

THE NATIONAL BANK OF SAYRE.

Capital - $50,000.00 Surplus - $12,000.00

We solicit your banking business, and will pay you three per cent. interest per annum for money left on Certificate of Deposit or Savings Account.

The department of savings is a special feature of this bank, and all deposits, whether large or small, draw the same rate of interest.

M. H. SAWTELLE, Cashier.

The Valley Record

J. H. MURRELLE, Publisher, H. E. CUNNINGHAM, City Editor.

Published every afternoon except Sunday at Murrelle's Printing Office, Sayre, Pa.

Subscription, $3.00 per year; 25 cents per month.

Advertising rates reasonable, and made known on application.

Entered as second-class matter May 10, 1905, at the postoffice at Sayre, Pa., under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

"All the news that's fit to print"

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1905.

THE TIOGA ASSEMBLY NOMINATIONS MANY

As the Time for Holding the Tioga County Republican Convention Draws Near Much Enthusiasm is Shown.

Waverly—On Friday of next week at the Court House in Owego will occur the Tioga County Republican convention, called to nominate a candidate for Member of Assembly to succeed Edwin S. Hanford of this place; for School Commissioner, to succeed Oscar Granger; for Special County Judge in place of F. A. Bell of Waverly; for County Treasurer, to succeed E. O. Eldredge of Owego; for Superintendent of the Poor in place of George D. Miller of this place.

The nomination for Assemblyman is creating much excitement and seems to be the central attraction of the campaign. Edwin A. Hanford of Waverly has most acceptably filled the office for the past five consecutive terms. On authority it is stated that there are seven names mentioned for the nomination, as follows: Supervisor F. L. Howard of Waverly; Howard VanDuzer, Fred A. Sawyer also of this place; Gilbert Holmes of Apalachin; Byram Winters of Smithboro and Mr. Knowlton of Newark Valley. It is said the strife will be between Attorney Frank L. Howard of this place and Byram Winters of Smithboro. Mr. Hanford may accept a renomination if it is tendered him.

Incorporators Met Waverly—At a meeting of the incorporators of Manoca Temple Association held at Justice C. O. Hoagland's office last evening, papers of incorporation were inspected and signed and will be at once sent to Albany where a certificate of incorporation will be granted. A committee was appointed to arrange By-Laws and submit to the Association for approval.

Mr. Granger Honored Waverly—At yesterday morning's session of the Tioga county teachers' institute, which has been in session at Owego this week, County School Commissioner Oscar Granger was presented by the teachers with a beautiful gold watch, which shows the high esteem in which he is held by the teachers.

Dinner at Nettlewood Waverly—As is their custom each year the families of upwards of fourteen of our residents will enjoy a dinner at Nettlewood tomorrow. Edward VanNorstran, the restaurant man, will provide the repast.

15 CTS. For a Few Minutes' Work

SEND US, together with this advertisement, the names and addresses of five persons living within ten miles of Sayre, who suffer from any form of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, or Tris Acid Disease, and we will mail you a coupon good for 15 cents on any purchase made within 60 days at the drug stores of H. L. GILLESPIE, Sayre, Pa.; or, E. O. FRANKER, Athens, Pa. This offer is only open until October 1st, so send the five names and addresses soon. Address your letter to THE ATHLOPHOROS COMPANY, NEW HAVEN, CONN.

WAVERLY.

J. VERNON TREIB, MANAGER

News matter intended for publication in the Waverly Department should be addressed to the manager at Hotel Sawyer, Waverly, N. Y., where subscriptions will also be received. Our subscribers will confer a favor by notifying us if they do not receive the Record regularly.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Merriam left on train 20 east this morning.

E. S. Smith made a business trip to Binghamton yesterday.

Miss Anna Jordan of Jersey City is a guest of Waverly friends.

Lee Schwartz is in New York purchasing new fall and winter goods.

Harry Morgan and wife have returned from a week's stay in New York.

A lodge of the Order of M. P. A. was instituted at Wilawana last evening.

Charles Sweet of Park avenue is improving his residence by remodeling the roof.

Miss Della Gordon of Towanda is a guest at the home of her cousin Mrs. A. R. Bunn.

A large delegation from this city attended the Movahno dance at Sayre last evening.

Mrs. Sedgewick of East Aurora, a former resident of Waverly, is visiting friends in town.

Mrs. Dr. Gamble who has been confined to her home for some time by serious illness is able to be out.

Rev. and Mrs. H. H. Dresser will leave Monday for a month's visit to Mrs. Dresser's parents at Milanville.

Miss Madolyn Kramer leaves next week for New York where she will take up a course in nursing at the Flower hospital.

Why not take advantage of the going out of business sale, whereby you can save from 33 1/3 to 50 per cent. H. Sattler, Sayre, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. George Munn of Bradford street left this morning for a two weeks' visit with friends in Newark and New York city.

Mrs. Fred F. Smith, who has been ill at her home on Clark street for several days, is back to her duties at her husband's store.

Miss Myra Smith of Towanda attended the Kinney musical at Mabel Baldwin's today and will spend Sunday with Miss Lillian Barnum.

Now is the time to buy your fall and winter clothing, boots and shoes. H. Sattler is going out of business. Every article is for sale at extremely low prices.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Presbyterian church served supper in the parlors of the church last evening. A large number was present and a neat sum of money realized.

Conductor and Mrs. John Brosman have returned from an extended visit at the former's home at Ulster. Mr. Brosman is a popular employe of the W. S. & A. Traction Company.

Services tomorrow morning at the Methodist church: 9:30, Love Feast; 10:30, Sacrament service. Evening subject "The Making of a Christian," the basis of which is Prof. DeMotte's lecture on the "Harp of the Senses."

Rev. Dr. Henry E. Keefe of San Francisco, Cal., who has been assisting at the Mission being held at St. James church will leave for New York Monday. Dr. Keefe's choir, sermons during the week have been highly enjoyed by his hearers. Father Burke will conduct the services next week.

The remains of Mrs. Louise Watkins who died at her home on North street, Athens, last evening, aged 53 years, were brought to this city today and taken to the home of her sister, Mrs. George Myers on Orange street, where the funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon, with burial at Glenwood. E. S. Hanford has charge of the burial.

Highly Pleased Recital

Waverly—A recital was given this afternoon by some of the pupils of Horace H. Kinney at the residence of A. B. Baldwin. The affair was very largely attended by friends of the pupils. Those taking part were Misses Martina Kenrick, Mabel Baldwin, Pearl Baker, Grace Westcott of Waverly; Grace Stimson of Athens; Bessie Ayer of Owego; Nina Hall and Myra Smith of Towanda. John K. Roosa of Elmira, vocalist, assisted, creating much applause by his masterly playing. With this recital closes the third and most successful summer season Mr. Kinney has had in this city.

"Christ's Love for Sinners"

Waverly—Another large assemblage listened to Rev. Father Burke at St. James church last evening. The subject for discussion was "Christ's Love for Sinners" and Father Burke explained in a clear and most impressive manner the love Christ had for the sinner, and pointed out very clearly the way a true Christian should live. With to-night closes the first week of Father Burke's visit in Waverly. He will continue the meetings another week and all who desire to a speaker of extraordinary ability should not fail to hear him.

Baptists to Entertain

Waverly—Under the auspices of the Baptist church an entertainment course will be given the coming winter. Following are the dates and attractions as arranged: Oct. 23, Kaffir Boy Chorus; Nov. 1, lecture, Newell Dwight Hillis; Dec. 1, lecture, Albert Armstrong; January 27, entertainment by Edwin R. Weeks and company.

Mr. Kinney to Leave Town

Waverly—Horace H. Kinney who for the past three months has been instructing a class in vocal music in this city, has completed his work and will return to New York Sunday. Mr. Kinney takes with him the best wishes of a host of friends who wish him prosperity and success in the future.

Counterfeit Coin

Waverly—A number of counterfeit quarters are in circulation in Waverly, probably distributed by the men that the Sayre police have been hunting for circulating bad money in that place.

Attended Fair

Waverly—Mr. and Mrs. James Gorman, Misses Mabel Cummings, Maude Owenshire and William Stanley attended the Chemung County fair at Elmira yesterday.

Purchased Property

Waverly—John Pickley has purchased the handsome residence of Burcey Buseley on Park Place. Mr. and Mrs. Benseley will remove to Fulton street.

Choir Loft Enlarged

Waverly—The choir loft at the Baptist church has been enlarged and is now in readiness for the addition soon to be made to the

JUST A QUERY.

They fill the windows with their hues. The rainbow is faded thing. Beside the pinks and greens and blues That riot on the hats of spring. The hats, of course, are "just too dear," But where are the styles of yesterday?

The picture hats are garbans fair. With blooms of every sort and kind; They nod and blossom every where, In front and also stuck behind; They droop in clusters o'er each ear. But where are the blooms of yesterday?

The hats are built of gauze and tulle. Of every shape and form and name; They never fashion them by rule. For never are there two the same. Some droop, some perk, some float and float. But where are the shapes of yesterday?

The crowns, they say, will tower high. And this, of course, is rather nice. But crowns, no matter how they try, Can ever soar and reach the price. No matter how they climb and rear, But where are the hats of yesterday?

The husbands note the handsome hats. The ribbons and the tulle and plumes. The pecks, the tails and the flaps. The buckles and the brilliant blooms. And then they stop to shed a tear. But where are the bills of yesterday? —Chicago Chronicle.

DID A GOOD TRADE IN TRAMPS

Shorty and His Pal Prospered Until the County Law Was Changed

SAID the man behind the bars: "Yes, I'm in again, but I much fear there ain't nothing coming to me, like there was the last time I was in jail when I was released. It was in the Leland county jail, and there I met Shorty. Shorty got religion from the Sunday school reading a Gady handed in to us. He got affected by them uplifting words and the drunkard's fate something emotional.

"He comes to me and says, earnest: 'You ain't walking in the light, are you?' I say my business carries me out nights mostly. Then Shorty groans and exhorts on till I see the folly of my ways and groans with him.

"Shorty says: 'I believe you, my brother man; I believe your repentance is as sincere as mine is. Then I'll help you. When I get out I know of a nice little business to go into, and I'll take you for my partner.'

"Shorty and me was released together. Says Shorty: 'All my plans is perfect, but a little capital to start matters must be forthcoming.' We wait till night and it's dark and in a crooked street by a high board fence we see a prosperous-looking gent.

"You hold him and I'll go through him," says Shorty. Which pleases me very much. Most of them that gets converted is narrow and prejudiced, but Shorty is the broad-minded kind. But we only lift $35 off him, and take a sneak right out in the country.

"All my business interests is in the morning we meet our first customer out on the road. He's a young feller, and Shorty says: 'My unfortunate fellow man, will you come along with me, if I give you 50 cents and take you to a place where you can get as much more and tobacco and beer?'

"That had the reply is to cling so close to us it's hard to walk. By afternoon we have six more hobo's in a business, and can't get no more to do business on, because we give them 50 apiece, and it uses up our capital.

"Halt!" says Shorty. We're in front of a country barber shop, which is also a saloon and a candy store and sells cheese. Here Shorty draws up his procession. A little fat man darts out to us.

"Hello!" he says to Shorty. Then you really gone in the business you was speaking of last time I saw you? Seven of them? What you want for the seven?"

"Here's the goods, all delivered to you and I want my price, which is a dollar fifty apiece for them," says Shorty. And the holler that goes up from the little man is heartrending.

"There ain't no consideration for others in business matters," says Shorty. "I had to pay them something to come along, and I must make my profit, mustn't I? Then here's my partner to share the proceeds. Then, if you won't pay me my price, we goes to Batsley's Attention, boys!"

"Oh, don't think of going to nobody else!" implores the little fellow. "I'll take the goods at your price." He hands Shorty a dollar and a half for each tramp, and the seven tramps, not knowing much of what is going on, is lined up, trying for all they're worth to make a fine impression on whoever's going to be good to them.

"Well, boys," says Shorty, "you are now arrested, so make yourselves comfortable. This is Constable Bathers! The little constable bows gravely to them. 'You'll be tried and sentenced in just a little while now.'

"Well, them seven breaks ranks and sets up a holler. What are they arrested for? They want to know. And Shorty has betrayed them! Then just let them get at Shorty!

"Now, now, boys," pleads the constable, "don't carry on so, please! I'd rather lose the price I paid for you than have any had feelings against me in Leland county. I always tries to treat the boys right. If you do have to go to jail, it'll only be for a few days. Here! and he runs amongst them, passing out a 50-cent piece to each. 'There's tobacco for you, and if you'll step inside and be arrested like gentlemen, there's a cool, refreshing glass of beer. So, now, do be gentlemen.'

"And, as the goods we just sold and delivered is assured they won't get more than three days on the charge of vancancy, they go inside with the constable, who rubs his hands, saying they mustn't be mad at him, and remember they're gentlemen and will they have light or dark?"

"You see," explains Shorty, "Leland county pays a bounty of seven dollars a head for every tramp caught and lodged in the jail. The judge and the constable goes shares on the bounty. These constables is most kind to the tramps, as you see, because they want them to come back and be arrested maybe a dozen times during the summer. While I was meditating over the cup of sorrows which I had drunk to the dregs, it struck me that here was a good chance to make a honest living."

"It's then along comes the judge. He's a nice, fatherly old feller, and greets us cordial, especially Shorty, who's been up before him before.

"No," says Shorty, "me and me friend ain't going in again, we're in business for ourselves now."

"Oh!" says his honor. He's a little cold and lost his fatherly interest in us, seeing there ain't no bounty attached to us. He goes into the bar room, bowing very dignified but fatherly to the prisoners, which was the most important looking lot of prisoners you ever see, as for the first time in their lives, maybe, they was worth seven dollars a head. They is most meek, and takes a day or two most grateful, for it's a very pleasant jail, without no separate cells, but 30 of so in one ward, and nothing to do but be sociable.

"Shorty and me comes out the next day and searches the country, and gets a very nice assortment of goods to the number of 11. The fact is we prosper so that at last we think a vacation is due us. We goes down to the seashore and has a swell time of it.

"The first morning we're back we start right out to do a little business. And all morning not a tramp do we see! We hunt up one road and down another and over others, but there ain't a tramp in sight, and we're beginning to feel sore. When afternoon comes we spy a hobo away off, but he's running for all he's worth, which is seven dollars, and is out of sight before we can call him. A couple of hours later we spy another. His hair is standing out behind him, and he'll get in trouble for exceeding the speed limit.

"There's something wrong," says Shorty, much apprehensive. "What's all this excitement about?" "Another tramp comes tearing down the road.

"Don't stop me!" he implores, piteously. "The consequences would be more than I could bear. Lemme get out of this county as quick as I can. To-morrow will be the first of the month."

"What of it?" we ask. "He tells us and we let him go. Ain't we in hard luck, though? The supervisors has passed a new law, to go in effect the first of the month; that tramp had said to us 'After that every hobo is arrested on sight, and gets three months. It ain't that that's so terrifying, but the new law says that every inmate of the county jail will be put to work!'" —N. Y. Sun.

fortable. This is Constable Bathers! The little constable bows gravely to them. 'You'll be tried and sentenced in just a little while now.'

"Well, them seven breaks ranks and sets up a holler. What are they arrested for? They want to know. And Shorty has betrayed them! Then just let them get at Shorty!

"Now, now, boys," pleads the constable, "don't carry on so, please! I'd rather lose the price I paid for you than have any had feelings against me in Leland county. I always tries to treat the boys right. If you do have to go to jail, it'll only be for a few days. Here! and he runs amongst them, passing out a 50-cent piece to each. 'There's tobacco for you, and if you'll step inside and be arrested like gentlemen, there's a cool, refreshing glass of beer. So, now, do be gentlemen.'

"And, as the goods we just sold and delivered is assured they won't get more than three days on the charge of vancancy, they go inside with the constable, who rubs his hands, saying they mustn't be mad at him, and remember they're gentlemen and will they have light or dark?"

"You see," explains Shorty, "Leland county pays a bounty of seven dollars a head for every tramp caught and lodged in the jail. The judge and the constable goes shares on the bounty. These constables is most kind to the tramps, as you see, because they want them to come back and be arrested maybe a dozen times during the summer. While I was meditating over the cup of sorrows which I had drunk to the dregs, it struck me that here was a good chance to make a honest living."

"It's then along comes the judge. He's a nice, fatherly old feller, and greets us cordial, especially Shorty, who's been up before him before.

"No," says Shorty, "me and me friend ain't going in again, we're in business for ourselves now."

"Oh!" says his honor. He's a little cold and lost his fatherly interest in us, seeing there ain't no bounty attached to us. He goes into the bar room, bowing very dignified but fatherly to the prisoners, which was the most important looking lot of prisoners you ever see, as for the first time in their lives, maybe, they was worth seven dollars a head. They is most meek, and takes a day or two most grateful, for it's a very pleasant jail, without no separate cells, but 30 of so in one ward, and nothing to do but be sociable.

"Shorty and me was released together. Says Shorty: 'All my plans is perfect, but a little capital to start matters must be forthcoming.' We wait till night and it's dark and in a crooked street by a high board fence we see a prosperous-looking gent.

"You hold him and I'll go through him," says Shorty. Which pleases me very much. Most of them that gets converted is narrow and prejudiced, but Shorty is the broad-minded kind. But we only lift $35 off him, and take a sneak right out in the country.

"All my business interests is in the morning we meet our first customer out on the road. He's a young feller, and Shorty says: 'My unfortunate fellow man, will you come along with me, if I give you 50 cents and take you to a place where you can get as much more and tobacco and beer?'

"That had the reply is to cling so close to us it's hard to walk. By afternoon we have six more hobo's in a business, and can't get no more to do business on, because we give them 50 apiece, and it uses up our capital.

"Halt!" says Shorty. We're in front of a country barber shop, which is also a saloon and a candy store and sells cheese. Here Shorty draws up his procession. A little fat man darts out to us.

"Hello!" he says to Shorty. Then you really gone in the business you was speaking of last time I saw you? Seven of them? What you want for the seven?"

"Here's the goods, all delivered to you and I want my price, which is a dollar fifty apiece for them," says Shorty. And the holler that goes up from the little man is heartrending.

"There ain't no consideration for others in business matters," says Shorty. "I had to pay them something to come along, and I must make my profit, mustn't I? Then here's my partner to share the proceeds. Then, if you won't pay me my price, we goes to Batsley's Attention, boys!"

"Oh, don't think of going to nobody else!" implores the little fellow. "I'll take the goods at your price." He hands Shorty a dollar and a half for each tramp, and the seven tramps, not knowing much of what is going on, is lined up, trying for all they're worth to make a fine impression on whoever's going to be good to them.

"Well, boys," says Shorty, "you are now arrested, so make yourselves comfortable. This is Constable Bathers! The little constable bows gravely to them. 'You'll be tried and sentenced in just a little while now.'

"Well, them seven breaks ranks and sets up a holler. What are they arrested for? They want to know. And Shorty has betrayed them! Then just let them get at Shorty!

"Now, now, boys," pleads the constable, "don't carry on so, please! I'd rather lose the price I paid for you than have any had feelings against me in Leland county. I always tries to treat the boys right. If you do have to go to jail, it'll only be for a few days. Here! and he runs amongst them, passing out a 50-cent piece to each. 'There's tobacco for you, and if you'll step inside and be arrested like gentlemen, there's a cool, refreshing glass of beer. So, now, do be gentlemen.'

"And, as the goods we just sold and delivered is assured they won't get more than three days on the charge of vancancy, they go inside with the constable, who rubs his hands, saying they mustn't be mad at him, and remember they're gentlemen and will they have light or dark?"

"You see," explains Shorty, "Leland county pays a bounty of seven dollars a head for every tramp caught and lodged in the jail. The judge and the constable goes shares on the bounty. These constables is most kind to the tramps, as you see, because they want them to come back and be arrested maybe a dozen times during the summer. While I was meditating over the cup of sorrows which I had drunk to the dregs, it struck me that here was a good chance to make a honest living."

"It's then along comes the judge. He's a nice, fatherly old feller, and greets us cordial, especially Shorty, who's been up before him before.

"No," says Shorty, "me and me friend ain't going in again, we're in business for ourselves now."

"Oh!" says his honor. He's a little cold and lost his fatherly interest in us, seeing there ain't no bounty attached to us. He goes into the bar room, bowing very dignified but fatherly to the prisoners, which was the most important looking lot of prisoners you ever see, as for the first time in their lives, maybe, they was worth seven dollars a head. They is most meek, and takes a day or two most grateful, for it's a very pleasant jail, without no separate cells, but 30 of so in one ward, and nothing to do but be sociable.

"Shorty and me was released together. Says Shorty: 'All my plans is perfect, but a little capital to start matters must be forthcoming.' We wait till night and it's dark and in a crooked street by a high board fence we see a prosperous-looking gent.

"You hold him and I'll go through him," says Shorty. Which pleases me very much. Most of them that gets converted is narrow and prejudiced, but Shorty is the broad-minded kind. But we only lift $35 off him, and take a sneak right out in the country.

"All my business interests is in the morning we meet our first customer out on the road. He's a young feller, and Shorty says: 'My unfortunate fellow man, will you come along with me, if I give you 50 cents and take you to a place where you can get as much more and tobacco and beer?'

"That had the reply is to cling so close to us it's hard to walk. By afternoon we have six more hobo's in a business, and can't get no more to do business on, because we give them 50 apiece, and it uses up our capital.

"Halt!" says Shorty. We're in front of a country barber shop, which is also a saloon and a candy store and sells cheese. Here Shorty draws up his procession. A little fat man darts out to us.

"Hello!" he says to Shorty. Then you really gone in the business you was speaking of last time I saw you? Seven of them? What you want for the seven?"

BRADFORD COUNTY FAIR AT TOWANDA, SEPTEMBER 26-29

Public Wedding Wednesday at 11 o'clock. Grand Parade of Premium Stock Thursday at 10 o'clock.

Hon. Bois Penrose, U. S. Senator delivers an address Friday at 11 o'clock.

Balloon ascension and parachute drop each day. High Trapeze performance. Acrobatic and Juggling acts each day. Thrilling slide for life each day. Many other attractions.

Special train from Waverly, Sayre and Athens and returning from the fair grounds last three days. Reduced rates on railroad. Remember trains stop at Fair grounds and start on return trip from Fair grounds.

Every department filled with exhibits. Hon. E. B. Norris and Hon. W. F. Hill speak Wednesday immediately following the Public Wedding.

GOOD BREAD!

When you want it call for KING'S BREAD. Made at the West Sayre Bakery. Sold in Sayre by David Arthur, Fred Cook, Chas. Wiltman & Young, James Daly, Hand & Deane, F. E. Seeger and W. S. Wright. In Athens by Park & Co., Catlin & Co. and J. F. McKean.

Good Bread From Good Materials. None Better Made Anywhere.

WANT ADS

Rates: Wanted, Lost, Found, For Sale, etc., 1 cent a word each insertion for first three times, 1 cent a word each insertion thereafter. None taken for less than 25 cents. Situations wanted, free to paid in advance subscribers.

Wanted. Wanted—An orderly at the Robert A. Packer Hospital.

Business concern now doing a profitable and increasing trade wants to double it by interesting a few local men with some spare capital. Business will bear closest investigation. Don't reply unless you have the funds. Address "Business," care The Valley Record, Sayre, Penna. 115-6*

Good boy to learn printing trade at Record office. Must be in good health and willing to work. Apply before noon.

A set of Dury's "History of Rome" or of "Booklover's Shakers." Inquire Record Office, Sayre. 115-6*

Reliable married man wanted to work at the ice business by the year. Inquire E. J. Tillman, 105 North Elmer Avenue, Sayre; Pa. 114-6*

Money to Loan. Party has limited amount of money to loan on desirable terms. Address inquiries to The Record, Sayre. 115-6*

For Sale or Exchange. Double barrel 12-gauge hammer shotgun in perfect condition for sale cheap for cash, or will trade for a good bicycle. Write what you have to offer to "Sportsman," care Valley Record, Sayre, Pa. 115*

For Sale. Ford touring car in first class condition; best bargain to quick buyer. Address Lock Box 12, Waverly, N. Y. 107-2

One set "Irish Literature," 10 volumes, three-fourths morocco, perfectly new, for sale or exchange for other books. Box T, Sayre. 115-6*

House and lot, No. 121 Hopkins street. Apply to Mrs. H. D. Angell, No. 114 Wilber avenue, Sayre, Pa. 114-4

Horse for sale. Five years old. Weighs 1350 lbs. Color, bay. J. C. Wood, 607 Maple street.

For County Commissioner. I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Commissioner, appealing to the voters, without regard to party, for their aid and support at the polls in November. Henry H. BENTLEY, Towanda, Pa., Aug. 16, '05.

Dissolution of Partnership. Notice is hereby given that the firm Shaw & Gay has been dissolved and the affairs of the firm will be conducted in the future by W. W. Shaw, who is authorized to pay all accounts and receive all bills. W. W. SHAW, CHAS. E. GAY.

Orchestra. The Queen City Orchestra, composed of experienced musicians, and playing all the latest music, is prepared to furnish any number of instruments for balls, parties or entertainments, day or night; rates reasonable. Inquire C. H. Barden, Valley Phone 2-1, Sayre, or leave orders at Maney & Page's, Sayre.