Provides Compensation

Employes of the Lehigh Valley Railroad company refuse to be instructed in the knowledge of air brakes unless compensated for the time employed in receiving the instruction. The employes are divided into classes and report off duty on an assigned day to receive instruction at the air car which travels all over the Lehigh Valley railroad and which remains at different places from one to several weeks or as long as is required to instruct classes. The employes say that they are not paid for the the day they take instruction, and for this reason they refuse to take Loomis tonight. the instruction. They reason that inasmuch as the instruction they receive is for the exclusive use and benefit of the company by which they are employed, that the latter should compensate them for the daughter, Mrs. M.
