CELEBRATION OF THE BATTLE OF THE THAMES.

Extract from a poem written for the occasion by William Wallace, a youth 17 years of age. It is entitled the "Battle of Tiptonhoe," and is a highly creditable production. It was recited by him with great effect.

And wider still shall peal the might Of the resounding musketry. Up with your banners! wildly break The folds of deeper tunic make...

FROM THE NEW YORK MIRROR. LONDON AND ITS ASSOCIATIONS.

Man, the aspiring insect, loves to mount a height, to rise above the insignificance of a level, and cast his glances over miles and over millions in a single moment.

ing to and fro, with large bands of cattle; while sometimes the gloomy Druids assembled around the altar, and the cries of human victims ascended with the smoke of the flames which consumed them.

The most splendid feature of this spectacle is the river, with its bridges. The former appeals at once to the eye with a magnificence so striking and graceful as to explain at a glance all the Englishman's raptures.

admire. The severity of modern philosophy will strip them of their theatrical lustre and show them, as many of them were, monsters. More unqualified felons and assassins than some, were never hanged at Tyburn.

Well, now I know what I'll do; I'll go home and thrash them as befits what I have been bringing down there in the barn such a damned while.

writhed and bled! How long thou hast suffered patiently before thy colonial limbs moved, and thy huge neck was withdrawn from the yoke!

THE GAMESTER. BY GOODWIN. No man who has not felt, can possibly imagine to himself the tortures of a gamster; of a gamster like me, who played for the improvement of his fortune.

That contract is void. At the recent sale of a covered clergy man's office in Baltimore, a library was sold for three pounds, while the contents of his wine-cellar brought two hundred and seventy pounds.

AN ACT Authorizing the Governor to incorporate the Pottsville Water Company. Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and the Senate being in the absence of the Governor, That Samuel Silliman, William C. Ottensmeyer, John C. Erant, Benjamin Bossen, James C. Caldwell, Esq., James M. Deady, Charles Miller and Andrew Nason be and they are hereby appointed commissioners to do and perform the several matters and things hereinafter mentioned, that is to say: They shall on or before the first day of July next procure a bill, and enter therein as follows: "We the undersigned here promise to pay to the president and managers of the Pottsville water company the sum of twenty five dollars; for every share not subscribed by our respective names; in such manner as shall be provided in such time as shall be determined by the General Assembly, entitled "An act authorizing the Governor to incorporate the Pottsville water company." Witness our hands, the day of in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and...
