MOVANHO CLUB HAS CEASED TO EXIST

It Went Out of Business Last Night and Is No More

The Movanho club is no more. The organization went out of business last night and it has ceased to exist. A meeting was held by the members and it decided to surrender the charter and quit. This decision was arrived at after the matter had been under discussion for at least three weeks. Part of the members were in favor of retaining a semblance of an organization and thereby preserve the charter and its provision but the majority said no and the club henceforth ceases to exist. Last night the money in the treasurer's hands was divided equally among the 32 members in good standing, the rooms vacated and in fact every act that was necessary to completely wipe the club out of existence was performed. The money that each person received as his share of the treasury receipts will not be enough to buy a line of ocean steamers nor will it acquire a warranty deed of a brownstone front, but one of the members this morning stated he expected to liquidate a week's board bill at least.

SWITCHMAN MET HORRIBLE FATE

Charles Smith's Body Literally Cut in Two at Wilkes-Barre Yesterday

Charles Smith, a Lehigh Valley switchman, met a horrible death at Wilkes-Barre yesterday afternoon, while following his duties in the yards at that place. He had just thrown a switch and stepped back out of the way of a string of cars. In so doing he stepped directly in front of a moving engine. The wheels of the engine passed over his hips severing both legs near the trunk. Death ensued almost instantly. The deceased had been in the employ of the Lehigh Valley for some time and was known in Sayre among the railroad men. He was a cousin to A. R. Drake, the well known Lehigh Valley engineer, and also to J. S. and A. E. Russell, both of this place. Some years ago Smith lost an arm in a railroad accident.

SCHOOL BOOKS TO BE BURNED

Those Which Have Been Through Quarantine Will Hereafter Be Incinerated, by Order of the Board of Health

Books belonging to the public schools of Sayre borough which have passed through quarantine will hereafter be burned. Heretofore when books have been taken from the school building to homes which have afterward been invaded by contagious disease, it has been customary for the health officer to fumigate the books and then they would be returned to the school building. The practice is to be discontinued and the books will be incinerated by order of the board of health. This practice is believed to have been a most successful means of spreading infection.

It is said that a big cocking main occurred at Warren Center, this county, early yesterday morning. The followers of the sport met at Owego, coming mostly from Cortland and Binghamton, and then drove in rigs to a barn near Warren Center, where the main took place. A large crowd witnessed the main, which lasted nearly all night. It is said that as high as $20 was paid for rigs at Owego and that $500 was staked on the result of the main. The Owego birds are said to have won two out of nine and the Cortland birds the next five. The officers of the law took no notice of the affair.
