Christmas Gift Proves Fatal.

Louisville.—A black box, containing a shroud, left in the vestibule of his home Christmas eve, caused the death of Benjamin Moellman, aged 16, and the police are looking for the perpetrators of the deed, who are believed to have attempted to play a joke on the youth. Moellman long had been a sufferer from heart disease and was near death many times. When the doorbell rang Christmas eve he answered the summons and found the box labeled, "A Merry Christmas." The gruesome reminder of his own nearness to the grave when he opened the package proved such a shock that he fell insensible to the floor before his parents could reach his side. He died three hours later.

Child Ours Off Brother's Hand.

Sterling, Ill.—While in a fit of anger Floyd Maxwell, the six-year-old son of Cleo Maxwell, residing in Portland township, Whiteside county, cut off the left hand of his four-year-old brother with a hatchet. The two children were playing with a hatchet in the kitchen. The elder boy attempted to take it from his little brother. Floyd became incensed and pulled the hatchet from the little fellow. He then raised it high in the air, and with a hard stroke brought it down on the hand of his brother.

First Stereotype.

The first man to stereotype a news paper was Charles Craaske, formerly of St. Marks avenue who died the other day in Woodbridge, N. J., at the age of 82. He did this great thing in 1852, at the suggestion of Horace Greeley, and the result, of course, was a great though gradual change in newspaper printing, for it was years before it was the general practice. Mr. Craaske had carried on the craft of stereotyping and electrotyping in New York for more than 50 years, his company being in Pearl street.

Midget's Ambition.

Countess Magri, the widow of Gen. Tom Thumb, is about to begin, at the age of 65, to study the pianoforte. She has a midget instrument made for her many years ago, and she already plays by ear. But, inspired by hearing Paderewski she has determined to become a great musician.

Small Swimmer.

Forest Gate, England, has a three-year-old swimming champion. She is the daughter of the matron of some public baths, and can swim the length of the tank, 50 feet.

Trouble in Bengal.

The Mohammedans of Bengal are organizing demonstrations in favor of the partition of the presidency, in order to annoy the Hindus, who are unanimously against it.

Marrying Best Man.

In the British Isles there have been recorded during the last hundred years seven instances of the bride marrying the best man by mistake.

ATHENS.

N. V. Weller is in Troy. Herbert Swyers is on the sick list today. Mrs. C. L. Stevens went to Laceyville this morning.

George Macafee of Nichols visited his sons in Athens today.

Mrs. E. A. Mitchell of Elmira was calling on Athens friends today.

Mrs. J. C. Rockwell of Granville is visiting at the home of Seward Talbert.

The Athens bowlers will have a game with a picked team on the Athens alley tonight.

Mrs. G. O. Englebrekt visited in Athens today. Her husband was a photographer here several years ago.

Miss Katharine Welch of Patterson, N. J., has been the guest of the Misses Burns for a short time and returned home last evening.

Mrs. G. A. Camp, who has been the guest of Mrs. J. M. Clark of Cherry street for several days, has returned to her home at Binghamton.

Frank Kellogg was before Burgess Kinney this morning on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Sentence was suspended.

The school board held their regular meeting Monday evening, only five members being present. There was only routine business transacted and the payment of bills.

Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Williams have been guests of Mrs. Williams' mother, Mrs. Laura McKeil, and returned to Laporte this morning. Mrs. McKeil is quite ill at her home on Desmond street.

THE HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING BROKEN INTO

Athens—Some miscreant broke into the high school building last night, entering a basement window. He ransacked the desks, scattering books and papers everywhere, but finding no booty. Such desperate characters have no use for books and it is difficult to imagine how he came to make a raid on the high school building.

GRAFT CASES CONTINUED

Athens—Hon. L. T. Hoyt returned from Coudersport last evening. The case of the Potter county grafters was continued until June. The former cases on which conviction was secured have appealed and will have a hearing in the supreme court at Pittsburg April 9, and the decision will have a bearing on these cases. For this reason the cases now pending will not be tried until June.

MONEY NEEDED SECURED

Athens—At the meeting of the Mining and Development Company last evening the balance of money necessary to put the well down 2,500 feet was secured and work was resumed today. They also voted to allow outsiders the privilege of visiting the spot where they are drilling and of witnessing the work. The well will be completed very soon.

Royal Reception.

London's leading fireworks firm has shipped enormous quantities of its wares to India, for display in honor of the prince and princess of Wales. When they arrive at Bombay several warships will make a pyrotechnic display, which will be in the hands of professionals from London on each ship.

Long-Lived Family.

Long life appears to be hereditary in one family in Tiflis, in the Caucasus. It consists of five members whose combined age is 390 years. The father is now 105 years old, the mother is 95, and there are three sons all more than 50.

An Ancient Office.

The oldest office under the crown is that of lord high steward, which was in existence before the time of Edward the Confessor; indeed, some authorities say that it was instituted by Offa in 787. For a long period this office was second only to the king, and the office was for some time hereditary in certain noble families.

REV. SAWTELLE

ACCEPTS CALL

Will Become Pastor of the Ulster Presbyterian Church

Athens—Rev. W. H. Sawtelle has accepted the call to the pastorate of the Ulster Presbyterian church and he will enter upon his duties about April 1. During his stay in Athens covering over a quarter of a century he has been a very prominent factor in the intellectual progress of our town, working assiduously and conscientiously for the good of the whole community. There has never been any measure of public utility or of social improvement but that has had his earnest support and help and our town has been greatly benefited through his instrumentality. The people will miss him and his good wife when they leave Athens. Last evening Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Fuller entertained about a dozen of their good friends in their honor. It was an evening of reminiscences, and throughout the hour that passed a feeling of sadness prevailed as the thought pressed itself upon them that the fond associations of the past were so soon to be severed.

SMALL SENTENCED TO HANG.

Negro Murderer of Miss Allison to Die With Accomplish March 24. MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., March 7.—George Small, the negro who was placed on trial here charged with the killing of Miss Florence W. Allison near Moorestown, has been convicted of murder in the first degree and was sentenced to be hanged on March 24, at which time Rufus Johnson will also be executed for the same crime. Johnson, who is also a negro, was convicted of the murder on Feb. 8 and sentenced to hang on Feb. 23. A few days prior to the day set for the execution Small, who had been arrested for complicity in the murder, made a confession in which he said he did the killing. On the strength of this Johnson was reprieved for a month pending the outcome of Small's trial. Counsel for Small made a strong effort against the admission of the confession alleged to have been made by the defendant, but without avail. Small took the witness stand and denied that he had anything to do with the crime and also maintained that he was not in the vicinity of the Allison home on the day the murder was committed. Small's wife collapsed as he was led past her cell on his way from the courtroom, and her condition is considered critical. She had been held as one of the principal witnesses.

AN OLD CHURCH GONE.

Before Civil War It Was a Rallying Place For Antislavery Leaders. NEW YORK, March 7.—Work of tearing down the old Broadway tabernacle, which has stood for sixty-eight years at Thirty-fourth street and Broadway, was begun. Requests have been made to Mr. Ross by churches all over New York state for the stained glass windows. He has given permission to representatives of these churches in the order of their application to take whatever material they can use. One of the first requests was received from the Methodist church of Delhi, N. Y., and two windows, 8 by 14 feet and 6 by 9 feet, will be forwarded to the Rev. Dr. Richards, pastor of that church. Under the southwest corner of the church is the cornerstone, in which is the dedication box containing coins and papers. The contractor is under a bond of $10,000 to return these safely to the congregation.

Shepard May Escape Prison.

PARIS, March 7.—M. Chaudrie, minister of justice, has signed an order of general delay on the procurer general indefinitely postponing the execution of the sentence of imprisonment against Elliot F. Shepard, grandson of the late W. H. Vanderbilt.

Kindness to Horses.

No one could blame a horse treated as many of them are, if it should suddenly plant one or both feet against the body of its tormentor, and thus have him experience pain such as he has been dealing to his faithful equine servant. I saw a young horse the other day whose mouth had been torn by jerking the bit. The owner blames this horse for not starting freely when told to go. It is afraid to go, expecting a yank one way or the other instead of a gentle pull at the line," says the Ohio Farmer. Why command a horse to go every time instead of asking it to do so? A horse is a sensitive, intelligent animal, and commands are not so pleasant as requests. Why try to make life unpleasant for any animal or person about us? Why drive up the steepest places in a field instead of going around them, even with an empty wagon? Why not let horses stop once in a while when climbing a hill, even without a load?
