oncorned for a great many years. The Manning had been struck by lightning, had been dismasted, had lost her boats and had had all her provisions rulned excepting a few canned vegetables. The captain and his nine men had been waiting for what seemed certain death for 110 hours when the casilda sighted the wreck. With their vessel stripped of her masts and sails, her bull filled and soaked with water and with the ruined bulk driven by wind and current, a mere waterlogged raft and derelict, the captain, one passenger and crew of eight men were for four days huddled apon the after deck house, barely subsisting on a little canned corn and water, clinging for their lives to the icy woodwork and exposed to the frigid seas which constantly broke over them. Finally, when the deck house was washed away the men were forced to take refuge on the spanker boom, from which some of them dropped from sheer exhaustion when the boats of the Casilda arrived alongside and from mate had leaped overboard in deliri-"I am here prepared to meet any um, but a Norwegian sailor, in spite of charges that may be made against me. the fact that he had been injured by "My hands are clean, and I have no the shifting deckload of lumber, sprang cries to the general uproar. The Claiche case had attained considerable notoriety through the disclosures it brought regarding the so called "vice squad" of the police department. Several policemen were accused by the defense of being mixed up in the murder of Gerdron, and the prosecution asserted that a policeman held Gerdron while Berthe shot him. The girl's story that Gerdron had forced her into leading a life of shame that he might live luxuriously upon her earnings and that she killed him in self defense secured ber much sympathy at first, but revelations in the courtroom destroyed most of it. Mr. Morgan pursued the inquiry, demanding of Mr. Shonts a statement as to what his course would be if the president insisted that he should take his family to the isthmus, and the witness said he could not afford to do so, for the reason that the future prospects of his children would be paired. He could not conceive of the condition arising under which the resident would command him to take his family to the isthmus.

He said again in reply to other questions that he could see no reason why Mr. Wallace should not have been given consideration in regard to famlly matters.

"Neither can I." declared Mr. Mor-Mr. Morgan and Mr. Taliaferro in-

Secretary of War Announces Veter an's Death to the Army WASHINGTON, March 7.-In testimony of respect to the memory of Lieutenant General Schofield, former secretary of war, who was buried with military bonors here today, it was ordered that the flags at all military posts be displayed at half mast.

The funeral took place from St. John's church, where the body lay in state. The interment was at Arlington

The following order was issued the army by Secretary of War Taft: "The secretary of war announce with deep regret the death of Lieutenant General John McAllister Schofield, U. S. A., retired, which occurred on the 4th inst, at St. Augustine.

"General Schofield was secretary of war in the cabinet of President Johnson from May 28, 1868, to March 11, 1809, and rendered valuable service. Before that time and subsequently for a period of over forty years his best abilities and efforts were earnestly devoted to the military service of his country. "Graduated from the United States Military academy, he entered the army as brevet second lieutenant, Second artillery, July 1, 1853, and, rising stead! ly through intermediate grades, finally reached that of lieutenant general. with which rank he was retired from active service Sept. 29, 1895. He was in command of the army from Aug. 14, 1888, to Sept. 29, 1895. During the civil war period his services were constant and distinguished. At Wilson's Creek, Fredericktown, Buzzard Roost, Resaca, Dallas, Lost Mountain, Kolb's Farm, Kennesaw Mountain, Atlanta, Franklin, Nashville, Fort Anderson, Wilmington, Kinston and Durham Station he fulfilled the hopes of his most ardent friends.

"The surviving members of the Army of the Ohio, which he so long commanded in the great civil war struggle, and in the associate armies of the Tennessee and the Cumberland will ever be mindful of his patriotic services and will mourn the loss occasioned by his death "

Berlin Government Willing to Accept Russian Proposals For Policing of Morocco and Thus End the Dispute.

PARIS, March 7 .- M. Lockroy, ferner minister of marine, took advantage of the discussion of the naval budget in the chamber of deputies to make a powerful appeal for the strengthening of the navy which aroused the euthusiasm of the whole house Comparing the French and German navies, M. Lookroy pointed out that if the present programme of France is not augmented Germany will soon outstrip France.

Should war between France and Germany break out, the orator said, it would begin with a naval battle and therefore a doubly powerful French fleet was necessary owing to the need of France to defend berself both in the North sea and in the Mediterranean.

The strengthening of national deenses, in M. Lockroy's opinion, was the best guarantee of peace, for it was necessary to prepare for war if the nation did not desire to invite invasion. The necessity to defend territory be came greater with the progress of social development.

M. Doumer, the president of the deputies, on behalf of the chamber, thanked M. Lockroy for his patriotic declaration, but regretted the insufficiency of the budget. Admitting the weakness of the navy, he strongly seconded M. Lockroy, contending that the army needed the support of a powerful
