MAKE FARM LIFE ATTRACTIVE. 1. By less hard work. Farmers often undertake more than they can do well, and consequently work too early and too late. 2. By more system. The farmer should have a time to begin and stop labor. They should theorize as well as practice, and let both go together. Farming is healthly, moral and respectable; and in the long run may be made profitable T e farmer should keep good stock and out of debt-The firm is the best place to begin and end life, and hence sy many in the cities and professional life covet rural home.

3. By taking care of health. Far ners have healthy variety of exercise but too often neglect cleanliness omit bathing, eat irregularly and hur riedly, sleep in ill ventilated apartments, and expose themselves to colds Nine tenths of the human disease, arise from cold or intemperance. Frequent bathing is profitable, so is fresh eliberation at the diamer table, and rest after a meal.

By adorning the home. Notling i est by a pleasant home. Books, papers, pictures, music and reading, should all be brought to bear upon the in door family entertainments; and neatness and comfort, order, shrubbery, flowers and fruits should barmonize all without. Home should be a sanctuary, so happy and holy that children will love it, women delight in it, manhood crave it, and old age enjoy it. There would be less desceration of old omesteads, if pains were taken to make them agreeable Ease, order, health and beauty are compatible with rm life, and were ordained to go with Eveny bin and granary should have scale, or upright row of figures marked inside, showing accurately the number of bushels to fill it to each figure. This will enable the farmer to know at a glance how much grain he has

PAINT, to last long, should be put on cold and no dust flying. Paint put on in cold weather, forms a body or coat upon the surface of the wood that becomes hard and resists weather or an edge tool, even, like slate.

O: D FENGES -When fences become old, and the boards begin-to come off nail upright facing strips upon them against each post, and the boards will be held to their place, and the fence will last several years longer.

Rev. James Freeman Clarke, in recent lecture, s id he wondered why young ladies indulged in Italian screams and German moans under the pretence of singing, and why they did not sing some of the beautiful English melodies which abound in our language; a sentiment which met with the hearty ascent of the audience.

People often say they do not believe the newspapers, yet nearly all they talk about, and the most that they know about anything, they learn from the newspapers.

STILL continue to carry on the Marble and Stone cutting business at their long established stand immediately East of the Public square, Main Street, Waynesburg.

This establishment has been in constant operation since 1839, and the long experience and energy of the proprietors, linked with the exercise of sound judgment and good taste, have won for them a wide spread and enviable reputation. An extensive stock of the various varieties of the best marble kept constantly on hand. Special attention paid to polishing, pressing, carving as engraving.

All order, and filled.
