COAL GREAT CAREER ENDS

Marshall Field, Multimillionaire, Dead at New York.

HEAD OF BIG CHICAGO FIRM.

Dave' Illness From Passmonia. One of the Noted Dry Goods Traders of the World.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17. - Marshall Field, the millionaire Chicago mer-chant, is dead at the Holland House after an eight days' illness of pneumonia. Death came peacefully while members of the family who had been in almost constant attendance for several days were gathered around the deathbed. They as well as the dying merchant bimself were prepared for the end, For days they had been swayed between hope and fear, but when the alarming turn came after a remarkable rally it was recognized that the end bad been only briefly deferred. Those who were present when the merchant died were Mrs. Marshall Field, Mrs Marshall Field, Jr.; Augustus N. Eddy Catherine Eddy, Mrs. Henry Dibblee, Robert C. Lincoln and Mrs. Preston

The ray of hope which flashed to the watchers when the seemingly dying man suddenly railted and for a time appeared to gain strength rapidly was first dispelled by an announcement after consultation of the physicians. Mr. Field's rest had been disturbed during the latter part of the night, and when morning came it was found that the improvement had not been maintained. From that time until the end the approach of death was steady and irresis

Mr. Field's illness developed about a week ago while he and Mrs. Pield were on their way from Chicago to this city. He was traveling on the Pennsylvania Limited, and he was taken ill early Tuesday morning just before the train reached Pittsburg. There a physician boarded the train and came on to this ity with Mr. Field.

When his condition became more seri ous Dr. Walter B. James, who had been in attendance, called in Drs. Edward G. Janeway and Austin F. Riggs of this city, and after a consultation the physicians announced that Mr. Field was suffering from pneumonia.

During Sunday night Mr. Field ap eared to be sinking rapidly, and Mon day morning the physicians announced that all hope for his recovery had been abandoned. Mr. Field himself appar ently believed that the end was at hand, and by his request all the members of his family were summoned to the bedside. Suddenly, however, there came a remarkable change. The strength which gradually had slipped way from the patient seemed suddenly to be rushing back. He looked up and smiled, asked for a drink and then sank into a peaceful, restful sleep. He was better, the physicians said-much better-and there was even hope that he might successfully pass the crisis. HARD AND SOFT WOOD Mr. Field did not rest well during the ast hours of the night. The spread of the disease had recommenced, and his condition, while critical, was not regarded as hopeless. His condition, however, centinued to become more desperate with every moment, and soon the last ray of hope had fled. Dr. Frank Billings, Mr. Field's physician, who came from Chicago, said that Mr. Field was unconscious for three hours before his death and that his temperature was 107 when he died. Mr. Field's body will be taken to Chicage this merning by special train.

No funeral services will be held here. Marshall Field was a multimillionaire merchant and a leader in the dry goods trade of the world. Mr. Field was seventy years of age.

Mr. Field was the head of the Chicabranch bouses in Paris and Manchester. Marshall Field was born in Conway, Mass., in 1835 and spent the early years of his life on a farm. He attended an academy until 1852, when he started in life for himself as a dry goods clerk in a store at Pittsfield,

In 1886 he meved to Chicago and attaised a remarkable success for the firm of Marshall Field & Co., which is attributed almost entirely to Mr. Field. He made it a rule never to borrow money and never to issue a note. He paid cash for everything he bought not only in connection with his dry goods enterprise, but for all of his dealings in real estate and in other investments.

Mr. Field was twice married, his last the public mind. He was married to Mrs. Arthur Caton Sept. 5 last at Westminster, England.

The Brackett resolution came up as special order early in the session. After the resolution was read Mihority Leader Grady explained the attitude of the Democratic senators, saying that they were in nowise responsible for sending Mr. Depew to the United States senate, and the responsibility of recalling Mr. Depew must be on the party that sent him there. The Democrats would remain passive and listen to the debate.

Senator Brackett declared in open ing the debate that he had introduced he resolution in obedience to what he believed to be "the solemn demand of the right thinking people of the state." He denied that he had the slightest wish to humiliate Senator Depew "more than was necessarily implied in any possible resolution of the kind." Senator Brackett asserted that no service performed by Senator Depew for the Equitable Life Assurance society during the twenty years of his $20,000 "retainer" had been other than what he owed as a director of the society. This was money of policy holdars, saved by toll and sweat, often stained by the tears of want-money dedicated to a sacred use. The claim that this enormous sum was paid for legal services excites only laughter

DEUEL'S DOUBLE PAY.

Testifies to Receiving Salary From Town Topics.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.-Justice Joseph M. Deuel under cross examination by James W. Osborne before Justice Fitzgeraid in the criminal branch of the supreme court here admitted that he had received a salary from Town Topics for acting as its counsel from December, 1901, until July of last year.

This fact was brought out in the trial of Norman Hapgood, editor of Collier's Weekly, on a charge of criminal libel preferred by Justice Deuel. Mr. Deuel was being questioned about the minutes of a meeting of the directors of Town Topics held on Dec. 7, 1901. At that meeting Justice Deuel moved that the salary of all officers be increased. At the same meeting he was selected as counsel at a salary of $1,800 a year. "And you admit that this record is correct?" asked Mr. Osborne. "I am obliged to admit it,"

ALGECIRAS, Spain, Jan. 17.-The with a scene of great animation. The American and English delegations arrived first at the town hall, followed by the Spanish, French, German and Italian representatives. The fact that the French and British delegations drove to the conference together was noticed and commented upon.

The conference was opened by the Duke of Almodovar, the Spanish foreign minister, who delivered the speech of welcome. Herr von Radowitz, chief of the German mission, proposed the Duke of Almodovar as president of the conference, and the other countries represented, including the United States, seconded the proposal, with the result that the duke was unanimously elected president.

During the course of his opening address the Duke of Almodovar said:

"The powers have clearly shown their desire that order, peace and prosperity shall reign throughout Mo rocco. The sultan as well as the foreign governments desire this end. which is obtainable by introducing reforms upon the triple principle of the sovereignty of the sultan, the integrity of his territory and equal commercial treatment-namely, the open door.

"Mutual respect for our reciprocal interests and a sincere desire to conciliate them must be, according to my view, our rule of conduct at this conference. Our own sentiment as well as the expectant attitude of the entire world dictates such a conciliatory solu-

The conference adjourned after de ciding to begin the next session with discussing the surveillance of contraband arms and then take up the question of financial reforms.

Ambassador White is well satisfied with the result of the meeting, as when the Duke of Almodovar emphasized the necessity for the independence of Mo rocco and the open door he was imme diately and strongly seconded by the French and German delegates.

The American delegates will endeav or to obfain such advantages for American commerce, but protection for life and property and such equality of trade rights as will effectively remove the barriers to foreign trade that have hitherto existed and make the door to the commerce of Morocco worth the opening. They will impress upon their confreres the fact that while the Washington government gives hearty indorsement to the principle of the open door its interest does not stop there. This government desires not only that the door shall be opened to the world's trade, but that it shall be utilized in a way that shall prove beneficial alike to Morooco and to the treaty powers The American delegates will favor the betterment of religious and class conditions in Morocco, all of which are regarded as important factors in the proper and effective policing of the interior and in paving the way to intercourse between Morocco and the outside world.
