NOW OFF TO ALABAMA

President Goes to Cotton Plantation State From Florida.

GETS FLORAL KEY TO ST. AUGUSTINE

Roosevelt in Peninsular State Spoke on Good Citizenship and Benefits to Accrue to South From Panama Canal.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Oct. 23.—President Roosevelt spent Sunday here and last night started on his tour of Alabama. He left St. Augustine at 9 o'clock and is not scheduled to make a stop of any length until he reaches Mobile today at 4:30.

His day in St. Augustine was a quiet one. He attended services in Presbyterial Memorial church, where the pastor, Rev. James Coffin Stout, preached from the text, "Worthy the Lamb That Was Slain." He made no reference to the president in his sermon. At the conclusion of the services the president was taken for a short drive about the city.

The drive brought the president and his party through the ancient city gates built nearly 400 years ago by the Spaniards. Above the archway were hung huge letters spelling out the word "Welcome," and on each side of the portal sat a pretty girl dressed as Columbia.

As the president's carriage reached the gate it paused and one of a bevy of schoolgirls handed him a great floral key, the key to the city. After receiving the key the president was driven to the Ponce de Leon hotel, which was opened up especially for the party, and where he rested for half an hour before proceeding to Fort Marion, where he made an address.

In his speech at Fort Marion the president dwelt on the subject of "Good Citizenship" and the aims and objects of this government.

"This republic is not and never shall be a government of a plutocrat," he said. "This government is not and never shall be the government of a mob. It shall remain as it was founded in the beginning, a government of justice, through the form of law, a government wherein every man is guaranteed in his own rights and is forbidden to wrong his neighbors."

Little enthusiasm was manifested by the white residents of Jacksonville in the president's visit, taken as a whole, although there was nothing in the reception to which even Mr. Roosevelt could take exception.

Negroes of the city, on the other hand, were enthusiastic to an extreme. Between four and five thousand members of that race, men, women and children, assembled at the academy. Decorations in a negro section through which the drive extended were profuse. Speaking to the negroes the president said:

"Do your very best to develop good teachers, to develop good preachers, preachers who shall preach to the colored man as it should be preached to the white man, that by your fruits you shall know them and that the truly religious man is the man who is decent and clean in his private life, who is orderly and law abiding; the man who hunts down the criminal and does all he can to stop crime and wrongdoings; the man who treats his neighbor well; who is a good man in his own family and therefore a good man in the state. That it is what we have a right to expect from the Christian leadership which we see in the churches."

"I wish to say a special word about the Panama canal," Mr. Roosevelt said at the board of trade banquet. "I believe the canal will be of great benefit to all our people, but most of all to the states of the south Atlantic, the gulf and the Pacific slope. When completed the canal will stand as a monument to this nation, for it will be the greatest engineering feat ever yet accomplished in the world. It can surely be accomplished and probably at rather less expense than was anticipated."

"The work is as difficult as it is important, and it is of course inevitable that from time to time difficulties will occur and checks be encountered. Whenever such is the case the men of little faith at home will lose that little faith, and the critics who confound hysteria with emphasis will act after their kind. But our people as a whole possess not only faith, but resolution, and are of too virile fiber to be swept one way or the other by mere sensationalism."

"The digging of the canal will of course greatly increase our interest in the Caribbean sea. It will be our duty to police the canal, both in the interest of other nations and in our own interest. To do this it is of course indispensable to have an efficient navy (and I am happy to say that we are well on our way toward having one) and also to possess, as we already possess, certain strategic points to control the approach to the canal. Only as a last resort it may occasionally be necessary to interfere by exercising what is virtually an international police power, if only to avoid seeing some European power forced to exercise it."

After luncheon the president, accompanied by Secretary Loeb, Surgeon General Rixey, John McInerney and John Greenway, the last two of whom have been his guests on the trip south, drove to Fort Marion, where they boarded a launch and went to Anastasia, an island. Here the party donned bathing suits and had a bath in the salt water.

The president greatly enjoyed the bath and seemed in excellent condition to tackle the hard work that lies before him this week. When the party left the hotel for the fort the mounted policemen of St. Augustine, who had been waiting in front of the hotel started ahead as an escort. The secret service man who was on the box with the driver of the president's carriage said to one of them, "We do not need you now."

"That's all right," responded the officer, "we will go along. It's coming to you anyhow."

They galloped to the fort, where they stood at attention while the president boarded the launch and steamed away. This week will see the end of the southern tour. After visiting Mobile he will spend Tuesday at Tuskegee, Montgomery and Birmingham, Wednesday he will devote to Little Rock, Ark., and Thursday he will visit New Orleans, leaving there that evening on a government warship for Washington.

Japan's Hero Admiral Makes Report of the Return of His Ships From War - Praised by Mikado and People.

TOKYO, Oct. 23.—Admiral Togo made a public entry into the capital yesterday, when he came to report to the emperor the return of his fleet from the war.

The hero of the battle of the sea of Japan arrived at the Shimbashi station and was met by ministers of state, general admirals, members of the diplomatic corps and hundreds of officials and private citizens, who extended him a warm welcome home. He was accompanied by his staff and Admiral's Kutaka, Kamamura and Dewa, together with their respective staffs.

The party entered five imperial carriages played at their disposal and led by his majesty's aid, Admiral Iwano, drove direct to the palace, where they were received in audience by the emperor.

Admiral Togo's carriage, escorted by a bodyguard of troops, passed through a triumphal arch in front of the railway station. The streets were lined with an admiring crowd, who shouted hearty banais as the party passed along. The ring of the enthusiastic cheers, mingled with the noise of the bands, was audible for a great distance.

General Sakuma detailed three battalions of guards of honor. The battalions were composed of men from the Tokyo garrison and were under command of Major General Togo. Four guns located at Hibiya park fired salutes. The day was a beautiful one, and all Tokyo was out, irrespective of age, to welcome the victor of the battle of the sea of Japan.

Admiral Togo after his audience with the emperor returned to his ship. In receiving Admiral Togo's report the emperor warmly praised the service rendered by him, his officers and men.

ASTOR AND VANDERBILT DENY.

Never Had Stock in Power Company as Claimed by Hoadley.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 23.—In behalf of John Jacob Astor and Cornelius Vanderbilt, whose names were mentioned in testimony given at a hearing in New York Friday on proceedings instituted by William B. Franklin and George I. Scott against Joseph H. Hoadley and others to recover $65,800, Lewis Cass Ledyard has issued a statement here in which it was denied that either Mr. Vanderbilt or Colonel Astor ever owned stock of the International Power company, as stated by a witness. Mr. Ledyard says:

"The newspapers contained reports of testimony given in a suit relating to the International Power company troubles now on trial in the New York supreme court from which it appears that Joseph H. Hoadley testified that Cyrus F. Judson had told him he had sold about all the stock to John Jacob Astor and Cornelius Vanderbilt. "Colonel Astor and Mr. Vanderbilt, who are clients of mine, upon seeing this statement, at once telegraphed to me asking that it be contradicted. Each of them states, 'I have never met either Hoadley or Judson and never owned any such stock.'"

Dondero Dead, Brother Lost an Eye. WILLIAMANTIC, Conn., Oct. 23.—John C. Dondero, twenty-seven years old, is dead here as the result of an injury received in a football game in Jewett City. Dondero was a member of the Williamantic team, and it is said that he was in no condition to play the game. After a scrimmage he lay on the field unconscious and was taken to a hotel, where he died. Doctors state that a cerebral hemorrhage was the cause of his death. A brother of Dondero was kicked in the eye soon afterward and will lose the optic.

His Holiness Is Not Ill.

ROME, Oct. 23.—A rumor spread through the city that the pope was ill. Dr. Lippini, his physician, authorizes the announcement that "the statement is incorrect," the pope merely having a cold, so slight that it can scarcely be called an indisposition. A monument to the pope, subscribed for by Catholics all over the world, has been unveiled at Riese, the little village in the Venetian provinces where the pope was born.

Officers Exchanged For Bandit. TANGIER, Oct. 23.—The scout ship Pathfinder has arrived here with Captain Crowther and Lieutenant Hutton, the British officers who were captured by Moroccan tribesmen, on board. The liberation of the officers was effected through the good offices of the shearif of Wazzan. The Pathfinder's commander exchanged a brother of Valiente, the bandit, for the two officers.

Carried Wounded Hunter Two Miles. KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 23.—While hunting with his cousin Joseph Masten of Walkill was accidentally shot in the stomach, the bullet passing through his body. His recovery is doubtful. Masten's cousin carried him two miles on his back before reaching a farmhouse.

Zeni's Body in Danger.

VIENNA, Oct. 23.—The body of Senator J. Zeni, the Mexican minister, who died Friday night, had to be hurriedly removed from an undertaking establishment owing to the breaking out of a fire there caused by a short circuit. The fire caused a loss of $10,000.

SPORT WITHOUT SLAUGHTER.

Pilgrims in Exhibition of Association Football Win 7 to 1.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Sir Charles Kirkpatrick and his plucky handful of Pilgrims from Philadelphia paid a fleeting but successful visit to the Polo grounds in the cause of football under association rules. Opposed by a picked band of its adherents in the metropolitan district, Sir Charles and his merry men exposed the weakness of its cohorts here to the tune of 7 goals to 1.

In contrast to the Pilgrims of old, the mission of the present wanderers has sprung from a spirit of union, not dissolution. Glowing with the love of the older country and the game which has put Rugby to the rout, the visit was prompted by the desire to illustrate that America, with all its progress, is blind to the shortcomings of one of its boasted national games.

Throughout the halves of forty-five minutes each, not a man of the twenty-two was carried off the field; not an ambulance call sounded. The line of play, too, was free from surgeons, physicians, bandages or instrument cases. No hospital corps was there; neither were there bands of reserves waiting, tense and eager, to fill the gap made by mangled comrades. Two or three players was upset in collisions; but, though the referee stopped play three times to give them a chance to recover from shock, no one was disabled.

Nose guards, ear and scalp helmets, padded shoulders and wad covered limbs were not needed. In place of armor and steel and all such devices against brute and animal strength there were loose shirts, loose knickerbockers and hose half way to the knee, the skin bared from above and below the kneecap, the throat exposed and the skull and face without covering of any kind.

Yale Won by 12 to 0. NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 23.—Yale was so badly frightened by the game here that a hard week lies just ahead of her football squad. Pennsylvania State college outplayed Old Eli in every department of the game and, though defeated by the score of 12 to 0, taught Yale more in two halves of remarkable football than the coaches ever supervised.

Blind Men Play at Louisville. LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 23.—The blind school eleven played a remarkable game of football with the Manual freshmen at the blind school here, the contest ending without a score for either side. Spiesberger, left guard of the blind eleven, made a twenty-five yard run.

Yale Man Golf Champion. GARDEN CITY, N. Y., Oct. 23.—Robert Abbott, a Yale sophomore, won the championship of the Intercollegiate Golf association, defeating his classmate, Ellis Knowles, by 3 up and 2 to play in the thirty-six hole final over the Garden City links.

Blind Climber Fatally Hurt. NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 23.—In attempting to climb the face of East rock here John Tracy, twenty-two years old, slipped after almost completing his task and fell headlong down the jagged side of the rock, a distance of 100 feet. He was picked up at the base terribly injured and taken to Grace hospital, where it is expected that he will die. His head was cut open, several bones were broken, and he is internally injured.

American College Flourishing. BOSTON, Oct. 23.—Archbishop Patrick W. Riordan of San Francisco took lunch at the American college and warmly congratulated Mr. Kennedy, the rector, on the condition of the college and the appearance of the students. There are 115 students enrolled in the college this year, a number never before reached and surpassing the roster of students in all other foreign colleges here.

Leishman Makes Protest to Porte. CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 23.—Mr. Leishman, the American minister, has addressed a note to the porte protesting against the violation involved in the retrial of Ghrikis Vartanian of the porte's assurances that judicial proceedings would be suspended pending the settlement of the questions of principle arising from Vartanian's claim to American protection.

Will Fortify Antwerp. BRUSSELS, Oct. 23.—The autumn session of parliament has taken up the question of fortifying Antwerp so as to make that city practically impregnable against a naval attack. The plan of the government for a new advanced line of fortifications will entail an expenditure of $21,600,000.

Furniture Goes Up in Smoke. CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 23.—The Scheiner Furniture company here has sustained a loss of $50,000 on stock and building by fire.

CUNLIFFE ON RACK

Adams Express Robber Ralls at Hard Fate.

GOT THIRD DEGREE FOR EIGHT HOURS

Makes Many Denials When Interviewed and Denounces Missett, Who Betrayed Him—Well, They Can't Hang Me.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 23.—Edward George Cunliffe, the express robber, in a long interview here denied that he took the old $1,000 with which he is charged in addition to the $100,000 package and states that his object in going to Bridgeport, Conn., was to obtain employment on one of the oyster boats of the Bridgeport fleet, a plan that was frustrated by the fact that the boats were not working on account of some labor trouble.

Cunliffe, who had been put through a process of "sweating" by the Pinkerton officials to make him confess, said, "The Pinkertons put me through a terrible racking experience lasting about eight hours."

He indignantly denied that he furnished a Bridgeport woman money to rent a flat, saying he spent his time in reading about and listening to comments on the robbery instead of roystering around the Tenderloin district.

He shipped the $80,000 in a suit case to Bristol, he said, in care of the express company, figuring on that as the most unlikely place the detectives would search, and when questioned as to the $11,000 still missing evaded reply by railing against the fates which led to the discovery of the $80,000.

Cunliffe denounces James Missett of Bridgeport, who informed the Pinkerton agency at New York of his whereabouts, as a "sneak" and said he made preparations to skip immediately after meeting Missett, but was detained by an attack of cramps.

He vigorously denied offering Detective Arnold $40,000 "or even 40 cents," as he put it.

Euseman, to whom he entrusted the bundle containing $9,500, also came in for a scolding from Cunliffe, who concluded by remarking, "Well, they can't hang me."

THE DEFUNCT BANK.

Criminal Action to Be Taken Against Pittsburgh Directors.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 23.—It is stated that information will probably be made this week against the officers and directors of the Enterprise National bank of Allegheny charging them with embezzlement in having received money from depositors when, it is alleged, that they knew the bank was insolvent.

Apparently the directors of the bank are as much in the dark regarding the bank's financial condition as they were when the doors were closed Wednesday last. The conference of the directors and their counsel as to the advisability of taking legal action, either criminal or civil, was discussed and also methods to be pursued in holding the estate of Cashier Clark liable for any shortage that may be discovered.

Negotiations are now under way for the sale of the Santa Fe Central Railroad company by the Pittsburgh owners. It is said several offers have been made for the property. At least two of the three railroads which now have connection with it are among negotiators. These roads are the Denver and Rio Grande, the Rock Island and the Santa Fe property.

The leader is authority for the statement that the politicians concerned are lifting their noses through the Bank of Pittsburgh, the clearing house representative of the Enterprise National, in order to conceal the identity of the notemakers. S. P. Kohn, a stockholder of the Enterprise, said that the stockholders will make up any deficiency and that depositors will be paid in full.

Bank Examiner Cunningham said that he had no cashier alleged to have been discovered among the bank's papers and also stated that there is no paper in the bank bearing the name of Senator Penrose as maker, indorser or guarantor.

Thieves Got $3,000 Loot. NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Thieves robbed the residence of Joseph Conroy, 253 West Ninetieth street, while the family was spending the summer at Monticello, N. Y. From the silverware, packed in chests and closets, they selected all the solid material and left behind the plated ware. From bric-a-brac cabinets they selected the valuable articles, leaving the cheaper ones carefully arranged in rooms. The property taken is valued at $3,000. The robbery was only discovered last night.

With the Mikado's Saber. CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—With the sword presented to him by the mikado in appreciation of his painting of the "Niko Gate to the Royal Tombs" John Devereux York of Chicago tried to kill himself at the deathbed of his mother and wounded his uncle almost to death in a desperate struggle which the latter made to seize the royal weapon.

Utica Printers Get Eight Hour Day. UTICA, N. Y., Oct. 23.—The strike of the job printers in this city for the eight hour day has been ended by the employers, who have been holding out, according to the demands. The eight hour day is to go into effect on Jan. 1.

Railway Offices Burned at Memphis. MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 23.—The building at the corner of Madison and Main streets, occupied by the Illinois Central railroad offices, has been badly damaged by fire. The loss will probably be $200,000.
