THE XVTH AMENDMENT.

ON WEDNESDAY the President transmitted to Congress in the shape of a Message, his congratulations on the ratifica-tion of this Amendment which enfranchises ticket. Half the old colored residents of Cona class of our people, who held in slavery for many years and released from bondage by the conflict which preserved the Union, now take the position of men with rights that white men are bound to respect. The President in his message dwells very happily on the important event, and arges the necessity of encouraging education, so that the suffrage may be exercised by all classes intelligently and usefully. Accompanying the message was the Preelamation of the Secretary of State, announcing the ratification. It is as follows: HAMILTON EISH, Secretary of State of the
