THREATENED TO ROB JEWELRY STORE

Tough Looking Character Apprehended Here Last Night and Held to Court on Charge of Vagrancy

A tough looking specimen of humanity, who gave his name as George Prentice, and residence Susquehanna, this state, was arrested last night by Constable Spencer Brougham on a charge of vagrancy. Prentice had been hanging about Sayre for several days, spending the greater part of his time in the vicinity of the shops, where it is alleged he begged food of the shop men, which was given him from their dinner pails. Yesterday afternoon, however, Prentice while standing in front of Ike Samuel's Lockhart street jewelry store, is alleged to have unfolded a plan to a number of men and boys whereby he intended to break in and rob the store. He said that the job would be an easy one and that he had the tools for accomplishing the same already in his possession. The men who heard the statement informed Mr. Samuels and he went at once to a local justice and entered a complaint, charging the man who had threatened to break into the store with vagrancy. A warrant was issued in the name of the notorious "John Doe" and placed in the hands of Constable Brougham. The latter apprehended the man at the Lehigh station and brought him into court where he pleaded not guilty and demanded a hearing. Witnesses testified to his having begged from door to door, and when he went on the stand in his own defense the defendant admitted not having worked for the past month and that he had since been begging his living at Sayre and in other places. He was held to the next court of quarter sessions and in default of $200 bail was taken to the county jail at Towanda this morning.

COURT'S DECISION AGAINST THE LEHIGH

Judgment Secured by Former Sheriff of Tioga County, N. Y., Has Been Affirmed

The court of appeals of the state of New York yesterday handed down a decision affirming the judgment of $2,000 secured by former sheriff Thurston of Owego against the Lehigh Valley railroad company. The case has been one of peculiar interest to residents in this section inasmuch as it will recall to mind the horrible crime of murder committed by Fred Krist at Waverly some six years ago. After Krist was convicted sheriff Thurston was assigned to the duty of taking the condemned man to Auburn. The sheriff and his prisoner went over the Lehigh Valley and the trip was completed the train on which they were riding was wrecked and Thurston was injured. Krist was not hurt. Thurston, some weeks later began an action against the Lehigh Valley for damages. The case was heard by a supreme court judge and a jury and a verdict for the amount stated above was returned for the plaintiff. The railroad company carried the case to the Appellate division of the court of appeals, which affirmed the verdict of the lower court. The defendant again appealed and this time took the case to the highest court in the state, which affirmed the judgment and costs. The original judgment secured has during these years been drawing interest and the former sheriff will receive a snug little sum in payment for his injuries.

BLACK HAND MESSAGE JARRED HIS NERVES

Practical Joker Had a Whole Lot of Fun With a Local Merchant Last Evening

"Unless you leave $500 at the east end of the Susquehanna river bridge at 12 o'clock tonight, we will do the trick."
(Signed) THE BLACK HAND.

The foregoing startling message was placed in the hands of Ike Samuels, the Lockhart St. jeweler, by a messenger boy in the early part of last evening. The message was enclosed in an official envelope such as is used by telegraph companies and was addressed to Mr. Samuels. The messenger boy hastily departed, and Mr. Samuels tore the envelope open. As he read the contents each separate hair rose on end and the complexion of his face changed from the brunette to the blonde type. An hour before he had caused a man to be sent to jail for threatening to rob his jewelry store and the receipt of the message nearly brought on cardiac failure. Visions of dark browed sons of Italy armed to the teeth with stiletos and pistols, darted through his mental tenement, and he also wondered how he stood on the books of the recording angel. When his nerves had become somewhat steady he devised a plan for action. Here was a threat against his life and property that must be thwarted at once.

CITIZENS' COLUMN. COMMUNICATED

Litchfield, January 11, 1906.
Editor Valley Record:

I accidentally picked up a Valley Record and read what you had to say about Boss Lilley. For one I am glad that there is one paper that has the grit to express its honest convictions. In common with the farmers of our locality I felt the burden of boss Lilley's management to a point almost beyond endurance. He is in for anything that puts his political heels in office and increases taxation. New offices are created and salaries increased from year to year while we farmers with good farms cannot pay expenses and are living from hand to mouth, and this horde of hungry officials are living in luxury. There is no sense in a man becoming rich out of a county office in one term. When we farmers find a noxious weed growing in the soil we pull it up and then salt the holes so that it can never take root again.

This is the method we should take with the boss. He is an oily tongued autocrat that will flop around and take a different track when he finds popular sentiment is turned against him. You will find him on both sides of the fence trying to ride two horses at once or any other old nag that will further his political ambitions. Now is a good time to end his political rule while the tide of revolt is flowing over the state. Let us do it now. We must serve a boss as we do noxious weeds; not only pull him up by the roots but salt the hole so he will never sprout again.

DISGUSTING EXHIBITION

A twenty and thirty cent repertoire show is a great attraction for the hoodlums and the gallery at the Loomis last night was liberally sprinkled with this most annoying type of humanity. During one of the waits between the acts it is said that two or three of these fellows who occupied seats in the front row of the balcony amused themselves by expectorating on persons seated in the pit. An officer on duty in the gallery saw the disgusting exhibition and attempted to put a stop to it when a series of hisses emanated from the throats of a score or more loafers who were only quieted by general condemnation by the remainder of the audience. If two or three of these warts on the face of nature were vigorously prosecuted by the officers and management of the theatre the offense would not be repeated during the remainder of the present theatrical season at least.

A VIGOROUS COMMUNICATION

The Record is in receipt of a communication from a prominent Sayre Republican in which the writer vigorously denounces the latest political chicanery of Boss Lilley. The text of the communication voices the sentiment of a large majority of Sayre Republicans but for the reason that the self-appointed boss has received considerable attention of late, together with the fact that today's space in The Record is curtailed, we are compelled to withhold the publication of the communication until some future date.

Mr. Hollon says that his reception by the family was not at all cordial, but that he transacted his business despite the fact that his former acquaintances threatened him with instant extermination.
