

Admission list at Marion City and College... Citizens shined and killed an abolitionist...

POTTSVILLE.

SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 14, 1856.

Our friends in Port Carbon intend having a Grand Jubilee, on Wednesday next...

Scarcity of Boats.—A very serious inconvenience results to Coal Shippers from the present scarcity of boats.

CORNERED AT LAST! Mr. Van Buren and Slavery. The advocates of Mr. Van Buren have held him up to the people of the north as the enemy of slavery...

The Volunteer Corps of National Light Infantry of this place, will take up the line of march on Friday the 1st of July...

The Mauch Chunk Courier of June 13th, says: "We regret to learn that Samuel D. Ingham, Esq. President of the Beaver Meadow Company, and Mr. James White, Superintendent, were accidentally thrown from a carriage on Thursday last."

Visitors.—The warm weather having set in, our borough is becoming the resort of visitors from the metropolis, a number of whom have already arrived, and taken up a temporary abode with us.

Now we cast our eyes upon Gen. Scott, for his ill-fated movements. After being justly reprehensible for all the deplorable consequences of a forcible removal of the Indians from the land of their fathers, we blame not the administration for the want of success which has attended many of its measures.

The conduct of the administration party in attempting to undervalue the military exploits of Gen. Harrison, while they paint the measures of Gen. Scott, in the brightest colors, is another specimen of their consistency.

Florida. A letter from Quincy, Florida, states that the steamboat Minerva, Apalachicola Bay, has been so fortunate as to bring off safe all the command of Maj. Lemore, or Holloman's Company, penned up since the 5th of April in a block house on the Withlacoochee.

A letter from Dr. Samuel A. T. Lawrence to his relatives in Savannah, gives a description of the several attacks of the savages on the Block House on the Withlacoochee. On one occasion they were completely surrounded by the Indians—1000 or 1500 in number—who fired their guns by the hundreds at the block house, and succeeded in taking and destroying their only means of escape, viz: their boat.

Intelligence had been received at Columbus, that the Crawford Infantry, commanded by Major Crown, consisting of 70 men, had had a skirmish with the Indians, on their attempting to cross the river, in which they failed. Four Indians appeared to be killed. Indian force estimated at 500 men—probably exaggerated.

The same Convention nominated the Hon. Jesse Burt, of Albany, for Governor, and Luther B. Baugh, of Jefferson county, for Lieutenant Governor of the state.

TEXIAN AFFAIRS. By the arrival of the schooner Atalanta at New Orleans, from Tampico, the intelligence is brought that when the defeat and capture of Santa Anna became known there, the subalterns of the army and government threatened to massacre all foreigners in the place, but that the British and American consuls having remonstrated with the commandant at Tampico, he used precautionary measures to prevent disturbances.

A duel is rumored to be about to take place between the Hon. Daniel Semler, of Maryland, and the Hon. Jesse A. Bynum, of North Carolina.

The new consolidated School Bill passed the legislature of this state previous to adjournment. It will be laid before our readers next week—and will no doubt give general satisfaction.

The formation of Schuylkill, Columbia and Northumberland counties into one Senatorial district, has also passed the legislature.

The legislature of our state adjourned on Thursday last. The session of 1856-57 will be a memorable one in our legislative annals. The acts by which it has been distinguished are calculated to produce a lasting and beneficial influence on the great interests of the Commonwealth.

Robinson's Trial.—This is a subject of grave and severe concern, and deservedly, with many conductors of the press. The District Attorney comes in for a share of public indignation—and his integrity is even questioned. Robinson, though acquitted by a New York Jury, stands condemned in the estimation of a vast number of his fellow citizens.

Spanish Intrigue.—It is said that among the papers taken from General Cos, there were letters from no less than five different ladies, all of whom had engaged to marry. One of the letters most recently received contained a caution from the fair writer against the attentions of the American girls in Texas who she had understood were very pretty.

Hereditary nobility.—A gentleman expatiated on the justice and propriety of a hereditary nobility. "If it is not right," said he, "to give to hand down to posterity the virtues of those men who have been enabled for their services to the country, that their posterity should enjoy the honors conferred on them as a reward for such services?"

The Pittsburg Gazette of June 7, has the following postscript: "The General Assembly after a long discussion of Mr. Barnes's case, has at length disposed of it. The following were the votes on the three different questions: For sustaining the Appeal, Ayes 134, Nays 96. For reversing the judgment appealed from, Ayes 145, Nays 76. For condemning the book, Ayes 109, Nays 124."

Deadly matter.—A person in Boston has invented a "Patent Intelligent door plate," which is so constructed that when the person called on does not wish to see company, he or she or the servant, by means of a slide in the "Intelligent door plate," exhibits to the visitor the words "not at home," and the person calling can then leave his card in a place appropriated to receive it.

The Delaware and Hudson Coal Trade. The following is the amount of Coal transported on this road for the week ending on Wednesday evening last: For last report, 1,771 tons. Total, 11,532 tons. R. C. HILL, Collector.

The personal appearance of Santa Anna, Cos and Almonte. Santa Anna was taken the next day after his flight, and was taken to the woods, in a man citizen's dress, and did not make himself known until he was taken before General Houston, to whom he immediately offered a feast of soft corn.

You will be gratified by a description of Santa Anna's person. His forehead is high but narrow in front, spreading as it extends back obliquely—hair moderately black. He has large, solid, black eyes; his under jaw is long. His complexion is a little tawny, but he shows more of the Moorish than the Mexican tincture. He might pass for a white man, but would not pass for a native to the United States. His height is five feet ten inches, tolerably well proportioned. His age is forty-one.

General Cos was taken two days after the battle, and was brought back to camp a picture of fear.—When I first saw him he was lying upon the ground, and had hid himself under a little old blanket; his hair is dark brown, and his eyes, which were formerly blue, are now a deep red. He is small, and had remarkably short finger nails. He is about five feet nine inches high—built for activity—has a high forehead; his nose long and straight, and well formed; his eyes a brilliant black. He is cousin to Santa Anna.

A good deal of excitement exists as to Gen. Houston, who is much censured for his retreat from the Colorado, and is said to have been compelled, by his men, to fight at San Jacinto.

Doing Good to All.—We find in the Boston Commercial Gazette the following notice: "United States Bank.—In consequence of an application of between three and four hundred of the merchants and manufacturers of this city and Salem, an Agency of the United States Bank, lately chartered by the State of Pennsylvania, has been established in this city, and S. Frothingham, Esq. appointed Agent. Mr. F. has already commenced discounting drafts on the southern and western cities. The prompt compliance of the Directors of the new Bank, we hope, may give the means of immediate relief and permanent advantage to this community, as well as to the Bank."

From all parts we learn that the wheat crop is going to be lighter than it has been in the remembrance of our oldest citizens. In many parts of the county our farmers will not reap as much as they sowed. This is also the case in the counties adjoining. The wheat crop is gone—nothing is left, and those who are so fortunate as to have any to dispose of may expect a higher price than if it was so much as for twenty years, unless our wants are supplied from some distant source.—Harrisburg Tel.

The bill to abolish military flogging in the British army has been lost by a vote of 212 to 95. "Fury is the madness of many for the gain of few," says somebody, we do not recollect who. There is a more correct observation. We wish that the people generally could be convinced of its truth, bawling demagogues and selfish politicians would then be compelled to pursue some honest means of obtaining a livelihood, and the public would be relieved of a set of bloodsuckers who bathe upon the ignorance and passions of the people.—Sunday News.

Hereditary nobility.—A gentleman expatiated on the justice and propriety of a hereditary nobility. "If it is not right," said he, "to give to hand down to posterity the virtues of those men who have been enabled for their services to the country, that their posterity should enjoy the honors conferred on them as a reward for such services?"

The Delaware and Hudson Coal Trade. The following is the amount of Coal transported on this road for the week ending on Wednesday evening last: For last report, 1,771 tons. Total, 11,532 tons. R. C. HILL, Collector.

The author of "The Old Men's Tales," has another work in press, which will be issued simultaneously in New York and London.

A man for the scholars of Pottsville to crack. Two parties agreed to drink of a quart of strong black beer; at two pulls each; now the first having given in a black eye, as it is called, or drunk till the surface of the liquor touched the opposite edge of the bottom gave the remaining part of it to the other; what was the difference of their shades, supposing the beer was the finest of a country the depth being 2.7 inches, the diameter at the top 3.7 inches, and that of the bottom, 4.28 inches.

CONGRESS. IN SENATE. Wednesday, June 8, 1856. INCENDIARY PUBLICATIONS. On motion of M. Calhoun, the Senate proceeded to consider the bill to prohibit deputy postmasters from receiving and transmitting certain papers described therein, in the States in which they are, or may be, prohibited by law.

On motion of M. Calhoun, the Senate proceeded to consider the bill to prohibit deputy postmasters from receiving and transmitting certain papers described therein, in the States in which they are, or may be, prohibited by law.

On motion of M. Calhoun, the Senate proceeded to consider the bill to prohibit deputy postmasters from receiving and transmitting certain papers described therein, in the States in which they are, or may be, prohibited by law.

On motion of M. Calhoun, the Senate proceeded to consider the bill to prohibit deputy postmasters from receiving and transmitting certain papers described therein, in the States in which they are, or may be, prohibited by law.

On motion of M. Calhoun, the Senate proceeded to consider the bill to prohibit deputy postmasters from receiving and transmitting certain papers described therein, in the States in which they are, or may be, prohibited by law.

On motion of M. Calhoun, the Senate proceeded to consider the bill to prohibit deputy postmasters from receiving and transmitting certain papers described therein, in the States in which they are, or may be, prohibited by law.

On motion of M. Calhoun, the Senate proceeded to consider the bill to prohibit deputy postmasters from receiving and transmitting certain papers described therein, in the States in which they are, or may be, prohibited by law.

On speak not again in that dread voice of thunder, Nor dart on my eyes with the lightning's bright glare. Our spirits are fainting with terror and wonder, Our God, our Creator, thy bolts soon spare. Oh, speak not again from the clouds that enshroud thee. The trumpets are sounding, the music is in flame. We clasp to the dust our eyes should behold thee. And veil our pale faces with terror and shame. Thus spoke trembling Israel, when God in his glory, Revealed on old Sinai, his awful commands. The majesty and majesty, the young and the hoary. Fell prostrate before him in terrified bands. Not we are not come to Sinai's dread mountain, On Calvary's brow our spirits find rest. For there the Redeemer has opened a fountain, Where the fasting and sinful, are pardoned and blest. And sweet is his voice, as the music of Heaven, No lightning's are flashing, no loud thunders When he calls the poor sinner, his sins are forgiven, And bids him arise and offend him no more. J.

MARRIED. At New Castle, on the 12th instant, by George Reifmeyer, Esq. D. B. HAAS, Merchant, of Fort Carbon, to Miss CHARLES BREXEN, of the Borough of Pottsville. On Thursday evening the 16th inst. by the Rev. R. A. Henderson, Mr. CHARLES W. CLEMENS, to Miss SARAH SHOEMAKER, and Mr. EDMUND G. HENDERSON, to Miss MARY MATILDA SHOEMAKER, all of this borough.

GERMAN Printer, who can translate from English into German, and who can converse well recommended. Apply at this Office. June 11 30.

The Coal Trade. Shipments of Coal for the week ending on Thursday evening last. Table with columns for Coal Company, Tons, and other details.

LITTLE SCHUYLKILL COAL TRADE. Table with columns for Name, Tons, and other details.

SCHUYLKILL VALLEY RAIL ROAD. Table with columns for Name, Tons, and other details.

WEST BRANCH RAIL ROAD. Table with columns for Name, Tons, and other details.

Mill Creek Rail Road. Table with columns for Name, Tons, and other details.