COLEMAN HASSLER,

PUT ROOSEVELT OUT.

Great Oklahoma Farmer Stopped the President's Wolf Hunt.

GUTHRIE, OKLA., March 12.—A story has just leaked out here in regard to President Roosevelt's wolf hunt in Oklahoma last spring when he was accompanied by Cecil Lyon of Texas and John R. Abernathy, whom he recently appointed United States marshal of Oklahoma. The facts have been bottled up ever since the hunt, until offered by the citizens of Frederick in Abernathy's honor, when half the population of the town were telling experiences and incidents of the president's trip.

It was related that during one of their long chases after wolves Roosevelt and Abernathy were compelled to enter a farmer's cornfield in order to follow a fleeing lobo. They dismounted and were about to remount after passing through a fence when the farmer appeared on the scene.

"Here, you fellows get out of this field!" angrily exclaimed the farmer. "You have no right in here, and besides you are tramping down my corn. Get out of here or I'll have you arrested."

Not wishing to advance farther against the farmer's orders, the two wolf hunters, the president and the Oklahoma cow puncher, did as they were ordered. The lobo got away.

Troopers of the Eighth cavalry, who were nearby guarding the pasture line, confirm the truth of the story.

Kill the Jews and Hang Count Witte.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 12.—Some of the reactionary organizations are pushing the agitation against the radical elements to a dangerous point. A "league of the Russian people" held a service in the Alexandersky monastery to celebrate the manifesto of March 8 as a victory for the old regime. Later at the Horse Guard menage the fighting society of the same organization held a public meeting and listened to inflammatory speeches by Dr. Doubravina and Professor Nickolsky, two extremist leaders, in which the orators openly summoned their followers, the Black Hundred, to kill the Jews and hang Count Witte.

New Governor For Alaska.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—President Roosevelt announced that he had decided to appoint Wilfred B. Hoggatt to be governor of Alaska. Mr. Hoggatt is a resident of Juneau and will succeed John G. Brady, recently resigned.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair and colder; northwest winds.

Endless Wires.

Wire fencing is now made in continuous rolls instead of in sections as heretofore. Galvanized wires at the intersections, fed automatically from reels, are welded by means of small transformers.

WOULD TUNNEL BERING STRAIT

Great Scheme of the American-Transalaskan-Siberian Company.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 12.—A more favorable attitude is being taken here toward the dazzling scheme for a tunnel under Bering strait and an all rail route from the United States to Europe.

Baron de Lobel, representing the American-Transalaskan-Siberian company, which believes the Siberian side is as rich in gold as the Alaskan side, offers to construct the tunnel and build a road 3,000 miles in length from East cape to Kansk in the government of Yeniseisk, where it will join the Siberian railway, on condition that it be given the right of building alternate sections eight miles on either side of the line and that the mining concessions covered by it be granted the company.

Reports concerning the engineering difficulties and the financial responsibility of the promoters, etc., have been submitted and were generally favorably received by the ministers. Emperor Nicholas has created a mixed commission, before which Baron de Lobel will make a final argument March 15 and ask for eighteen months in which to complete arrangements and ten years to finish the road.

MISS ANTHONY NEAR DEATH.

Leader of American Woman Suffragists Gradually Sinking.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 12.—Miss Susan B. Anthony is very low and is not expected to survive many hours. She was taken with a sudden pain in the heart and became unconscious and has remained so most of the time since last night. Relatives have been summoned to her bedside.

More Du Gast Captured by Outlaws.

TANGIER, March 12.—Mme. Du Gast, the well known French sports-woman and automobilist, has been captured in the district of Ceuta by a band under the notorious brigand El Valiente, the victim of the outrage is the best known woman automobilist in France. She took part in the Paris-Berlin race for the international cup in 1902 and in the Paris-Madrid race the next year. In 1905 she entered in the automobile boat race in the Mediterranean and was rescued from the Camille when it was on the point of sinking.

Murder Suspect Brennan Held.

KITTANNING, Pa., March 12.—Michael Brennan, said to be wanted in connection with the murder of a lieutenant of police at Brantingham, Ala., was arrested and placed in jail here on requisition papers from the governor of Alabama.

WHO WAS IT, ANYHOW?

Athens—Some of the people up in Otsego county, N. Y., are giving Athens credit for "the woman with wax hands." A letter to Postmaster Sairs, from parties in Maryland describes her as about 50 years of age and that her hands are in such a plight that she refuses to let any one touch them. She claims that she cannot even feed herself. The following from the Cooperstown paper explains the situation: "A woman with wax hands, who is said to be one of the cleverest fakirs at liberty was at the county farm at Cooperstown one night recently. She discolored her hands with sulphuric acid to give them a withered appearance. In other places the use of paraffin gives the appearance of large sores. She was sent to the county farm from Unadilla, where she was doing a rushing business until the police found her out. At the county farm she was found to have nearly $20 in her purse."

VACCINATION LAW

UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Secretary of Athens Board of Health Tells Commissioner of Health a Few Facts Concerning This Measure

The following letter has been sent to the Commissioner of Health at Harrisburg:

Samuel G. Dixon, Commissioner of Health, Harrisburg.

Dear Sir—The papers are giving out your statement that teachers and directors will be prosecuted for permitting unvaccinated children to attend school; also that Sunday school superintendents at Pottsville have been notified that the law will be enforced in Sunday schools; people who attend church, theatres, lectures, dances and other public entertainments, and who ride in public conveyances of all kinds are as much exposed as school children. Physicians, the most exposed of any class of people are seldom if ever vaccinated.

Not many years ago an Athens groceryman called at a customer's home at a time when a visiting friend of the family was broken out with a rash, later a physician was called (both had been vaccinated in youth), the case was pronounced smallpox. Says the physician to the groceryman, "You ought to be vaccinated," the groceryman replied, "that he would take his chances with the physician." Now, ought not the doctor to have vaccinated himself?

The pus from the vesicles of cow pox is as poisonous as from any other wound. My vaccination at the age of 14 (by a regular physician), resulted in blood poisoning.

Had you presented a bill to the legislature providing that all persons attending public places or riding in public conveyances must be vaccinated, it never would have become a law. Why then impose upon the school children? Why not impose a direct penalty for refusal to have children vaccinated instead of compelling teachers to refuse admission to the public schools? One would infer from your position that vaccination is of more importance than the child's education; the facts are, that a law compelling a person to submit to a surgical operation (vaccination is a surgical operation), would be unconstitutional. You therefore attempt to place the parent in a position where he must choose between vaccination and ignorance. Vaccination does not prevent smallpox, for proof see Report of State Board of Health of Pennsylvania for 1903, vol. II, page 763, which shows that of 1,036 cases received into the Municipal hospital of Philadelphia during that year, 469 had been vaccinated previous to exposure and 69 others after exposure; also, same report, page 767, shows 192 cases had been vaccinated twice, 57 three times and 58 four times.

A prominent public man has said, the best way to get rid of a bad law is to enforce it. By all means enforce the law, it will be the most certain way of awakening the people to demand its repeal.

Yours, U. G. Frisbie,
Sec'y Board of Health,
Athens, Pa., March 10, 1935.

THE HORSE DIED

Athens—Last Thursday Charles Kitchen traded horses with Frank Potter, the latter giving $10 to boot. Potter sold the horse to James Henry, but it was found the horse was not sound and Potter took the horse back and put it in the barn. Saturday the animal died of lockjaw, and now Potter makes a claim on Kitchen for the money and the value of the horse, which Kitchen refuses to pay. Suit has been commenced and it is expected that there will be some nice questions of law to be decided by the case.
