PENITENT DRUNKS

BEFORE THE COURT

Worshippers at the Shrine of Bacchus Last Night Pleaded for Clemency this Morning

Waverly—In Justice Hoagland's court this morning, three tired looking drunks pleaded for clemency.

The first, a young man from Sayre who when arrested last night was inclined to be ugly and resist, this morning was very docile and said that hereafter he would be good, paid a fine of $4.

The second, who came from the wilds near Towanda yesterday to look for a job at Sayre said he met some friends and became to convivial. The last he remembers was boarding a car for Waverly. He was arrested at Hopkins oyster bay where he had bought a lunch for which he refused to pay. He was broke and sentence was suspended. The judge warned him if he came back again he would be given a job breaking stone at Owego.

The last was "Jim, the tramp," who has been absent from Waverly for some time. He had lost his hat and Chief Brooks fitted him out with one. He was allowed to go.
