THE JEWISH APPEAL.

Call Made For Aid For Russian Starving Victims.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—To insure united action in giving financial aid made necessary by the massacres of Jews in Russia a call to the Jewish people of America was issued here by Adolph Kraus, president of the Independent of B'nai B'rith, who has been in telegraphic correspondence with the leaders of all Jewish organizations in the United States and was authorized to sign the call on behalf of the head of each organization. This is the first time on record that such a concerted movement has ever been made by the Jewish societies.

Following is the call:
"The victims of the awful riots and massacres in Russia are not all numbed with the dead. The living, starving survivors who have lost their breadwinners and the maimed mute appeal to a pitying world for aid. Therefore each community is hereby requested to organize at once and without further notice for the purpose of raising funds to aid these destitute living victims. Funds when collected may be forwarded to Jacob H. Schiff of New York for proper distribution."

Edison's Visitors.

Thomas A. Edison has, at his house in New Jersey, hundreds of metal sheets bearing records of the observations made by many of the distinguished visitors who have called upon him. He never asks his visitors for their autographs or photographs, inviting them instead to speak or sing a few words into a phonograph. The plates he keeps in a cabinet under lock and key, occasionally taking a few of them out and running them through a phonograph for his own amusement.

New Japanese Anaesthetic.

A natural painkiller has just been discovered in a Japanese herb to which the name of Scopolamin has been given. The new anaesthetic is said to surpass in efficacy all other hitherto employed means. The sap extracted from the plant when injected under the skin promotes a deep sleep of eight or nine hours' duration. When the subject awakes he experiences none of the disagreeable sensations or dangerous after-effects of the usual anaesthetics.

I look for larger sales on them in the future. I do not want to be out of any of them and will order before my stock runs down too low." Get a free sample and prove what it will do for you. H. L. Gillespie and Child, Waltham & Young, Sayre.

At the Theater.

Mrs. Youkild—Doesn't it make you dreadfully angry to have to stand up and let men pass you when they get out between the acts?
Mrs. Willson—No, I like it. My husband owns the barroom.—Cleveland Leader.

RELIGIOUS MATTERS

FAITH.

"I have learned my lesson of faith," I said.
"Let me have my meed of the light," said the Teacher lovingly shook his head.
"It is not faith that asks for light, and the gift of your lesson is yet to learn, if you cry for the day in the night."
"For Faith is an eagle skilled to fly on pinions of trust unbound, and it soars in the face of the stormy sky with a confidence profound, that joys in the rush of the beating air without a thought of the ground."
"And your meed, my child, for a lesson learned, is a call to a bolder flight, with its chance for a stronger stroke of the wing."
"And the gleam of an inner light, which knows no choice in its vision keen between the day and the night."
—P. W. Crannell, in Service.

NO JOY WITHOUT THORNS.

It is One of the Disciplines of Life Which Makes It Worth While Living.

There is no joy without its sorrow, just as there is no rose without its thorn.

Friendship means discipline; love means sacrifice; riches mean responsibility; power means service. Not one of these things will bring unmitigated happiness. Every one of them has its attending sharp thorns, and to hope to get the rose without the thorns is to be grievously mistaken.

Whoever takes unto himself new ties of affection increases his chances of suffering. It may make little difference to you what happens to a person for whom you do not care, or how such a one may treat you. But attach yourself to that person by the bonds of friendship or love, and instantly he obtains a power over your life which can cause you the greatest sorrow.

His illness or misfortunes hurt you almost as badly as your own. If he should die, a great black shadow would come over your life. If he is cold or careless you are bitterly wounded. In a thousand ways he can make you suffer as a person for whom you cared nothing would be utterly powerless to do.

This is the penalty for love or friendship or every tie of affection. It doubles our joy, but it also doubles our griefs, and vastly increases our capacity for suffering.

There is something terrifying about these close human associations which have such tremendous power over us. We shrink from assuming them. Sometimes it seems better to go through life cold and self-centered, caring deeply for none, depending on no one's affection and tenderness.

Thus, we reason, we may maintain the calm, unshaken poise impossible to him whose happiness depends in any degree upon others.

This is poor reasoning. It is true that one who loves no one nor is loved by any spares himself the pangs of grief which come with affection; but it is also true that he only half lives. He misses those emotions, both of pleasure and pain, which are necessary to make a complete, well-rounded character.

Both the sorrow and the joy of life are needed for its ripening. We dare not shirk the one through fear of the other. The strong heart will accept love, accept friendship, accept the sorrow they bring, and, knowing it all to be a part of life, will smile through its tears, and say:

"It is worth the sacrifice. Without the joy I should never have known the beauty of life. Without the sorrow I should never have known life's meaning."
—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Increase in rust-cars.

Five years ago the total number of post-cards delivered in the United Kingdom was about 400,000,000; last year it was 750,000,000; and if the recent rate of increase is maintained, the total for this year may reach 900,000,000.

At the Theater.

Mrs. Youkild—Doesn't it make you dreadfully angry to have to stand up and let men pass you when they get out between the acts?
Mrs. Willson—No, I like it. My husband owns the barroom.—Cleveland Leader.

WOULD NOT MARRY HIM.

Mrs. Tilloch Sailed For Germany; Lover Took Poison.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—After following a woman across the continent in a gain attempt to persuade her to marry him, only to see her board a steamer for Europe, Walter Herlich, an elderly man, supposed to be from Lindsay, Cal., committed suicide last night in a hotel in Hoboken, N. J.

When Mrs. A. Tilloch, a comely young German widow, arrived in Hoboken from Bremen on Oct. 19 she told the people of the hotel where she stopped that she was on her way to Lindsay, Cal., to marry a man to whom she was engaged.

On Sunday she returned and said she was on her way back to her home in Germany. The same day Herlich also arrived at the hotel. He was suffering from consumption, for which reason it was understood that Mrs. Tilloch had refused to marry him. Monday the widow sailed for Bremen, and last night Herlich was found dead, having taken poison.

He left a note saying that he had nothing to live for and inclosing $50 to reimburse the hotel proprietor for the trouble he had given him and to pay his funeral expenses.

In the Time of Trouble.

It is in the time of trouble, when some to whom we may have looked for consolation and encouragement regard us with coldness, and others, perhaps, treat us with hostility, that the warmth of the friendly heart and the support of the friendly hand acquire increased value, and demand additional gratitude.—Bishop Mant.
