land county, which is as follows: Total 12 Leaving 7 widows and about 16 orphans, From the above figures it will be perceived hat there was one killed for every produced and one injured for every 69,572 tons oi coal mined. The above does not give the number of collicries, and may possibly be correct, but we received returns from 12 collieries, and they re ported, 5 killed, 13 injured, and 4 of the injured died. From 11 collieries, embracing some of the injured, we received no return. STEAM COLLIERS.-A fried has handed us the following article. We do not know what paper it appeared in or we would give the necessary credit:

Within a year or two parties have determined to demonstrate the practicability of steam colliers on the coast, and procured estimates from some Glasgow builders, but after careful consideration determined to build them from American specifications. The contract for two steam colliers—the Rattlesnake and Centipede—cach of a capacity of six hundred tons of coal as cargo and one hundred tons for fuel, was made with the Pennsylvania Iron Works, Messrs, Reaney, Son & Archbold, at Chester, and they are now in successful operation. These vessels have proven so well adapted to the trade that a large fleet has been ordered and is in process of construction. Certain English builders laughed at the idea of the Americans building steam colliers, and prophesied that they would be failures. But they have proven successful, and although the general features of the American vessels are similar to the English the former have advantages which at once place them first in value and capacity.

There is no better way of showing these facts than by tabulating the dimensions of an English steam collier as laid down by Mr. J. Scott Russell and those built by the Pennsylvania. essary credit . still, and scarcely any wages earned. The W. M. B. A., say, go to work at the old basis. The operators cannot goto work at the old basis and sell their coal at the reduced rates required to meet the low prices at which coal is sold by the companies. There may perhaps be Sor 10 collieries that could do so, but that is all; and when all other interests are willing to concede a little to remedy the evil, and the Association will concede nothing, they show a selfish pirit that cannot command the support or counenance of any honest man outside of their organization, and must inevitably array all classes gainst them, not only in the coal region, em-Russell and those built by the Pennsylvani Iron Works:bracing the workingmen engaged in other branches of business, but everywhere else. It is evident from the experience of the last two or three months, that Councils, and officers have been directing their attention to one or two objects, and have failed to take any notice whatever of the surroundings which shape the Prata..... whatever of the surroundings which shape the trade. They have made several very great blun-

Glorification of an organization at incetings by the leaders, with the trade standing still; no wages coming in, and many suffering for the necessaries of life, rather tends to check enthusiasm, and will not pay long, or make the pot boil. In this age of progress everything must bend a little to surrounding circumstances, or be destroyed; and we would advise all those who think they can stem the current, to ponder a little on their position before they determine to incur the shock.

The machinery and boiler are located amidships. The vessels are provided with an interior skin which is fitted for a water POTTSVILLE, March 11th, 1870. lesses. Editors:-The Executive Committees of the Anthracite Board of Trade and the Workingmens' Benevolent Association met this morning to with an intorior skin which is fitted for a water ballast tank, adding greatly to their strength. There are eleven keelsons and four iron bulk-heads connecting to the floor and outside plating for a length of 98 feet in the central part of the vessel. The butts of all the outside plating, stringer-plates and tie plates on beams are all double riveted, and the riveting throughout is first-class, These vessels are a credit to our coasting trade.

The steamers already built are owned by the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company, and ply between Port Richmond and Eastern ports. At Boston special dock arrangements are made for them, where they are unloaded in ten hours, working three batches at once. They are loaded in about eight bours. Allowing one steam collier equal to ten sailing colliers of the present day, it will require 240 to do the work of the Richmond depot alone. onsult upon the rates of wages, &c.; for the year The Workingmens' Committee expressed a willingness to go to work at once, regardless of the present prices of coal, but when asked upon what terms they expected to work, they said they were instructed to adhere to the basis of 1869. They ex-Pected the Operators, evidently, to go to work, sell coal at $2 25 or $2 50, and pay them the $3 wages.— The Operators, after expressing their surprise at the offer, made the following offer at which they believe Schuylkili county can go to work and work steadily throughout the season: Put coal at $2 00 at Port Carbon, outside wages $900. inside wages $1000, miners, $1200 per week, and a reduction of 30 per cent, upon the present rates of contract work; all advances to be made as before, 20 per cent, on each dollar. read a communication from the colored Senators of the Georgia Logislature, which he had reserved by telegraph, protesting against the adoption by the Senate of Mr. Bingham's amendment to the Georgia bill.

On motion of Mr. Trumbull, the Georgia bill was made the special order for to-morrow, or as soon article funding bills shall be disposed of.

In accordance with the new order of business, the calendar of bills was taken up. The joint committee to consider all matters relating to the Indian tribos, was discussed by Messrs. Harlan, Stewart and Thurman. A motion by Mr. Thurman to postpone indefinitely. The whole subject resulted in a tic vote and was determined negatively by the exiting vote of the Vice President, At 1 o'clock the bill was laid over to make way for the funding bill.

Mr. Wilson submitted and alvocated an amendment to allow the issue of ten-forty, per cent, bonds exchangeable for the five-twentles at the discretion of the Secretary. An amendment by Mr. Sherman to the second section to extend the time in which the 4½ bonds shall be paid from thirty to forty years was agreed to. Mr. Morton offered an amendment to the retiring of legal tenders by funding them into a bond without issuing an equal amonint to finational bank, notes, and thus providing for a contraction of the currency. He argued/that the interests of the country, were opposed to contraction at this time. His amendment area posed to limit the four per cents so that they shall not be exchanged for greenbacks but only for interest bearing obligations. Mr. Morton's amendment was rejected by yeas 18, nays 32.
