Amrhein & Co., western deserts go for so to 60 days in winter without drink, grazing on the green, succulent vegetation of that season. Peccaries in the desert of Sonora live in little dry hills where there is no natural water for long periods who have been visiting her son, They cannot possibly find water, in fact, for months at a time. The only moisture they can obtain comes from roots and the fruits of cacti. But the most extraordinary case is that of the pocket mouse, one of the common rodepts of the desert. This little creature, by the way, has a genuine fur lined "pocket" on the outside of its cheek. When it is hungry it takes food from this pocket with its paw, just as a man would pull a ham sandwich from his pocket. One of these mice has been kept for three years with no other food than the mixed bird seed of commerce. During this period t and not a taste of either water or green food. NONOGENARIAN NEWSMAN.

Aged Illinoisan a Familiar Figure About Railroad Depots at Joliet.

The oldest newsboy in the world is to be found at Joliet, and he is a ver familiar figure to passengers at the railroad depots, says the Chicago Chronicle. He is Orsamus Page and h was born in 1809. Although approach ing his ninety-seventh year, he is never missing from his post and is always ready to supply the public with his stock of newspapers. He maintains central New York. A reception of a leg, losing the member at the knee rings, wrist bracelets, guns, stick pins years ago. His father was noted for longevity, on Liberty street. About twenty his father dying at 89, his mother at 98, while his grandfather lived to be 102 and his grandmother 105. Orasmus commenced life as a farmer in lowa, moving there with his parents from New York state. He then engaged in railroad contracting and had charge of some of the grading for the Chicago & Alton, near Bloomington, in 1857. Mr. Page has a wife, who is 86 years of age. His papers are the sole support of the couple, but owing to his age and crippled condition he is given the preference among the newsboys that besiege the trains and he manages to earn several dollars a day. The old man expects to continue at the business as long as his strength holds out, He is anxious to round out the century and will likely do so.

> FEEDING YOUNG PELICANS. Produces Physical Shock Which Has Strange Effect on the Birds.

As the young increase in size, feeding becomes a more serious proceeding for all concerned, writes Frank M. Chapman, in Century. At the age o flight, the young birds average slightly larger and heavier than old ones, and the physical shock of feeding is so great that the parents supply only one bird at a time, and that at long intervals; while the young seem so over come by the prolonged stay in the parental pouch, as well, doubtless, as by the size of the meal they have secured there, that on emerging they are in s dazed and helpless condition.
