IN STEEL SYNDICATE

Hughes' Probe Uncovers Some Startling Payments.

MORGAN AND CORTELYOU TO TESTIFY

Mattison, New York Life Clerk, Testified to Large Sums Paid G. W. Perkins—Money, He Said, Went to "Nylie Fund."

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—That George W. Perkins, vice president of the New York Life Insurance company and partner of J. Pierpont Morgan, last year took a profit of $40,000 which belonged to the New York Life for a loan of $100,000 it had negotiated in Boston and that J. P. Morgan & Co. in 1902 paid to Andy Hamilton $60,000 out of profits which the New York Life had made in steel were facts dragged out of a clerk of the insurance company at the legislative insurance committee's inquiry.

It is said that Morgan will have to go on the witness stand and tell why he was dealing with Hamilton, the "yellow dog" handler and fugitive, and Perkins must unburden to the probe of Chief Examiner Charles E. Hughes which right he had to divert money belonging to the New York Life Insurance company.

Milton M. Mattison, a dummy loan clerk, who figured in the early part of the life insurance investigation, was the person who bore witness as to Perkins' and Morgan's dealings. He said that it was he who paid over the $40,000 to Perkins. At first he told Mr. Hughes that he didn't know what Perkins had done with the money. Then he recalled that he had heard that the $40,000 had been put into the "Nylie fund" of the New York Life, of which Perkins is the trustee and which is used for rewarding agents for "good business."

It is said that the New York Life participated in the steel syndicate to the extent of $2,325,000 and that it made a profit of $52,417.13.

The McCall company had been called upon for a statement of all of its syndicate participations. It sent Mattison to present it to the committee. A glance at the paper revealed to Mr. Hughes the absence of any reference to the steel syndicate engineered by the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co. Mattison was immediately put on the witness stand and the truth dragged out of him.

It is said that Postmaster General Cortelyou may be called before the investigating committee to explain what he knows about campaign contributions. It is stated that Cornelius N. Bliss will also be questioned by the committee.

Postmaster General Cortelyou when seen in Washington declined to make any statement on the subject and would neither affirm nor deny the report that he is to go before the committee.

George W. Perkins of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. has given out the following statement in relation to the testimony brought out in the insurance investigation:

"The transactions referred to before the insurance investigating committee were perfectly proper ones. If the natural course of the inquiry does not make this clear I am sure the committee will give me an opportunity to offer further testimony in the matter."

WILL EXHUME BRANCH'S BODY.

Defense of Cadet Newluever at the Court Martial Ask For Autopsy.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 25.—The unfortunate incident in the court martial of Midshipman Minor Newluever, Jr., for manslaughter and other offenses connected with the death of Midshipman James R. Branch, Jr., which occurred after a prearranged fist fight between the two, was the determination of the court to accede to the request of counsel for the defense and request the secretary of the navy to order the exhumation of the body of Branch and the performance of an autopsy.

This request was made after Judge Advocate Marix had notified the court that the case of the prosecution had closed.

The testimony of the medical experts has indicated strongly that a most unfortunate mistake was made when Branch's body was buried in the naval cemetery, opposite Annapolis, without the performance of an autopsy. This was explained by the fact that Branch's father, Colonel James B. Branch of the Hanover bank, New York, had refused his consent.

One of the most remarkable incidents in the history of naval court martials in this country marked the session of the court when Rear Admiral Alexander H. McCormick, next in point of rank of the members of the court to Admiral Tamany, its president, was challenged by Judge Advocate Marix after the whole testimony for the prosecution had been submitted, a proceeding which the judge advocate said had never been taken by him in all his years of previous experience and of which he had never heard.

The grounds for the challenge appeared after the beginning of the trial and were, first, that Admiral McCormick had consulted with a high medical authority (Medical Director Thomas C. Walton, U. S. N., retired) in relation to the case; second, that he had by his repeated and continued cross examination of the prosecution's witnesses practically taken the place of the counsel for the accused, and, third, that he had evinced the possession of a theory in the case which was so rooted that it would be impossible to move it by the evidence.

After Judge Advocate Marix had stated these grounds Lieutenant Commander Robinson jumped to his feet and addressed the judge advocate. "Captain Marix," he said, "I am a very young man. You wear more stripes on your arms than I can hope to do for many years, but—"

At this point Captain Walnwright suggested that counsel address the court, and an exciting personal colloquy was averted.

The court was then cleared, and upon its being reopened Admiral Ramsey announced that the challenge against Admiral McCormick had not been sustained.

Gave Him Electric Hazing.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—Eleven cadets have been dismissed from Culver Military academy, Culver, Ind., as a result of the exposure of a hazing administered to Cadets Fee and Harris. The hazing put Fee in a tub of ice cold water and placed a dry battery with one of the conductors in the water. Then they made the cadet grasp the other conductor, which was outside the water, and turned the battery on. The cadet could not let go. He was unconscious for twenty minutes, and only by vigorous rubbing was he brought to life. Fifty cadets looked on.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 25.—The venerable Mrs. G. M. Goodlett of this city, honorable president and founder of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, sent the following telegram to her young kinsman, Minor Meriwether, now on trial by court martial at Annapolis: "The blood of your Revolutionary ancestors would have risen up against you had you done otherwise than accept the challenge of Midshipman Branch."

CONVICTS MUTINY

Missouri State Prison Outbreak Caused Five Deaths.

DEPUTY WARDEN FATALLY WOUNDED

Desperate Men Blew Up Jail Gate and Got Free—Engaged in Running Fight With Guards, and Three Were Killed.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 25.—Eight or ten convicts at the state penitentiary here suddenly mutinied and shot Guards Barney Ellis and Charles Clay, killing them instantly. The suddenness of the outbreak temporarily paralyzed prison discipline, and before any attempt to subdue the convicts could be made the mutineers had exploded dynamite under the prison gate, leading out into the public street.

Convicts Harry Vaughn, Charles Raymond, Hiram Blake, George Ryan and Eli Ziegler, who were working close inside the prison gate, having secured pistols, entered Deputy Warden R. E. See's office and shot him in the arm and hip as he sat in a chair. He sank back helpless, and the convicts rushed to the gate, where they met Gateman John Clay, who, being alarmed by the shots fired at See, opened the gate to look inside. Before Clay could raise his weapon he was shot dead.

Then as if to signal the convicts generally that an attempt to escape had been started the convicts rang the gate bell and then rushed through the gate, dragging Clay's body with them. They slammed the gate shut and fastened it while Ziegler was ringing the bell, and he was left inside.

The four convicts were then in the wagon entrance to the penitentiary. This entrance is forty feet long and fifteen feet wide. It leads to the public street through a second double gate of steel, which was locked. The convicts placed ultraglycerin under the outside gate and blew an opening through the steel doors. The four men crawled through this rupture and dashed through a number of "trusty" convicts who were working in the street.

Almost before the four escaped convicts had covered a block prison officers were in pursuit, shooting as they ran. Pedestrians jumped behind trees, ran into houses and crouched down behind any obstacle that presented refuge from the bullets that caused almost a panic in the street. Several men seized weapons and joined the prison officers in the pursuit. The chase kept on for a dozen blocks, the convicts outrunning their pursuers.

Deputy Warden See fell, probably mortally wounded by a bullet. Prison officials succeeded in preventing the escape of all but four of the convicts. These four gained the street, sprang into a passing wagon, knocked the driver from the seat and then, miraculously escaping a fusillade of bullets, lashed the horse into full speed right through the residence portion of Jefferson City.

Officers from the penitentiary, armed with Winchester rifles, pursued and at the edge of town overtook the escaping desperadoes. A battle ensued, and three of the convicts were shot dead, the fourth escaping into the heavily wooded country. Posses formed immediately and began a search through the woods, determined to take the convict dead or alive.

Plucky Stonecutter Saved One.

BARRE, Vt., Nov. 25.—Three boys were drowned and another barely escaped a similar death while skating here. John and Francis Blanchi, Arthur Broderick and James Cruikshank, who were among a large party of skaters on a mill pond at North Barre, broke through the ice together. John Grumbold, a stonecutter, jumped into the water and saved young Cruikshank, but the others could not be reached. The bodies of the three victims were recovered.

WRECK ON LAKE MICHIGAN.

Passengers Taken From Stranded Steamer Argo Near Holland.

HOLLAND, Mich., Nov. 25.—After four women, a little girl and eighteen men passengers had been rescued from the stranded steamer Argo by a breeches buoy near here the line on which the buoy traveled broke, leaving seven men, with a crew of twenty-two, still on the vessel and in imminent danger of drowning. Fortunately the line broke when the buoy was being hauled back to the boat for another passenger.

The life saving crew realized the peril of the situation and took to their surfboat in a desperate effort to reach the steamer.

The Argo went hard aground on a sand bar north of the north pier in a terrific storm on Lake Michigan and is held fast.

Owing to the heavy sea which was rolling it was impossible for the life saving crew to reach the steamer, and the passengers and crew could only be taken off in the breeches buoy. They were in great peril.

When it was decided to remove the endangered passengers with a breeches buoy a life saving crew dragged a cannon to the beach and fired a line across the rough water to the Argo. It was made fast on the vessel, and then the breeches buoy was sent out. The persons brought ashore first were Mrs. P. J. Emiskern, Mrs. C. Johnson and Mrs. W. T. Conant and little daughter of Big Rapids, Mich., and Mrs. C. W. Earl of Chicago.

After their safe arrival male passengers were one by one drawn to the beach until the line broke. The passengers retained their self possession throughout the experience. There was nothing like a panic at any time after the steamer struck.

MASSACRE THREAT.

Sultan's Reply to Powers Fore-shadows Reprisals.

NO OVERTURES TO OUR GOVERNMENT

The Porte May Yield at First Real Show of Force When Warships Appear Off Dardanelles Defenses.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 25.—The chief explanation of the obstinacy shown by the sultan of Turkey regarding the demands of the powers for the financial control of the Macedonian vilayets is to be sought for in his own peculiar character," said a very prominent resident of Pera, a suburb on the north shore of the Golden Horn, known as the European quarter, where the ambassadors reside.

The informant was a man whose long residence in and study of the levant qualified him to speak with authority. "While the sultan is of an arbitrary nature," said he, "he is greatly influenced by his religion. The exigencies of this religion which surround the sultan are deeply ignorant of international politics, and they have succeeded in making the sultan believe that it is against the law and the teachings of Islam for him to cede territory except when compelled to do so by force. The ambassadors here believe that the sultan sees the necessity of giving way and that therefore when a sufficient show of force has been made he will have an excuse for yielding, which will justify him in the eyes of his advisers and his people."

The sultan's reply to the demands of the powers is not only a categorical rejection of the demands, but contains thinly veiled threats that the pressure of Europe will possibly excite the Turkish population to reprisals on the Christians.

The communication states that the Turkish government finds it absolutely impossible to accept financial control of Macedonia, as it would violate the sultan's sovereignty.

It is understood that the warships of the powers are already in Turkish waters.

At the American embassy it is said that up to this moment no overtures have been made to the United States government to join in the present attempt to coerce Turkey through a national demonstration into yielding to the demands of the powers relative to the administration of Macedonian finances.

Nor has the porte addressed itself to the United States government on the subject. The fact is that the seven signatory powers who joined in the Berlin agreement, in the view of the United States government, thereby assumed complete responsibility for the protection of Christian interests in European Turkey. There is no warrant, therefore, in the official view, for any interference by the United States in what is now going on in Turkish waters.

The prisoner has since been arrested and is held without bail. The American colony is aroused over the murder, which is denounced as the outcome of a political feud.

Say Lock Canal Now.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—It can be regarded as certain that as soon as the board of consulting engineers on the Panama canal reports the canal commission will at once perfect its plans for the building of a lock canal. The majority report, which advocates the sea level canal, will not be of much use, so certain is it now that a lock canal will be built.
