POWER OF LIFE AND DEATH Trick with a Possum-Playing Adder That Was Too Much for the Natives.

There is a pug-nosed belligerent little reptile known as the hog-nosed adder that has a trick of playing possum when attacked. If it once gets started on its role the snake can be tied into knots and handled indiscriminately for an hour or more.

While snake hunting in the south a year or two ago, relates the New York Sun, Mr. Dittmars plotted to win the admiration of his guide and the population by announcing that he had marvelous powers. He was endowed with the gift of destroying life by a sign.

The natives had never heard of this possum stunt of their dreader adder and when the performer formed them in a circle around a specimen found in the fields they quaked in their boots; such as had boots.

The magician advanced rapidly as if to attack the inclosed snake, pointed his finger to the sky, muttered to himself, and the adder obediently turned on its back. It was timidly passed from hand to hand.

The performer beamed with satisfaction. He would go one better. If the audience would form a larger circle he would restore life to the dead reptile.

The audience obeyed. The snake found all surroundings peaceable after a few minutes, and turned over, to slide away to parts unknown.

Mr. Dittmars faced around to accept the admiration of his guides, but the landscape was all still life. To the last regarded writhin his assistant smokers were gone, never to exhibit their faces in camp again.

HOW JAP STUDENTS CHEAT

Pay for One Tuition. Only and Learn Enough at Least for Two.

While Minister Takahira was at Portsmouth, he one morning chanced to overhear a remark made by a Rockingham guest, who ventured the opinion that lazy and slothful nations disliked the earnest, progressive little Japs—disliked them because they dreaded them. Half smiling the diplomat from the Land of the Rising Sun turned, relates the New York Times, and with an apology for taking part in the conversation, said: "Excuse me, gentlemen, but I heard only the other day something which bears most closely upon what you say."

"It was in Washington, and two ladies whom I have the honor of knowing were talking. Said one: 'The Japanese should be excluded from America. No sooner do their young men come over here and matriculate in our schools and colleges but they begin a systematic course of cheating.'

"You don't say so!" exclaimed the other; 'why, how is that?'" "Quite simple," returned the first speaker. "They only pay for one tuition, and they always learn at least enough for two."

EACH MAN HIS OWN HORSE

The German Soldier Carries a Load Which Should Be Lightened.

The German Tommy Atkins is well known to be a hardy soldier, and this to a great extent is due to the severity of his training. When on the march he is loaded like a beast of burden, and the German war office is at present considering how best they may lighten this load.

They are beginning with the heavy calfskin knapsack, for which another of light waterproof canvas is to be substituted.

Of the German infantry recruit it is said that he carries his horse on his back. Besides the knapsack itself and his rifle equipment and clothing, he carries cooking utensils, parts of a tent, an overcoat, 30 cartridges, a linen suit, a quantity of underwear, two pair of boots, boot brushes and blacking, metal tools, a prayer book and a small box for knickknacks.

"Shoddy." It is old wool redressed by scientific and clean methods. It is a component of most of the woolen garments of today. The world does not grow enough wool to enable us to have a constant supply of new woolen garments, except with the aid of shoddy. It is shoddy that has enabled the workman to buy a new suit of clothes at the price of a week's wage. In the olden days an all-wool garment was so expensive that it had to last its owner many years, unless he were a wealthy man. It is better hygiene for a man to buy two new shoddy suits a year than to buy an all-wool garment which must last him two years.

Most of the clothes we wear, in fact, contain an element of shoddy, and so far from being the worse for it, are the better.—Magazine of Commerce.

Diamonds Explode.

A curious fact regarding diamonds is that it is not uncommon for the crystals to explode as soon as they are brought up from the mine. Sometimes they have burst in the pockets or the warm hands of miners, due to the effect of increased temperature. Large stones are more likely to do this than small ones. Valuable stones have been destroyed in this way. By way of safeguard, some dealers imbued large diamonds in a raw potato for safe transport from South Africa.

Trivial Things Forgotten.

Alphonso—Gwendolyn, why are you so cruel as to keep me waiting for my answer? It is now ten minutes since I asked you to be my wife.

War Tax in Japan.

Recent Japanese papers say that the heavy war tax imposed on city residential lands has caused land owners in the city of Tokio to raise ground rents and, in turn, house owners have increased house rents. This has caused much dissatisfaction among the poor.
