Concerning Garments and Furs

We do not impose inflated prices upon early buyers, so that he or she practically pays for the tardy bargain sale customer. Nor do we mother our counters at the first sign of cold weather with abnormally large stocks, but we call in fresh garments as the buying demands require. And yet we have more suits and wraps than we want, and have a cut price on every winter garment. That means you get them here at factory cost, and factory cost to this big store and its associate buyers means 10 to 15 per cent under small store prices.

You are fortunate in having such a comprehensive assortment brought to your door in this seasonable weather at out of season prices.

All Toys, Books and Games

Of which we have but a few left, go at under price of the maker. We plan for an entirely new stock next Christmas and want none left What could favor gift giving New Years any
