ATLANTA TO THE SEA

President Reaches the Everglade State.

WORST CITIZENS ARE DISHONEST RICH

Roosevelt Would Not Limit Corporations' Activities, but Control Them, as American Capital Now Seeks Foreign Outlets.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 21.—The president's visit to Jacksonville will be a marked event in the history of the state of Florida. He was greeted on his arrival by Jacksonville's most distinguished citizens, and on every hand were shouted words of welcome that left no room for doubt of their sincerity. The city is in gala attire, and business is practically suspended.

Numerous extra trains brought their burden of excursionists from the surrounding country and cities, and it was estimated that not less than 50,000 persons saw and welcomed the president. Mrs. Roosevelt left the presidential party at Roswell, Ga., the home of the president's mother. The party now consists of Secretary Loeb, Surgeon General P. M. Rixey of the navy, two stenographers, two secret service detectives, two White House messengers and the representatives of newspapers.

President Roosevelt at Atlanta, Ga., delivered a speech, the third of his important addresses since leaving Washington on his tour of the south. He confined most of it to discussion of industrial combinations, their dangerous qualities and methods of controlling them. He also took up the problem of Chinese trade as affected by a boycott of American goods in China and the exclusion of Chinese labor from the United States.

"There is every reason," Mr. Roosevelt said, "to be vigilant in searching out what is wrong and unflinchingly resolute in striving to remedy it. At the same time we must not blind ourselves to what has been accomplished for good, and above all we must not lose our heads and become hysterical or rancorous in grappling with what is bad."

"Take, for instance, the growth of corporations in this country. This growth has meant of course the growth of individual fortunes. Undoubtedly this growth of wealth has had some very unfortunate accompaniments, but it seems to me that much the worst damage that men of wealth can do the rest of us is not any actual physical harm, but the awakening in our breasts of either the mean vice of worshipping mere wealth and the man of mere wealth for mere wealth's sake or the equally mean vice of viewing with rancorous envy and hatred the men of wealth merely because they are men of wealth."

"We should not strive to prevent or limit corporate activity. We should strive to obtain effective supervision over it."

"We have made the terms not merely hard, but often prohibitory, with the result that American capital goes into foreign countries."

"The conscience of our people has been deeply shocked by revelations as to the way in which some great fortunes have been obtained and used."

"There are men who do not divide actions merely into those that are honest and those that are not, but create a third division—that of law honesty, which consists in keeping clear of the penitentiary."

"The worst citizens are the men who have achieved great wealth or any other form of success in any save a clean and straightforward manner."

The president was taken to the Piedmont clubhouse, attended by a squadron from the Twelfth cavalry, which was his constant guard through the entire day. John Temple Graves, editor of the Atlanta Daily News, addressed the president in a personal welcome as a man whom it was a delight to meet aside from his official character. He referred to the president as "Georgia's most illustrious grandson," which the president received with a broad smile. In closing Colonel Graves spoke of the president as a man in "whom the statesman is greater than the politician and the man greater than the president."

The silicious brought rounds of cheers, and as the president arose to reply he was greeted by the entire gathering standing and waving their napkins.

The president had urged and almost forced Joel Chandler Harris, "Uncle Remus," to join him at the table, seating the author at his right.

Governor Heyward of South Carolina added his welcome to the south. He declared that nowhere could the president receive a more hearty welcome than in the south, and he joined most heartily with Georgia in honoring the president.

He proposed the health of Mrs. Roosevelt, already on her way to Washington, and the compliment was responded to by the entire company standing.

During the dinner the band stationed on the veranda played national airs, including "The Star Spangled Banner." As he recognized the familiar strains the president sprang to his feet, followed by all present, seemingly forgetful of his surroundings. As "Dixie" broke on the air he waved his hand in time to the music and joined in the chorus.

From Jacksonville the president and party will go down the coast to St. Augustine over Sunday.

Southern Banker Dead. MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 21.—W. M. Bernay, a prominent Alabama banker and president of the American National bank, is dead here of paralysis.

ADAMS EXPRESS ROBBERY.

Police Have Recovered All but $10,500 of $101,000 Stolen.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 21.—The chances that the police will recover nearly the whole of the $101,000 stolen from the Adams Express company in Pittsburg by Edward G. Cunliffe, who was arrested here and taken to Pittsburg, seem bright. Last night $9,000 was found in a trunk belonging to a butler in a prominent family at Black Rock, but the butler and the family by whom he is employed were ignorant of the fact that the large sum found was within the house.

Although there is a possibility that the remaining $10,500 has been destroyed, the police are of the opinion that another accomplice of Cunliffe may reveal the hiding place of the missing sum. In round numbers $90,000 has been found within the past twenty-four hours.

After figuring on about $500 as the amount which Cunliffe has spent or which was found on him when arrested there is left a sum of $10,500 yet to be accounted for.

The discovery of the money in the Black Rock home was brought about by keeping a close watch on one of Cunliffe's chance acquaintances, George Eisenman.

The story of the betrayal of Cunliffe by his friend, James Missett, is interesting. Missett formerly lived in Bristol and knew Cunliffe well. They had been together a good deal when Cunliffe lived in Bristol and Hartford, and at the present time Missett is employed by one of the cheap hotels in the section of the city in which Cunliffe was captured. Last Tuesday Missett went in the Tremont hotel barroom and saw Cunliffe standing at the bar. Missett went up to him and said: "Hello, Cunliffe! What are you doing here?"

Cunliffe turned around and pretended not to know Missett, who was sure of his man. Missett then said: "Why, you know me. I'm Missett. You used to play policy with me in Bristol." Cunliffe still denied that he had ever seen Missett. Missett then left for New York and visited the Pinkerton agency.

The Pinkerton people thought at first that Missett was a crank, but he assured them that he was in earnest and said that if the Pinkertons would give him a written agreement that he would get the reward if he told them where the missing man could be found he would do so. This was agreed to and Missett told them. The arrest of Cunliffe followed. Last night Missett returned from New York with the $2,500 reward and proceeded to spend it lavishly throughout the lower part of the city.

Senator Penrose Denies Loans.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21.—United States Senator Boies Penrose last night denied emphatically the rumors connecting him with loans from the Enterprise National bank. Senator Penrose's statement follows: "I have no obligations of any kind in the Enterprise National bank. I am not connected in any way, directly or indirectly, with notes of W. H. Andrews, if there are any such in the Enterprise National bank. I have no interest whatever in the Pennsylvania Development company or with any other project in New Mexico. Any intimations to the contrary are malicious falsehoods for political effect."

Rogers, who disappeared from here the day after the tragedy.

STORM SWEEP LAKES

Shores of Erie, Huron and Ontario Wrecked.

BARGE SANK WITH CAPTAIN AND CREW

Wildest Gale in Years—Steamers, Schooners and Freighters Beached. Several Lives Known to Have Been Lost.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 21.—As a result of the wildest storm that has swept Lake Erie in years wrecks have strewn the shore the entire distance from Buffalo to Detroit. The storm came with abrupt suddenness at an early hour Friday and continued without interruption throughout the day. At midnight last night the wind velocity, which reached fifty-four miles an hour at its highest point, had decreased little in force, and fears were felt that the reports of numerous wrecks received during the day did not entirely cover the extent of the damage wrought. The storm swept the lake from one end to the other, and every vessel that was exposed suffered to a more or less extent.

The known losses as enumerated include the following: Freighters Sarah E. Sheldon, beached and wrecked near Lorain; steamer Wisconsin, on rocks off Lorain; schooner Kingsfisher, beached at Cleveland; steamer F. A. Prince, damaged near Cleveland; tug Walter Metcalf, sank off Breakwater light, Cleveland; several barges sank off Buffalo harbor; steamer Pringle, reached Buffalo badly damaged, and barge Yukon, sank off Ashtabula harbor, but crew rescued.

Two of the crew of the Sheldon were lost off Lorain. The wreck of this vessel was the most serious of any reported thus far, and the story of its experience was thrilling in every way. The Sheldon left Cleveland with a cargo of coal Thursday night and was bound up the lake. Her troubles began in getting out of the harbor, and from then on until she was beached at Lorain she was almost continuously at the mercy of the tempest. After running ashore she was buffeted and pounded for seven hours by the wind and waves. Two tugs from Cleveland, one of which bore the life-saving crew of this port, succeeded in rescuing all but two of the crew. These two attempted to escape in a small lifeboat, and they were quickly swept out to sea and lost. The drowned men were John Fox, wheelman, and Charles Evans, second mate. The vessel is a complete wreck.

The big steamer Wisconsin was also a victim of the storm off Lorain. She left Lorain for Toledo at 2:30 a. m. and was struck by the gale, which blew her head-on upon the rocks outside the breakwater. She can probably be released without great damage when the sea dies down.

Only one death, that of Mate David Szye, of the steam barge Joseph Fay, wrecked at Rogers City, Mich., was reported during the day as a result of the terrific storm which raged on the great lakes, but evidence of disasters is reported in several directions. The barge Rhoades, which broke away from the Joseph Fay before the latter was beached at Rogers City, is reported ashore on Cheboygan point. She is in an exposed position, but all of her crew were saved.

The gale, reaching seventy-two miles an hour at its greatest velocity, swept over Buffalo and western New York from early morning until late last night. Lake Erie, lashed into a fury by the tremendous blow, played havoc with shipping.

The schooner Mauteau, bound from Buffalo to Duluth, foundered off Ripley, twenty miles west of Dunkirk, at 4:30 in the afternoon. The crew, consisting of Captain Morgan, Mate Ryan, Mrs. Bailey, the cook, her daughter and five men, were saved. The Mauteau probably will go to pieces during the night.

Dunkirk fishermen report an unknown barge in distress off Van Buren point, ten miles west of Dunkirk. Evidence of another wreck is found in the discovery of a considerable amount of wreckage floating by Thunder Bay Island in Lake Huron. The schooner Emma I. Neilson of Alpena, Mich., is reported ashore at Presque Isle harbor.

The barge Minnedosa of Kingston, Ont., was lost yesterday in Saginaw bay, with all her crew, including Captain Phillips and wife.

The storm was one of the most severe in recent years. As far as returns are obtainable, ten vessels have been completely wrecked and twelve to fifteen others more or less severely damaged. Twelve lives are known to have been lost, and as the gale on southern Lake Huron and Lake Erie was still blowing fiercely last night it is feared that other losses, both of life and property, will be reported.

ON TRAFALGAR DAY

Britain Celebrates Centenary of Nelson's Great Victory.

ADMIRAL DEWEY'S GLOWING TRIBUTE

America's Naval Chief Cabled, "These Hundred Years Have Only Made His Glory Brighter"—Message From Tokyo.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The national celebrations in honor of Lord Nelson, the hero of Trafalgar, which will culminate today in ceremonies at the Nelson monument in Trafalgar square on the occasion of the centenary of the hero's death, were ushered in by a banquet in Fishmongers' hall last night, at which were present Baron Hayashi, the Japanese minister; Lord Strathcaine and Mount Royal, the high commissioner of Canada; Lord Brassey and representatives of all classes, especially of the army and navy, the latter including many admirals and generals. Lord Brassey presented to the Fishmongers' company a piece of oak from Nelson's flagship, the Victory.

In the course of the proceedings a telegram was received from Vice Admiral Togo expressing on the occasion of this centenary "our ever increasing admiration for the devotion to the great admiral."

Baron Hayashi in a speech declared that Lord Nelson's memory was as much revered in the Japanese navy as it was in that of Great Britain.

The Nelson column in Trafalgar square was beautifully decorated by the Navy league, and around its base are arranged many floral tributes sent from all parts of the empire, which have been pouring in for the past week. From the top of the column wave numerous flags and the immortal signal, "England expects this day that every man shall do his duty."

Concerts, banquets and celebrations of various kinds were arranged throughout the kingdom, and tomorrow in all the churches memorial services will be held, the principal being at St. Paul's cathedral, which will be attended by the mayor and corporation of the city of London, and at Salisbury cathedral, where the present Lord Nelson will read the lessons. A feature of most of the celebrations will be the recital of Kipling's "Recessional."

Among the telegrams already received was one from Admiral Dewey, who sent a glowing tribute, concluding with the words, "These hundred years have only made his glory brighter."

The Nelson centenary exhibition was opened at the British museum with much ceremony.

Nelson's flagship at Trafalgar, the Victory, which is lying at Portsmouth, will be brilliantly illuminated tonight, and British warships throughout the empire will parade their crews in celebration of the day.
