Sally Was Afraid of the Cows and She Failed to Overcome Her Foolish Fear.

Sally sat on the barnyard fence and watched her father at milking time. "Come over!" he cried. "The cows won't hurt you." "I'm afraid."

A LITTLE COWARD.

"Afraid of what? They're perfectly gentle.

'I'm afraid of their horns. They ook so-so-hookey." "These cows wouldn't hook a red fannel blanket. I am afraid my Saly's a bit of a coward." Now Sally knew that she was not a oward in all things. Had she not teen all over the house when it was so dark she had to feel her way? Even the back stairs, where things might pop out at her from closets, did not daunt her. Then, too, had she not ridden Prince bareback to water many a time? No, she was not a coward. "I don't know what it is, papa, but when the cows look at me I just got to run.'

"Yes, I saw you running away one day, when there was a ten-rail fence tetween you and one old mooly. You're a funny girl for a farmer's daughter." "But, papa, I went with you to salt the cattle Sunday." "Yes, Sally girl, but you gripped tight to me all the way, and when the cattle came close I had to take you in my arms. Now, little maid, I think you ought to cure yourself of this fright. It isn't manly, and you know you want to be a boy. No brave boy would run from a cow.

The tears swelled into Sally's eyes, and her throat felt very achy. As she trotted into the house she determined to try and overcome her fear. The very next day she started out to cure herself. When no one was looking she took a berry pail and stole out to the barn where the salt was kept.

On account of the mild weather, we found it very difficult to push such a large stock as we had, and to turn it into the amount of money that we were compelled to raise. In order to turn this stock into cash I was compelled to turn over my entire stock to the New England Consolidated Sales Company.

This firm is capitalized at $275,000. This firm takes a hold of this stock with a guarantee to raise $9,763.67 inside of seven days. They have placed $1000 in gold in one of our local banks as a guarantee. That is if they cannot realize the above required amount inside of seven days, the $1000 in gold is forfeited to us. I have turned over the keys and the entire $21,000 worth of mens, boys and childrens suits, overcoats, and pants; ladies, mens, boys, and children's shoes, and a grand stock of ladies, misses, and childrens coats suits and furs. This above large entire stock is now in their possession. The entire stock is being remarked and rearranged at prices of no matter how much the loss may be. This coming seven day sale will be the wonder of the age, the wonder of the day and the wonder of the hour. This sale will be remembered by both young and old as the greatest landslide sale ever held in the northern part of Pennsylvania. Let nothing stand in your way. Let nothing keep you away. Be wide awake, come on time, you know the day, you know the hour, come with your cash, no matter what it may be, you will not go home empty handed. We emphasize this one fact that we are after the cash and we are going to have it. It is cash we want and not the stock.

NOTICE .-- Every article in the store will be placed on sale, every garment. Every statement made herein is positively guaranteed or your money back for the asking.

the second slice, placing them in the lower slice. In the same fashion, says zfraid of a cow now as she ever was. the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, build the tower seven spaces high, carefully keeping the toothpicks straight. The Lottom slice should be at least a half such thick. Higher up a quarter inch thick will do. On the very top put a slice cut from the seed end.

A Curious Plant.

There was on exhibition recently a curious flower known as the cruel plant, which belongs to the climbing species and is an insect catcher. Its petals are white, and it is about the rize of an apple, blossom, which it somewhat resembles. Its interior formation is such that the proboscis of any insect, searching for the flowers' sey, once igserted, cannot be withdrawn, and the harder the insect struggles the tighter it is held. One of the plants on view held captive a which, unless released, will held till it starves to death. It will then dry up and be blown away by the wind.

Severe Censoring.

The censorship is a very real thing a China. There, anyone who writes able book is punished with be destroyed because it has been found rs of a heavyy bamboo and impressible to disinfect it of the germa for life. Anyone who reads of the beri-beri, to which one after another has succumbed.

With the pail of salt upon her arm she trudged straight out to the cattle pasture. Her little heart went chug, chug, like a steam launch, and her feet seemed to stick to the ground and puil back, and say: "O, Sally, anywhere but the pasture"

But they took her there. She let down a bar and crawled through. There was a tree in the middle of the pasture and she headed for that, call-

"Co, boss! Co, boss!" The cattle at the far end of the pasture heard her call and lifted their heads.

"Co, boss! Co, boss!" That sound surely meant salt. "Moo-oo-oo!" Across the field they came, galapty-gallop. Sally shook like an aspen leaf, but held her ground, for the reason that she was too far from the fence to run for it, and the one tree was too high to climb. With a fearful haste she flung the salt far and wide. Within a few feet of her they stopped and nosed in the grass for the salt, mumbling and munching contentedly and never noticing little scared Sally.

She waited till they were all busy and then turned and fled like the wind. Over the fence, pattering down the road she went, never daring to look behind, and she never halted till she was safe in her mother's arms.

And the worst of the story is this: spaces midway between those on the Sally was not cured. She is just as -Boston Globe.

GOOD NEWS TO ALL, especially to those who have not as yet made their fall and winter purchases. DOWN, DOWN, go the prices once more. It seems like sacrilege to make such cuts on all of the newest goods but we are compelled to do so.

The bargains all through the store, and in fact embracing every article, will be greater than ever, for now since we have concluded, to place this sale with the above firm we are determined to make it a success, cost what it may.
