A BADGE OF PEACE

Roosevelt Receives a Token of Fealty From the South.

WELCOMED TO COTTON STATE CAPITAL

Son of Admiral Semmes Said, "Mobile Has Buried the Past and Looks Without Fear to the Future."

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 24.—All Mobile lent itself to the reception of President Theodore Roosevelt during his stay in the capital. There was general decoration of all the streets along the route of the procession from the Union station to the stand on Bienville square, where the reception ceremonies took place.

The square when the president arrived was filled with 40,000 citizens. The area was brilliant with electric lights, while live oaks formed a canopy of green.

The president's seat was on an elevated dais in a chair which was built by the students of a technical school in Japan. Back of the dais was an enormous stuffed bear eight feet tall, bearing in its mouth a floral independence bell and above its head a white dove holding a streamer, on which was the inscription "Blessed is the peacemaker."

The bear was killed in a hunting expedition by his majesty Alexander II. of Russia in 1857, according to the inscription on a bronze plate on the base of the mounting, and was presented by Czar Alexander to "the Duke of Osmena, Comte d'Yulantando, Duke de Benavento and l'Arros Prince d'Ebodie." The house of Ebodie became extinct in the eighties, and the effects in the palace of the princes were disposed of by public sale. The bear was purchased by Hannis Taylor, then minister of the United States at Madrid.

Oliver J. Semmes, son of Confederate Admiral Raphael Semmes, then presented to the president and pinned on the lapel of his coat a handsome souvenir badge as the gift of the people of Mobile. In delivering the badge Judge Semmes said:

"Mr. President, I ask your attention for a moment. I have been delegated by the people of Mobile to present to you this token, a symbol of their fealty as citizens of the United States. Though itself of little intrinsic value, yet in sentiment it represents the loyalty, the worth and the honor of a brave, chivalric and noble people as it is to be found on the face of God's green earth.

"We proud citizens of a proud republic feel and believe that you as the head of that republic will by your broad views and judicious actions so unite in bonds of friendship all sections of our loved country that American will advance till they become the foremost of nations and may without a misgiving defy a world in arms. Should this awful necessity ever arise then the sons of the south will be found a mighty armed camp. Take this little reminder and when you look upon it amid your arduous and multifarious duties feel and know that the people of Mobile have buried the past and look without fear to the future, recognizing that you, as is shown by your later utterances, are the president of the north and the south, our whole country."

Judge Alford, chairman of the committee on arrangements, then introduced the president, who was briefly and warmly welcomed by Mayor P. J. Lyons, who paid high tribute to him as a man, statesman and patriot. The formal welcome was then delivered by Colonel Edward Lafayette Russell, who said:

"Your coming among us has been a source of inspiration to our people, who are familiar with your record as a soldier and a citizen. Your wise statesmanship, coupled with your public acts and public declarations, have given them confidence in your sincerity of purpose and patriotism. Such is the faith of our people in you as a patriot that they believe you would cheerfully surrender your life rather than endanger the sacred trust that has been confided to your patriotic keeping."

President Roosevelt was cheered as he arose to speak. He thanked the people for their magnificent reception and spoke a special word of greeting to the Confederate veterans, who formed a portion of his escort. He referred to the fact that one of his uncles was in Alabama during the civil war. The last time he came through Alabama he said he was going with his own regiment to the Spanish war and in that regiment were more men whose fathers were the gray than those whose fathers were the blue. They displayed but one spirit, the spirit of seeing who could do most for our flag.

Referring to the Panama canal, the president said he did his best to bring about its completion for the benefit of the whole people, but particularly for the benefit of the gulf states. Originally, he said, he favored the Nicaragua route, but when it was demonstrated that it must be the Panama canal or nothing he favored the Panama route, as he was to see a canal built, and one will be built.

Notwithstanding the efforts of certain people who are striving by their circulation of false rumors or other methods to delay or defeat the construction of the canal, the president said they will be disappointed, for there is going to be a canal. Health conditions on the isthmus, he said, are better now than ever before. The president said:

"If we build the canal we must protect it and police it ourselves. We must therefore bring up and keep up our navy to the highest point of efficiency.

"In the event of war the American people must rely mainly upon its volunteer soldiers. While it is comparatively a simple act to turn a man into a good soldier, you can neither

PIRATE IN THE SOUND

Sloop Doroda Brought Into Newport Heavy With Loot.

CAPTURE SOLVES MANY MYSTERIES

Police on Track of Assault of Mrs. Morrill and May Unravel Disappearance of Olga Maxwell.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 24.—Sheriff James Anthony has asked the police of all the neighboring cities to help him capture Henry Allison Jackson. He says Jackson is the river pirate who, with another man, fled from the sloop Doroda, which Deputy Sheriffs De Bois and Harvey have captured in Narragansett bay.

The Doroda was captured as the result of a complaint made by Ferdinand A. Cornell, who telephoned the sheriff's office that the sloop had been seen going up the bay with his stolen launch in tow. The two deputies put after her in the tug Solicitor, and as they drew near the skipper warned them off with a double barreled shotgun, which he waved defiantly.

The deputies then went to the naval coaling station for firearms, and when they resumed the chase the occupants of the sloop took to a small boat and, landing at Portsmouth, escaped. The Doroda was then brought here.

The "pirate yacht" was found laden to the gunwales with plunder from a series of robberies of the great summer mansions along Long Island sound.

The hunt among the quantities of silverware, handsome gowns, household goods and pawn tickets for jewelry is expected to lead to important clues in connection with the mystery behind the shooting of Mrs. Walter C. Morrill at her home in Greenwich, Conn., by a burglar interrupted at his work and also of the disappearance of the Bonner safe containing $25,000 worth of jewels at Stamford.

Boat load after boat load of all manner of articles that have been stolen by the crew of the yacht have been brought ashore.

From the marks on the various silverware and from other means of identification the police have gathered indubitable evidence that the Doroda was used during the summer as a cruising "fence" by burglars engaged in systematic robbery.

One singular discovery occurred in the search of the yacht. This was a visiting card of Miss Olga Maxwell, who disappeared last July at the same time as Midshipman Robert L. Jackson of the battleship Missouri.

It has been learned that the yacht left Atlantic City early in the season, cruised along the coast under various names assumed to avoid being followed, and finally made her way to Long Island sound just at the time that Nirvana, the Bonner boat, was robbed and when a masked burglar broke into the Morrill home, shooting Mrs. Morrill and beating Isabelle Burns.

The supposed owner of the Doroda is Henry Allison Jackson of Taunton, Mass. Immediately after the boat was seized a warrant for his arrest was issued.

The authorities searched the island on which this city and Portsmouth are located in an effort to find Jackson, but were not successful. The officers think that the man they want is somewhere between Portsmouth and the "old stone bridge." The bridge is guarded to prevent the man's escape to the mainland.

Shot Woman, Then Himself.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Mary Frances Schettlin, aged thirty-five, wife of Rudolph B. Schettlin, an electrician at the navy yard, and William A. Botomy, aged thirty-eight, were found dead by the husband in the front room of the Schettlin home. A revolver from which three shots had been fired was on the floor. Two shots hit the woman and the third the man. The discovery was made when the husband returned from work. The police believe that Botomy first shot the woman and then himself.

LYNBROOK HANDICAP.

Feature at Jamaica Woon by Zienap in Close Finish.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Zienap, backed from 5 to 1 in 1843-5, won the Lynbrook handicap for two-year-olds, six furlongs, at Jamaica, defeating Brookdale Nymph by a head. James Reddick was third. The favorite, Security, after leading his lead for half a mile, ran out at the turn and finished back in the rack. Menhway Zienap and Brookdale Nymph, who were badly interfered with and knocked back to almost last position, closed very strong in the stretch, and in hard drive Zienap won.

J. A. Drake's Broadcloth, winner of the second race, was bid up to $2,500, an advance of $2,000 over his entered selling price. The stable bid the customary $5 and kept the horse. Two favorites won. Summary:

This from the end and glad salutations."

WITTE NOW PREMIER

Central Russia Paralyzed by Railway Strikes.

PEOPLE WANT POLITICAL FREEDOM

War's Reward For His Peace Commissioner—Railway Employees' Congress Asks Suffrage and Less Rigorous Laws.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 24.—The railroad strike situation shows no signs of amelioration. Traffic across central Russia is paralyzed, while a general strike which began at Kharkov has cut off communication in another great section of the empire.

It is persistently reported in the clubs and in government circles that the emperor has appointed Count Witte premier, with the portfolio of minister of finance. All the St. Petersburg papers this morning give prominence to the report.

Kharkov is the most important railroad center in southern Russia. The strike affects among others the line to the Donetz coal region, on which Russia largely depends for fuel during the crisis in the oil regions and the line to Odessa and Sevastopol.

At Moscow is isolated, except the line to St. Petersburg, while the capital has an international line, via Eydikolmen, open to Berlin.

The strike is part of a general scheme of the Social Democrats to compel the emperor to grant universal suffrage and complete political freedom, but the plan of the leaders is to avoid a collision with the authorities.

Their purpose is to make tests of the strength of the various organizations preparatory to the beginning of a general strike of all classes in support of the radicals at about the time the national assembly meets.

The congress of railroad employees in session here has adopted a resolution in favor of universal suffrage, political freedom, amnesty, the right to organize strikes, the liberation of arrested strikers, an eight hour day, schools for children of employees and the abolition of martial law, the railroad gendarmerie and capital punishment.

At Kharkov a general strike on all the railroads has been inaugurated. At Balashev all local employees of the railroad have struck and train communication is stopped.

At Simbirsk the railroad men have stopped work, the services being thus discontinued. The officials managed to dispatch one train in twenty-four hours.

At Baku, Caucasus, a band of brigades attacked a detachment of Cossacks near the Alyat railway station. Seven Cossacks were killed, and one was wounded. The remainder of the Cossacks escaped.

It is feared that the employees of the Warsaw, St. Petersburg and Vistula railroads will take part in the strike.

Second Charge Against Cunliffe.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 24.—A second information charging larceny of $750 on or before the day he disappeared with $100,000 was lodged against E. G. Cunliffe by C. H. Hiner, general local agent of the Adams Express company. Cunliffe waived a hearing on this second charge, which was presented to the grand jury this morning. Cunliffe voluntarily handed to H. W. Beance of Philadelphia, general superintendent of a private detective agency, a letter denying published reports of ill treatment.

Both Will Have a Place.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 24.—Secretary of State O'Brien has decided that both the Socialist and the Socialist Labor party should be allowed to file nominations and have a place on the official ballot at the coming state election under their respective names. Each party objected to the certificates of nomination filed by the other on the ground that the objector alone had the right to use the title "Socialist." The case will probably go to the courts.

Stevens Will See Finish of Canal.
