DOING NICELY

SERIOUS STABBING AFFRAY AT LAQUIN

Card Party Interrupted by An Italian who Uses His Stiletto—Victim Brought to the Hospital at This Place

With his body pierced in two places by the blade of a stiletto in the hands of a native of Italy, Joe Dorfner, a German laborer of Laquin, was brought to the hospital at this place shortly before noon. While the man's injuries are of a serious nature it is not thought that they will prove fatal. Dorfner was mixed up in a sort of a free for all fight which occurred at his boarding place in Laquin last night.

It appears that there was a Christmas party in progress during which the growler was rushed several times. A number of Hungarians who lived next door to the house had been invited to the party and their presence was objected to by an Italian boarder who had retired to an upstairs room but who declared that he could not sleep on account of the noise made by the Hungarians. The Italian came down stairs into the room where the party was playing cards and drinking beer. He referred to the Hungarians in uncomplimentary terms, and a fight followed. The Italian drew a stiletto and during the melee it is claimed that he struck Dorfner twice with the weapon. The first thrust entered Dorfner's body just above the heart while the second blow cut a hole just underneath the vital organ. The latter wound is considered the more dangerous as the pulmonary cavity has evidently been punctured. The Italian who did the cutting has escaped.

UNIQUE CHRISTMAS GIFT

Superintendent C. W. Kinney and his chief clerk, Harry Shelly, of the Pennsylvania division of the Lehigh, were the recipients of unique and highly prized Christmas gifts from the Galena Signal Oil company of Franklin, this state. The gifts are alike and therefore a description of one will suffice. At first glance the gift appears to be a locomotive lubricator, with its highly polished frame and surrounded by glass. A closer inspection, however, reveals the fact that the gift is a clock, unique in its mechanism and involving a decidedly new and novel idea. On the interior is an automatic cylinder, evidently made in sections. On the top section are twelve little doors, which close up like the folds of a fan. The bottom section is like the top only there are sixty doors instead of twelve. The doors in the top section are numbered from 1 to 12 and the doors in the bottom section are numbered from 1 to 59, the remaining door of the 60 bearing the word "o'clock." The clock is wound and set and ticks like any clock but instead of hands pointing the hours and the minutes the little doors indicate the time. The doors on the top of the cylinder indicate the hour while the door in the bottom section tell the minute or minutes past the hour. The timepiece is decidedly original and nothing like it has before been seen in Sayre.

OPERATOR KILLED

Alfred Tyley, a telegraph operator in the employ of the Lehigh Valley, was crushed to death Saturday morning at Catasauqua, a small station on the Lehigh division. Tyley was in a signal tower, when JBI, a symbol train, passed the tower. A break beam fell and the car attached to it side swiped, crashing into the signal station completely demolishing it. Tyley was in the station at the time and was buried under the debris, his life being instantly blotted out. Five cars in the train were smashed to pieces and thirty-three others were derailed and more or less damaged.

BOLTON BROTHERS STORE ROBBED

Thieves Effect Entrance by Means of Skeleton Key and Carry Away $150 in Merchandise

On Friday night Bolton Brothers' store on Packer avenue was broken into and robbed of $150 in merchandise consisting of raincoats, men's hats, shirts and furnishings. Entrance was effected by means of a skeleton key, which easily unlocked the front door. The robbery was reported to the local police on the following morning. A number of clues have been followed but at the present time it looks as if the guilty parties would escape justice. This is the second time that the store has been entered in the same manner and merchandise taken. Both jobs are thought to have been the work of local miscreants.

Mrs. Betsy Shumway, 80 years of age, died Sunday morning at the home of her son, Thomas Shumway, No. 308 North Elmer avenue. Death was due to heart failure following an attack of grip. She had been a resident of Sayre for a number of years and is survived by two sons and one daughter. The funeral was held from her son's home last night at 7 o'clock, the Rev. J. F. Warner, pastor of the Methodist church, officiating. The remains were shipped this morning to Laceyville for interment.

The members of class 8 of the Sunday school of the Methodist church presented Superintendent C. K. Thomas a handsome quartered oak arm chair yesterday forenoon at his home on Olive street. The chair was left at the house with letters from the class in which the members wished him a merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

GRANTED A DIVORCE

Alex. A. Stephens, the Lehigh Valley engineer, has been granted a divorce from his wife, Lyde Stephens, of Wilkes-Barre. David Kaufman of Towanda was attorney for Mr. Stephens.

INVESTIGATING THE BOILER EXPLOSION

New York State Railway Commission and Lehigh Officials Are Conducting a Searching Inquisition

In conjunction with the New York State Railway Commission the officials of the Lehigh Valley have begun an investigation of the causes which led to the boiler explosion at VanEtten on Friday night. Frank H. Baker of Owego, representing the commission, and several of the Lehigh's officials, have already taken statements of several witnesses connected with the unfortunate affair but it is altogether too early to tell what the investigation will disclose. All sorts of wild and unauthentic stories are afloat, regarding the cause of the accident, but none of them appear to have any foundation.

Until the investigation which is now in progress is completed no cause for the accident can be assigned. It may be that it can never be ascertained to a certainty just what caused the explosion of the boiler, which blew two men to death and injured three others. The officials of the company, however, are giving the Railway Commission every facility and all information possible to get at the true facts, and the public must rest content until the proceedings are given out for publication.

FOWLER WAS ABUSIVE

Leroy Fowler paid one dollar to the borough treasury and two dollars costs for the privilege of making a nuisance of himself on Packer avenue Saturday night. Fowler and a companion went into the Wilbur house barroom and asked for refreshments. Both were considerably under the influence of invigorating stimulants, and the bartender refused to give them anything to drink. Fowler began abusing the bartender, and the latter ordered him out of the house. On the street Fowler continued his abuse, interspersed with a variety of vile and obscene language, until an officer appeared and placed him under arrest. Before Justice Gay he pleaded guilty and was fined as above stated.

FERRIS MAY BE MENTALLY UNSOUND

Young Man Who Has Given the Police Considerable Trouble Again Taken in Custody

Howard Ferris, who has given the police trouble on several occasions, was taken in custody on Saturday night by Chief Walsh. Ferris was on Packer avenue in a drunken condition and the officer told him to go home. He started in that direction but a few minutes later the chief was approached by an excited son of Italy who in a mixture of Italian and English claimed that he had been assaulted by a man answering Ferris' description. Ferris was found on Lockhart street and placed under arrest. Justice Gay allowed him to go the following morning.

By many young Ferris is believed to be mentally unsound and steps will probably be taken to inquire into his sanity.

CHRISTMAS IN SAYRE

That the residents of this valley have enjoyed a merry Christmas there can be no doubt. The merchants report the busiest and most successful season in the history of the three towns. Saturday evening the business streets of Waverly, Sayre and Athens swarmed with late holiday shoppers. To the casual observer it looked as if nearly every one had delayed purchasing gifts until the last minute. The stores in Sayre where Christmas novelties and toys were on display were alive with men, women and children. An army of extra clerks were needed in the majority of the places to wait upon the long line of customers. The trolley cars were crowded until nearly 12 o'clock and upon nearly all of them standing room was at a premium.
