The book is eigntee inches by twelve in width, and live or six inches in thickness, and embraces, palatable. as it were, the Timily record' of the Eighty-fifth regiment from its arrival in Washington, D. C., up to the advance on White House, Virginia, May 20th, 1862. The book is made up of letters concerning the general business of the regiment, in very next charography. which does credit to the secretary post ing the same. There appears to have been a great difficulty about the settle ment of bills and the rest of the officials come in for a share of the blame, and rely accordingly, all of which is duly

Here is a paragraph which is of great interest to those concerned : Is it true that families of volunteers in my regi ment do not receive any aid from the relief fund of our county ! I will be glad to receive a letter from you giving a true statement of the matter, &c., &c.

Concerning the recent battles before the city reports of various Northern papers are compiled "through the kindness of a friend to whom we have been much indebted for similar favors," and "their whole accounts are most extravagant." Among the list of wounded we find the names of Lieut. Col. Perviance, Capt. Geo, Hooker, Lieut. J. A Smith, Lieut. J. W. Atchison, of 85th, Pa. their own forces is meagre in the extreme, owing to that wholesome system established by the Confederate government at the begining of the struggle, which excluded all reporters and army correspondents from their lines, and the toleration of which often thwarted the plans of our own generals.

Politically the Enquirer has but one article, and one apon which we centre a great deal of interest. It has frequently been charged upon the Southern press that bids were made by them to effect the assassination of the illustrious Lancons. We never had ocular proof of the same and like many others of the North, hoped that the accusation was others say that this prompt arrest preunfounded. For the REPUBLICAN. UNION SOLDIERS VS. POLITICAL DIS-UNIONISTS.

What a brave, noble, and generous hearted set of men, are many of our Northern politicians. Fully as generous as Satan was to Christ, when offering him the "kingdoms of this World to fall down and worship him." Did God offer the fallen angels Amnesty ere they had time to ask it! Did Christ offer Judispardon without repentance? But many of our latter-day political saints, under the much abused name of Democrats, would teach Christ a few lessons in forgiveness and mercy.
