Liberty says that at the late term of court held in Greene county there was not a single criminal case for trial. We have understood that the Democratic majority would be considerably reduced in that county this fall, and this would seem to indicate that such will be the case.—Wash. Rep.

THE "GLOUBIOUS FOURTH" IN THE LATE REBEL CAPITAL—The Richmond press does not evince a great deal of spirit in their report of the "Fourth of July" celebration in that city. The Times says: "We strain our ears to catch the music of old, hoping that the future may perpetuate the tune, and that the crest of the wave that bears us on may reflect in its spray drops the glories that were." We have but little feeling to recount the deeds of last Fourth of July. It was a sad change from the olden time. The Square and all its surroundings were crowded with negroes from country and town. The State House, which has echoed with the eloquence of the fathers, was blackened with a horde of these blacks, and the monuments which were intended to perpetuate their fame were desecrated by their adornments. They marched through the streets with bands of music and banners waving, with swords at their sides and feathers in their caps. In front of the procession was an open carriage in which was seated three black fellows (which we took to be the honored orator and his aids), each holding in his hand a huge bouquet. Then followed about fifty negro cavalry men, well mounted, and each wearing a sword by his side. The next in order came the different societies while, behind, before, on each side, and all around thousands of them trotted along, yelling and whooping as it experienced the greatest joy. Scarcely a white person could be seen on the streets while the procession was passing.

The Internal Revenue bill needs only the President's signature to make it a law. It repeals and reduces taxes to the amount of at least $100,000,000 per annum. When before was a Government able to so reduce taxes to the amount of more than a year after the close of a bloody, protracted and most costly war?

THE HOUSEMAN MURDER—TRIAL OF THE MURDERERS.

The trial of Richard Thairwell and Mrs. Mary Houseman, for the murder of Jas. Houseman of Cookstown, Fayette Co. Pa., has just been concluded, resulting in the acquittal of Mrs. H., and the conviction of Thairwell, of murder in the first degree.

THAIRWELL'S CONFESSION BEFORE THE COURT.—When I went to board at Houseman's house, another man went to board with me; he went to Portsville to work in the coal mines there, and six weeks afterwards he wrote a letter to me, asking me to go to Portsville; Mr. and Mrs. Houseman saw the letter, and advised me not to leave; they said I must not go away; Houseman then went down street, when Mrs. Houseman said she wanted me herself, that she did not love her husband, but loved me, she said she would poison him, and procured something which she said would kill rats, when that day Mr. H. complained of being unwell, I went to her and told her she was giving her husband poison, when she replied that she had done so, I told her I would tell the doctor, when she said for God's sake not to do it, and she would not give him any more; she asked me to knock him on the head with an ax, but I would not do it. After Mr. H. and myself had a slight quarrel, she came to my room and coaxed me to shoot her husband. He was lying on the lounge at the time. The morning before I had intended to go hunting; I had borrowed Mr. H.'s gun; bought some ammunition, and asked Dr. Dougherty's son to go with me; a keel the Dr. for bullet wounds, when he said he would get me a pair. On Tuesday night I came into the house about nine o'clock and she wanted me to get the gun and shoot him then; I looked in the room, and saw her in bed; she said "do it now," I then took the gun, went into the room where he was lying and shot him; she had a tub ready to catch the blood, and said she had a plan already fixed; I said we had better let him lay in the house until morning, and then go and confess; she said "No we will put him in the river; she said we could float him up; she held the rope which had been tied around his neck and I rowed the skiff; when she let the rope go she said: "Good by Jim," when we came back to the house she went to see if the children were asleep; she took the bloody clothes and put them in a bucket of water; she said she would burn the rest; said she would put his boots in the privy; I felt sick and laid down on the lounge; when she got through with her work she came and laid down beside me, and said I must not stay too long but get up, make a fire, and she would take a basket and go down and feed the horses; she said that I should go to the coal bank to avoid suspicion.

THE JURY returned on their return rendered a verdict of "guilty of murder in the first degree." Thairwell entirely refused to testify against Mrs. H., admitting that her daughter had secured such a promise from him while he was in prison. Here the Judge severely criticised the conduct of the father in abetting persons to the accused before trial.

VERDICT IN MRS. H. CASE.—As the jury were about to retire, Mrs. H. exclaimed, "Now, gentlemen, I place myself at your mercy. Pity me." The jury returned and in the presence of a large audience, breathless with anxiety, pronounced the verdict of "not guilty." The verdict was received with manifest dissatisfaction, so much that it was thought necessary for Mrs. H. to be kept in the jail over the following night, lest violence might be done by the people.
