THAT INFAMOUS FORGERY.

THE PHILADELPHIA LEDGER.

LAST week in an article branding certain papers for forging an infamous lie with regard to this paper, we gave the Philadelphia LEDGER, which also published it after our public denial, and took pay for it, a chance either to furnish the proof or retract the publication. They have done neither, but deliberately publish a forgery and then refuse to retract. This places them in the position of the original forger, and we therefore now brand the proprietor, Geo. W. Childs, whose name appears as publisher, as we did the others last week, as an infamous liar and scoundrel, and we have stricken his paper from our exchange list as a disgrace to journalism. We will continue to brand him as such on all occasions, until he either furnishes the proof or retracts.

We are aware that we live in the country while Childs is a rich man in Philadelphia, and a pet with some, but he was once poor, and we purchased books from him when he occupied a small room in a back building on the corner of 5th and Arch streets, a great many years ago—but we do not care if he is as rich as Cœsus, and if everybody in Philadelphia choose to toady to him, we are determined he shall not publish forgeries about us with impunity after they have been contradicted, and then refuse to furnish the proof or retract the same. None but a scoundrel in grain would be guilty of such conduct. It is high time that such infamous conduct should be checked in the public press.

We have always been courteous to the LEDGER, as all our readers know since it was published by Childs, but some time ago we found it necessary to allude to the cribbing of a considerable portion of our coal statistics, and also our ideas, and palming them off as their own; and also to the incorrectness of their coal statements which were calculated to embarrass the trade, which we presume was the cause of his publishing the forgery after it was contradicted, and then refusing to furnish the proof or correct it.

We must again apologize to our readers for using such strong language, but we ask any honest man who read the article we published on this subject last week, whether we are not justified in doing so.

THE STATE CONSTITUTION.

THE amending of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, is an imperative necessity, and we are glad to see that so influential a body of citizens as the members of the Philadelphia Union League, has held a meeting, and passed resolutions pertinent to the matter, as follows:

Resolved, That the members of the Union League of Philadelphia, now assembled in general meeting, do approve and recommend the calling of a convention, to be composed of delegates chosen by the electors of the State, for the purpose of proposing amendments to the constitution of Pennsylvania.

Resolved, In order that the wishes of the freemen of the Commonwealth may be duly ascertained in respect to the calling of such a convention that application be made to the Legislature at its next session for the passage of a proper act, submitting the question to the people for their decision at an election to be held for the purpose, on the first Tuesday in May next, or at some other convenient time.

Resolved, That a committee to consist of ten persons, five of whom shall be taken from the body of the League and five from the Board of Managers of the League, be appointed for the purpose of directing public attention to the subject of the foregoing preamble and resolutions, with authority to confer with any other associations of like character or with other organizations or meetings having the same object in view, and with power to take such measures in the premises as to them may seem meet and expedient.

The meeting of the Minority Counties recently held in Reading, also appointed a committee, and these two committees can act in conjunction in bringing with the aid of the press, the matter prominently before the people. Let petitions to the Legislature be everywhere filled up, and poured into the Legislature early in the session, in such numbers as to induce prompt, immediate action. Men who make politics a profession in and out of the Legislature, by which to make money, are opposed to amending the State Constitution, and the people must show their determination in this matter, so that their wishes shall not be thwarted. If the matter is acted on promptly, the people can elect delegates to a Convention, which can at the next October election submit the amended Constitution to the people for their ratification or rejection. We hope that earnest and active efforts will be made in this direction.

OUR CONGRESSIONAL DELEGATION.

THE official returns show that we have really lost six members of Congress by small majorities, and gain one in the Luzerne district.

Covode's district elects Foster over Stewart by about 700 majority.

D. J. Morrell is defeated by a majority of 9 votes.

Armstrong, in the Lycoming district, is defeated by Sherwood by 22 majority.

Donley is defeated by a small majority in the 24th district.

Gillman is defeated in the 20th district, and it is believed that Cessna is defeated by 17 majority.

It is stated, however, that both Cessna and Morrell will contest their seats on account of fraudulent votes.

Here are five members defeated by less than 100 votes.

The only close district out of Philadelphia carried, was the Schuylkill and Lebanon district, by a largely increased majority. The State Committee, as far as we can learn, threw all their influence into the above districts, and gave that of Schuylkill and Lebanon the cold shoulder, and said it was impossible to carry this district, and of course it was not necessary to do anything for it—but must look to the other districts. We did carry our district without any aid whatever against the most infernal clandestine conspiracy against the Republicans here by some professed Republicans both at home, in Philadelphia and Washington, that was ever concocted. We know the men, and open enemies can always be met, and we rather think the Republicans here will compel them to take back seats hereafter, if they do not publicly denounce them. We can do much better without their aid than with it.

SOLDIERS' COUNTY MONUMENT.

FIVE YEARS have passed since the close of the War that imperilled the existence of the nation; nearly one thousand sons of Schuylkill County who gave their lives a willing sacrifice, lie buried in our mountain cemeteries, or in Southern soil, and yet no monumental pile except that in Tamaqua, for a portion of them, rises in our midst. Is this right? Is it just to the memory of those dead heroes that this should be the case? Does it not show a want of appreciation of the great sacrifice that these men made for a common cause? This matter has been too long neglected, and we are glad to see by a notice which is published in another column that our citizens entertain the same opinion, and are taking preliminary steps for a county meeting on this subject. Spirit and determination would place the matter in such a shape that the corner stone of such a monument could be laid on the next Fourth of July.

A preliminary meeting will be held at the Exchange hotel on Thursday evening next, at which all soldiers, citizens, committees of lodges, and others interested in the matter, are invited to be present. The meeting should be largely attended and the matter be fairly started, not to rest until a magnificent monument, with the name upon it of every soldier who fell in the service, rears its fair proportions in Schuylkill County.

SOLDIERS' MONUMENT.

YESTERDAY the people of Tamaqua dedicated the first Monument erected in Schuylkill County to the gallant soldiers of that place who fell in the late great struggle for the Union and Republican institutions. But little has been done for the erection of a County Monument, to be located in Pottsville, except the appointment of a Committee. In order to give a start to it, the subscriber will give $100 and the point of ground at Greenwood, fronting on Coal street, for its erection.

BENJ. BANNAN.

AERIAL NAVIGATION.—The situation of the besieged population of Paris has compelled the use of aerial methods of communication, thus far with excellent success. We have had Jules Favre and Gambetta both "up in a balloon," while two Americans made their flight in safety by the same means. A very frequent and tolerably certain postal service has also been inaugurated by the same method. All this only shows the vast importance of some practically regulated method of aerial navigation. The age demands that facilities for such transit should be afforded, and it is a matter quite as much within the scope of human ability as terrestrial locomotion. The only wonder is that the progress already made in the art has not produced some thing more practical than we have had. When we think of the opportunity afforded for inventive genius, and the certainty of great pecuniary reward in success, it is only surprising that we have not already at least a dozen embryo aerial navigation companies on foot. It is safe to predict that before the close of the decade we will navigate the air with as much precision as we do the water. Why not have aerial Sapphos and Cambrias, as well as aquatic? An aerial swoepstakes will be the excitement of 1890, beyond doubt. Close connection balloons for Japan and Australia will then be the "first coach through."

FOREIGN COMMERCE.—From the monthly reports of the Bureau of Statistics, we learn that our imports for the seven months ending July 31, 1870, in specie, were—

Of which were re-exported	267,822,185 219,003,456
For consumption	$288,781,270
Exports for 7 months, specie value	271,195,032
Export of coin and bullion, 7 months	2,261,803
Imports of coin and bullion do	46,946,456 16,486,599
Excess of exports in coin	$21,062,832

Excess of importations in goods over exportations, $21,761,350. This is the most favorable exhibit of our foreign trade that has taken place since the Rebellion was crushed.

THE surviving members of the Forty-eighth Pennsylvania Regiment, are taking steps to form an Association, and have fixed the 24 day of January, 1871, as the time for the first re-union, and Pottsville as the place. This is right. All of the regiments of the late war should form similar organizations, for the purposes of friendly intercourse, and to keep alive the memories of the march, the bivouac and the battle. In a generation or two, but few of the veterans of the late war will be alive, to tell how fields were won, or to interchange those courtesies which are peculiar to the soldier. Encourage these friendly gatherings by all means.

THE SPEAKERSHIP.—As the Republicans of Lancaster Co. have re-elected Maj. A. C. REYNOLD, we would suggest him as a suitable candidate for Speaker of the next House of Representatives. He is honest, capable, and will make an excellent presiding officer of the House.

A FIELD FOR MISSIONARIES.—At the recent election, every election district outside of Reading, in Berks County, went Democratic. What is the "Berks County Bible Society" doing?

THE Fenian O'Neil is being lionized since his release from prison, through the generosity of our Republican President. We hope he will behave himself in the future.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

DIE MODENWELT.—The last number of DIE MODENWELT comes to us with a number of beautiful styles for Fall, including dress patterns, cloaks, and wrappings, hair-dressing, indeed everything that goes to make the "tout-ensemble" of a lady's toilet. We are assured by the importers that although this standard fashion journal may be a little late during the present season, it will be sure to come in good season, and the patience of its subscribers will be put to a test of very short duration.

John Miller, for over half a century engaged in the business of locksmithing in Reading, died in Reading on Wednesday in the seventy-sixth year of his age. He was a subscriber to the BERKS & SCHUYLKILL JOURNAL for a period of fifty-four years, which doubtless, accounts for his long life.

The County Institute.—The sessions of the Institute will commence at Ashland, on Tuesday, Nov. 8, 1870 at 10 o'clock, A. M. During its process lectures will be delivered by the following gentlemen:—John G. Saxe, the Poet; Rev. Dr. Smiley, Hon. J. P. Wickersham, and Prof. Shoemaker of Philadelphia.

Let the Boy, whose highest aspiration is to be a clerk in a store, remember that a good trade is a far more desirable occupation. It is not only likely to be more remunerative in the end but it is decidedly more certain to secure the means of livelihood for its possessor. A few years hence, truly well-skilled mechanics will be able to command their own terms for their services.

Capt. Jim Clark, of Hazleton, who was a soldier of the War of 1812, but who is nearly 100 years old, was in the procession at Tamaqua, on Thursday. We had the pleasure of an introduction to the old veteran, and found the Captain to be not only a very fine looking gentleman, physically, but also mentally. The Hazletonians whom we met, were justly proud of the Captain, and no one more so than our friend McQuade.

Bulbs! Bulbs!!—Now is the time for those who would have beautiful Hyacinths, Tulips, Crocuses, Snow-flakes and Narcissus blooming in their houses at Christmas and New Year during the Winter and early Spring, to plant the bulbs. By using boxes or terra cotta frames, they can have all these varieties blooming in one enclosure, forming a beautiful sight. These bulbs can be obtained at Greenwood Nursery, or at the store of Bannan & Ramsey.

The Soldiers and Citizens of Tamaqua, with their distinguished military visitors, had a delightful excursion to Seven Stars, in Tamaqua Borough, on Thursday evening, at which addresses were delivered by Major Calhoun, Gen. Hartranft, Gen. Siegfried, Major Huber, Col. Beath, Capt. Mossop, Lt. H. Snyder, Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements, for the dedication of the Soldiers' Monument, and others. All enjoyed themselves hugely.

The Railroad Officials mentioned in yesterday's Daily, left Mt. Carbon yesterday morning at 9 o'clock, and after an excursion over some of the lateral roads in the region, returned at 5 o'clock in the evening. They will leave Mt. Carbon this morning for Tuscarora and Tremont, returning to Philadelphia by way of Lebanon. The excursion train is conducted by S. W. Fressolm, one of the long-experienced conductors of the Reading Railroad.

St. Crispin's Day.—St. Crispin's day occurs to-day, St. Crispin, the guardian saint of the shoemakers, was a Christian who, with his brother, Crispinian, went from Rome to France to propagate the Christian religion, in 300 of our age. Like many of the early Christian preachers, the brothers supported themselves by working at their trade, which was that of the shoemaker. The day is celebrated in all countries, but our shoemakers have so little regard for their patron saint, that the anniversary goes by almost unnoticed.

A Pardonable Blunder.—On last Saturday the senior editor wrote and publish ed a statement relative to the Girard lands. It escaped the attention of the "local," and on Thursday the same article fell under our eye as original in the EVENING TELEGRAPH, and as it was a matter of local interest we clipped it out and republished it in the local columns of the DAILY JOURNAL of yesterday morning, giving credit for the same to the TELEGRAPH. The same article was copied in all the Philadelphia papers, and in no case was the proper credit given to this paper for it. There is no accounting for the large amount of stealing done by the city papers. Indeed we don't know what they could do were it not for brains of the country press.

Fruit and Shade Trees.—From this until the time when the ground freezes, fruit and shade trees can be planted in this County, where the ground is not low or marshy; in fact it is the best season for it. As regards the best description of fruit and shade trees to plant here, we have spent much labor and money in finding that out by actual experiment at Greenwood Nursery; and we have got the matter pretty much down to a point in regard to what varieties suit this soil and climate, which is an important matter—for there are many descriptions which fail elsewhere, but succeed here, and the reverse. Persons planting trees will save money and procure good trees by selecting from the stock at Greenwood Nursery, which we can recommend.

New Military Allegory.—The Grand Army of the Republic will produce a new attraction in Reading, commencing Monday evening, October 31st, which will no doubt be fully appreciated. The entertainment will consist of a performance similar to the allegory of the Drummer Boy, which is entitled "Pride, or the Fortunes and Misfortunes of War." The piece was written expressly for the occasion, and is entirely new. The gentlemen and ladies who intend taking parts in the piece have been preparing themselves for the event for several months past. It is one of the most artistically written pieces ever produced on the stage, and far surpasses the Drummer Boy of Shiloh. The proceeds of the entertainment will be used by the Grand Army in assisting the widows and orphans of their fallen comrades, who, in many instances, would suffer the pangs of hunger and cold but for this Association.

Other members of the Regiment present spoke to the same effect.

On motion it was "resolved, that we form ourselves into an organization and that we have a reunion at some future day."

On motion it was "resolved that the reunion be held on Monday, January 3, 1871, in Pottsville."

Honsberger, Tamaqua; Capt. J. K. Helms, Schuylkill Haven; Lieut. Henry Reese, Minersville; Thos. Williams, Ashland; Jona. Deitrich, Mt. Carmel, and John Mercur, Hazleton.

The meeting adjourned with three rousing cheers and a tiger for the old Forty-eighth.

DEDICATION OF THE SOLDIERS' MONUMENT IN TAMAQUA.

An Immense Assemblage of People—The Procession—Dedicatory Ceremonies—Oration of Major Calhoun, &c., &c.

Thursday last, the day fixed for the dedication of the beautiful monument in the Odd-Fellows' Cemetery, Tamaqua, erected by Doubleday Post, No. 189, in memory of the soldiers from that borough who fell in the service during the late war, was not auspicious in the weather line, as rain fell nearly all day, but, notwithstanding, Tamaqua was crowded with people from all sections of the County, and the military and civic societies were present in large force. During the inclement weather, each of the various parts of the County came in crowded.

Business was suspended in Tamaqua, and flags were generally displayed by the citizens.

At 2 o'clock, P. M., the parade formed on Broad street, east of Centre, and proceeded to the cemetery, in the following order:

In addition there were over 500 citizens in the procession.

Upon the arrival of the procession at the Cemetery the monument was dedicated with appropriate ceremonies by the Order of Odd Fellows. The monument has a granite base and is surmounted by a marble shaft, supporting at the top a globe. Upon the monument are inscribed the names of 59 soldiers of Tamaqua who fell in the late war. It is located on a prominence overlooking the town, is a fine piece of work, reflecting great credit upon the constructors, Messrs. Eisenbrown, and is a memorial of which Tamaqua may justly be proud.

After the dedicatory services had concluded, Major Calhoun, Grand Commander of the Department of Pennsylvania, delivered an oration, and spoke substantially as follows:

COMRADES AND FRIENDS:—The present day and occasion will be long remembered as the most important in the history of your beautiful town. The monument you have erected to commemorate the deeds of your valleys, that the country might live, must henceforth be the index of your unselfish patriotism, fonder than the spending of money for such a purpose, and point to objects that appeal more directly to our charity, but the men who have contributed nobly to this cause, I think in this county to be "taken in" by them. But it appears that a Mahanoy City shoemaker has neglected to read the papers and has just paid $61.15 as the penalty of his folly. The particulars of which are these: A few days ago Patrick Carney, a shoemaker in Mahanoy, received a letter signed Ed. T. Dickerson, stating that the writer was a dealer in goods in his line, and solicited an order for some articles on which he said quite a handsome profit would be realized. Mr. Carney replied to the letter and ordered a bill of goods amounting to $25. In a few days a box about one and a half feet square reached Mahanoy City, and was addressed to Mr. Carney, and marked C. O. D. He also received a letter the same day, with a bill for $41.75, from A. Pollock & Co., 159 Fulton Street, New York. Mr. Carney paid the bill and took the box which upon opening was found to contain nothing but paper and blocks of wood. Mr. Carney is a poor man, and the loss falls heavily upon him. Legal steps have been taken to recover the money and arrest the swindler. We would advise Mr. Carney to let the thing pass as a good sell, because he will never find Mr. Ed. T. Dickerson and all the money he spends in hunting him up will only add to the amount already lost.

The Forty-Eighth Pennsylvania Regiment—Proposed Reunion.—Want of space in yesterday's DAILY JOURNAL prevented our noticing, as we desired doing, a very interesting meeting of surviving members of this Regiment, held in Tamaqua at the United States Hotel, on Thursday last, many members of the Regiment being in that borough on that day, in attendance on the dedicatory ceremonies of the Soldiers' Monument erected by Doubleday Post of Tamaqua.

The meeting was organized by calling Major James Wren to the chair, and appointing Lieut. H. G. Honsberger Secretary.

Major Wren stated that the object of the meeting was the surviving members of the 48th Pa. Regt. into a fraternal Association, and to have an annual reunion.

General Sigfried endorsed the movement, and thought that the feeling was unanimous among the surviving members for the proposed organization of the old Regiment into an Association to keep alive the memories of the field and the bivouac in which the members shared together the danger and the glory.

The Soldiers and Sailors' Monument.—Yesterday's Allentown Democrat says:

"Yesterday was a busy day in Allentown. From early morning, and throughout the day, the streets were thronged with people from the country, and from the neighboring towns. Many of the visitors were in attendance upon the Fair of the Lehigh County Agricultural Society, but the majority were here to participate in the ceremonies connected with the laying of the corner stone of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument. The procession was formed at 10 o'clock, and marched through the principal streets of the city, and then proceeded to the Fair Grounds, where the ceremonies were performed.
