PERSONAL MENTION

Toys of all kinds for the children at Weber's Book Parlors.

C. J. Symington will leave for New York city tonight for a short business trip.

Attorney C. C. Yocum is in Towanda today on business in connection with the court of common pleas.

Mrs. F. L. Garrison of Tracy Creek, N. Y., is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Plumstead, of No. 132 Chestnut street.

John McGee and E. F. Dunfee of Laquin and D. W. Decker of Monroeton are transacting business in Sayre today and calling on relatives.

George Wiesing, who has been spending a ten days' vacation among friends in the New England states has returned home, and will resume his duties at the National Car Wheel Foundry.

DANCE POSTPONED

The dance which was announced by the Eagles to take place on New Years night, has been postponed to the middle of next month. The date has not yet been determined upon but it will probably occur about the 15th. The committee having the dance arrangements in charge have found it necessary to change the date on account of there being so many events of a similar nature already planned for New Years.

LOOK, LOOK

There will be a regular meeting of the Wilbur Hook & Ladder Co. this evening and every member is requested to be present as it is the nomination of officers. Other important business will be transacted. Let every member be present.

LORD OF THE MANOR IS ROUGHLY USED

Fred Roles Alleges That His Offspring Beat Him in a Cruel Manner and Secures Warrant For His Arrest

Just because his wife and son played rough house with him for a few minutes yesterday, during which he received a black eye, a punch or two in the proboscis, and a gouge in the ear which nearly severed that member from his cranium, Fred Roles, a resident of Bradford street, whose police record would make an interesting page of reading, went before Justice Gay yesterday afternoon and ordered a warrant issued for his assailants' arrest. The justice looked the man over and decided from his appearance that he needed the protection of the strong arm of the law, and thereupon, in the name of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, issued a warrant in which Roles' wife and son Clarence were charged with assault. The instrument was placed in the hands of Constable B. L. Lewis and he went to the Roles' residence on Bradford street, but by the time the officer had reached the house Roles had relented so far as his wife's connection with the sad affair was concerned, and said that he did not desire to have her taken in custody. Regarding his son, however, he entertained a different feeling, and declared that he was the principal cause of the trouble which is alleged to have occurred early yesterday afternoon.

The officer made a search for the son but he was nowhere to be found, and the minion of the law went away empty handed, but not before he had been told the story of the fracas.

It appears that Roles went to his home yesterday in a sort of a playful mood brought on by an over-indulgence in his favorite stimulants. He began to tease his son, and the latter objected. A row ensued, during which it is alleged, Roles' son and young daughter pounded their parent with most anything they could lay their hands upon. Roles' wife denied that she had anything to do with the affair, and lays the blame upon the son and daughter.

A "PHUNNY PHELLER"

Al. H. Tyrrell, "that phunny pheller" with John W. Vogel's Big City Minstrels, which comes to the Loomis tonight, is a wonder. Mr. Tyrrell is unique as a monologue artist, as he possesses a singing voice of much clarity and sweetness, something very few in his special line of stage work enjoy.

He is as clever as the best and performs it with much more ease than any other performer in his line. He responds to his encores and exhausts his responses to the audience. Wherever Mr. Tyrrell appears he wins a loyal clientele. The San Francisco Examiner had the following to say of him: "Al. H. Tyrrell, an eastern humorist and monologist, who has adopted his trade mark what some critic called him, 'A funny little fellow,' won favor on his merits in his first engagement in this city. Mr. Tyrrell is a clear-voiced talker and a fine singer. He appears well dressed, and his quiet manner and cultured humor is a marked feature of his act."

KICK HIM OUT

If a well dressed, smooth talking individual shows up at your front door and offers to sell you a lamp wick for 25 cents which he claims will convert the blaze made from kerosene into electricity, and that he will furnish you oil from a company soon to be organized for 7 cents a gallon, kick the fellow into the street or else send for the police. He is a swindler of the most dangerous type and is unable to make good either of his propositions. In towns nearby this grafter has found scores of victims, and still he appears to have escaped justice.

MORE TROUBLE WITH HEEMANS

Towanda's Police Authorities Are in a Quandary as to What to Do With the Bunch

The police of Towanda are having more trouble with the Heemans. Just as they were congratulating themselves upon being rid of the family of Lyman Heeman, who removed to Waverly, William Heeman, a brother of Lyman's, and the former's four sons proceeded to get busy and furnish the authorities with something to do in a dull season. William Heeman, Sr., and Jr., Horace Heeman and Burley Heeman are charged by E. E. Pickett with assault. The later alleges that Heemans were at the East Towanda depot and attacked William Timbler, Pickett's father-in-law. The Heemans were loaded to the muzzle with red eye and when they had finished the attack Timbler had both eyes discolored and was suffering from numerous body bruises. One of the gang also threw a stone through a window in the station and struck Mrs. Pickett, who was sitting inside, on the arm. The Heemans have been arrested, but the authorities are in a quandary as to what to do with them. They are heartily wishing that William would decide to join Lyman at Waverly.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Jasper Bixby of Rome was discharged this forenoon and Mrs. Frost of the same place was admitted.

Henry Stimpson, an employe of the Lehigh Valley store house, while shifting steel ties this morning got his right thumb caught between two of them and suffered a severe injury, the member being badly crushed. He went to the hospital for treatment.

W. C. T. U. MEETING

MUST BE ENFORCED, SAYS BURGESS

Residents of Sayre Who Fail to Clean Snow From Walks in Front of Property Under Their Control Will be Subject to Fine

The ordinance relative to keeping the sidewalks in Sayre clear of snow during the coming winter will be rigidly enforced. At a meeting of the borough council held recently the borough clerk was instructed to notify Burgess E. Williams that the matter had been discussed in the council chamber and that it was the sense of the council that the law should be strictly observed. Accordingly today Burgess Williams has issued a notice through the newspapers calling the attention of every citizen of Sayre who rents or owns property to the fact that the walks in front of same must be cleared of snow within a period of ten hours after each storm. Persons violating the provisions of the ordinance will be subject to a fine of $5 for each and every offense.

John W. Vogel's big city minstrels at the Loomis tonight. Prices 25c to 75c.
