WALKED ACROSS CONTINENT.

Alfred Decardo, in Despite For Sweetheart, Tried Suicide.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Alfred Decardo, who walked to New York from San Francisco to see the girl he had hoped to marry, tried to kill himself by jumping from the Williamsburg bridge.

A policeman saw him climb from the foot passage to the outer rail and reached him in time to grab his foot. Decardo said that on his arrival here he had found that the girl he loved had returned to Italy a few days before. He was without funds or friends, and the Manhattan police found him asleep near a bonfire at the Delancey street entrance to the Williamsburg bridge.

He was arraigned in the police court, and a magistrate sent him to Bellevue hospital, as doctors said he was suffering from hunger. He was discharged from the hospital just before he attempted to jump from the bridge. He could give no intelligible account of his actions and was remanded for further examination.

South Waverly Woman-Grabber

Waverly—Residents of South Waverly and the streets south of the Erie tracks are talking of an alleged woman-grabber who is trying to work his crazy tactics in that vicinity. The officers have frequently chased suspicious characters in that locality, but the local police have not been given complaint and have no authority in South Waverly.

WILL TAKE MATTER UP WITH THE ERIE

Waverlyites Will Ask Railroad Officials to Stop Train 6 at that Place.

Waverly—One of the matters under advisement of the local Business Men's association is another effort to take up with the Erie railroad company the matter of allowing train 6 to stop here every night.

Undoubtedly the company knows better than any of its patrons how to conduct its own business, but to an ordinary observer of business when the big train used to stop here regular, it would feel that at least nothing could be lost. No. 6 does stop here anyway, on signal, and the signal has to be given about five nights in every week.

TROLLEY MATTERS AT A STANDSTILL

Railroad Commission Met Yesterday but Immediately Adjourned.

Waverly—Representatives from both the traction companies returned from the railroad commissioners hearing yesterday, and all were smiling. The W. S. & A. people smiled because the whole matter has been postponed again for thirty days, which means probably until next spring; the Chemung Valley people smiled because while they did not make any headway neither did their competitors. The adjournment was taken at the instance of the Erie railroad representatives whose attorneys have not yet made their case ready to be put before the commission.

Only two of the five members of the state railroad commission were present, Hon. Colonel Dunn of Binghamton and Hon. Frank Baker of Owego. Among those who went from here were F. E. Lyford, Simon Zausmer, Supt. Case, J. H. Murray, and Atty' F. E. Hawkes.

Meeting Postponed

Waverly—The special meeting of the N. P. L. local members is postponed from Saturday of this week to next week Thursday, Nov. 2. This is the meeting at which the public payoff of several charter members is to be made.

Our advertisers will confer a great favor if they will hand in copy for changes in advertisements not later than 6 p. m. on the day before the changed form is to appear. We find it difficult to give later changes proper attention.

JOHN H. MURRAY'S NARROW ESCAPE

Barely Missed Being Hit With a Plank Which Crashed Through Passenger Coach Window.

Waverly—Jarrd from a passing freight train a big plank smashed through a window of one of the passenger coaches on Erie train 2 yesterday and John H. Murray of this place had a narrow escape from what would without doubt been a fatal injury.

Accompanied by his little son, Mr. Murray had been to Elmira and was sitting in the car all unconscious of his peril, when he and the other passengers were startled by the crash and saw the plank fall. No one was injured in any way. The train was an extra heavy one.

A POLITICAL STRIKE.

Russian Railway Men Demand Reforms—Many Thousands Out.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 25.—At a meeting of 8,000 railway men, held here last night, it was decided to declare a strike on all the railways operating with St. Petersburg beginning today. It was also decided at the meeting to send deputations to Prince Hilkoff, minister of railways, and Count Witte, president of the committee of ministers, and present to them addresses demanding political reforms, including among them the convocation of a constituent assembly elected by direct universal suffrage.

The meeting remained in session until the return of the deputations, the time being occupied by further discussions of the situation and the delivery of speeches of the most revolutionary character, all of which were loudly applauded. Those present included a large number of students.

The deputations returned toward midnight without having succeeded in seeing Prince Hilkoff owing to his absence at Peterhof, where he was making a report of the railway troubles to Emperor Nicholas. They found Count Witte, who received them, but he insisted that the interview must be of a private character, he as president of the committee of ministers having no right to accept an address.

M. Witte pointed out that a constituent assembly was quite impossible and contended that the suffrage and other political demands had nothing to do with the question of the railroads. The count promised that liberty of meeting and of the press would be promptly granted and said that the continued application of martial law to the railroads was due to a misunderstanding and would be remedied. He declared that he was friendly to all reasonable demands for liberty and promised to confer with Prince Hilkoff as to the best means of dealing with the railroad question. At the same time he advised the deputation to end the strike and then to peacefully formulate the demands of the men.

A FAULTLESS BEER

The following article appears in the United States Trade Reports, a publication devoted to financial, agricultural and mechanical interests:

There has been considerable discussion of the different kinds of beer since so much attention has been given to the discussion of pure food products, and many are found to give bad after-effects. The United States Trade Reports has always fearlessly discussed such topics as are of general interest to its readers, and we have received several letters concerning the different kinds of beer on the market. We are asked to recommend the best and purest, and which leaves no bad effects after drinking.

We have made a careful investigation locally, also referring the matter to our representatives in all the principal cities. We feel justified in saying that the beer which we find to surpass all others in purity and cleanliness is made by the Botterweich Brewing Co., of Olean, N. Y.

The above-named firm stands high in the commercial world, and is well known for its business tact and enterprise, as well as for its integrity. This beer serves as a tonic as well as a beverage. We have no interest in making this commendation, except to give credit where credit is due, as has always been our policy, and we have not the slightest hesitancy in recommending this beer to our readers. We advise all patrons to call for this beer, especially for invalids and those of impaired health.

It has been a custom of this paper to furnish its subscribers with reliable information on any desired subject free of charge, that they may designate by letter of inquiry addressed to this office. The United States Trade Reports has the largest circulation of any trade paper of its class, and no other publication could afford to maintain such a large staff of experienced editors to make these investigations, and depend solely upon its subscription list for support.

We are certain that all dealings which our readers may have with this firm will prove mutually beneficial and profitable. It is a pleasure to us to give this firm our editorial recommendation, and, at the same time, to supply our readers with reliable information on such an important subject as this.
