FLOWERS AND VINES IN THE HOUSE There are many beautiful botanical the house during the winter, which are not embraced generally in the list of flowers and vines in our parlors and windows

How many of the fair r aders of the Tete graph have the beautiful vine of the sweet potato running over their mantleshelf? This pretty sight can be enjoyed by placing a sweet potato in a tumbler or other glass vessel, filled with water, passing a pin through the tuber so as to keep the lower end from one to two inches from the bottom of the vessel. Keep on the mantle-shelf, in a warm room, and every day give it sun for an hour or two, and in a tew days rootlings will begin to appear, aiming for the bottom of the vessel, and in two or three weeks the eye will begin to s o t and rapidly grow and run upon suspended twine or any little trelliswork prepared for it. The dio corea babatas is the prettiest for this purpose, when it can be obtained.

The Morning Glory can be projugated in parlor windows, where there is some sun, to perfection during winter; it flowers with its natural colors, and the delicate little vine can be made to run over the windows, A hanging vase is he prettiest for this.

There are many of the mosses which can be very successfully grown in the house through the winter, and with the toregoing afford an interesting and refined enjoyment for the feminines of a family, and a real pleasure to all who have a taste for the beautiful to witness. We trust to see a greater inclination on the part of the ladies to introduce into their houses this most agreeable addition to their domestic pleasures - Gernantown Telegraph.

THE WONDERS OF SEED. Is there upon earth a machine, is there a palace, is there even a city, which cantains so much that is wonderful as is enclosed in a single little seed, -one grain of corn, one little brown ap ple seed, one small seed of a tree, picked up, perhaps, by a sparrow for her little ones, the smallest of a poppy or a bluebell, or even one of the seeds that are Proprietors of the splendid Grocery Store, for unrely owned by Joseph Yester. About a hundred and fifty years ago, the celebrated Languess, who has been called 'the father of botany,' reekoned about 8,000 different kinds of plants; and he then thought that the whole number existing could not much exceed 10,000. But a hundred years after him, M. de Candolle of Geneva. described about 40,000 kinds of plants, and he supposed it possible that the number might even amount to 100,000.

WINTERING COLTS, A snug shed or stable is best for win tering colts, provided they be halterbroke, which they should be before win ter sets in. They will eat all sorts o coarse tood, but should have a little grain or meal, according to their size and age. They should, if convenient, un out a part of the day. They love to forage on a cattle dung heap, and pick out the waste litter. Let them have all they want of it, as it is a health, THE UNDERSIGNED ASSIGNEE OF variety for them. A dry pasture, when snow is off the ground, is a good change for them also. We have wintered many colts in our farming, and found that nothing got through the season easier than they. Their hair gets long and sometimes rough. No matter, there is a close for under it, and it keeps them dry and warm, and they are all the better in the spring. Enough to eat, with good shelter, is all they want to keep them healthy and growing. But they should not run out with the cattle, as they are liable to get hooked, while they, In turn, drive the cattle from their food. Every one to his own kind in the
