However, before Mr. Mulligan had time to go to the Parks' the woman had been aroused from her stupor without the aid of a physician.

A Surprise Party

About eighteen of the young friends of Miss Mildred Heatherton, remebering that last evening was the occasion of her "sweet sixteen" birthday anniversary, pleasantly surprised her at her home on 211 Bridge street. They did not forget to bring something and together with Miss Mildred's contribution to that part of the occasion, there was something fit for a king in the way of refreshments.

As a token of their regard for their companion, the young ladies presented Miss Heatherton with a handsome gold bracelet.

Fine Window Display

The display window of D. E. McMa han, North Main street, is trimmed in a very artistic manner with postum and grape nut cereals. The figure represents an old time fire place and mantel. The effect is heightened by the addition of the andirons, the old kettle and spinning wheel, with flax, and the old candle stick, dishes, etc. The display is the work of Mr. McMahan himself and shows a deal of the artist in the groceryman.

Moldy Grapes Make Best Wille.

According to United States Consul

McNally, at Liege, Belgium, the secret of the rare "bouquet" of Moselle wines was disclosed by Prof. Marshall Ward Verne DeGroff of the Henry & ness." "Moldy grapes," asserted the professor, "produce a far finer wine than freshly gathered fruit. Moselle wines come from grapes which are in a simply awful condition. The grapes grown in the Moselle districts are not subjected to sufficient heat to fill them with sugar, Lee Gates of Troy, one of the rural and they are therefore allowed to be mail carriers of that neck of the attacked by what is known as poble rot, in which process the mold fungus, hav-ing the satisfactory habit of selecting certain crystals according to taste, places out the seid first and leaves just
