HERE'S A CASE FOR SHERLOCK HOLMES

A Package Containing $425 is Missing from the Local Express Office and the Company's Sleuths Have Thus far Been Unable to Locate it.

Today detectives in the employ of the United States Express Co. are in Sayre investigating the strange disappearance of an envelope containing the sum of $425, which in some unknown manner was lost track of at the local office on Monday night.

Yesterday morning a rumor was circulated on the streets of Sayre to the effect that the Express company's office at this place had been robbed of a sum of money amounting to a little less than a thousand dollars.

When the officials at the office were interviewed in connection with the rumor they refused at first to have anything to say, but when pressed for information admitted that a package of money had disappeared and that an investigation would be made at once. This morning a detective arrived in Sayre and has been in consultation with the local officials nearly all day. The result of the investigation has not been made public, but it is known that a most rigid inquiry is being conducted.

The story which is being circulated in connection with the missing money is to the effect that on Monday evening when Lehigh Valley train No. 122 came in from the Waverly branch, an employee of the company, known as the "stationary safe man," was handed a package containing $425.00. He took the money to the company's office and a moment later was called to meet a train which was due on the Auburn branch. He left the office in charge of one of the employees and was gone, it is said, about five minutes. When he returned it is alleged that the envelope and the money it contained could not be found. A diligent search was made which was futile.

Whether or not today's investigation will throw any light on the affair is a matter of conjecture.

SUSAN B. ANTHONY

The long and eventful life of Susan B. Anthony closed this morning at 12:40 o'clock at her home in Rochester. The end came peacefully. Miss Anthony had been unconscious practically for more than 24 hours and her death had been momentarily expected since last night. She died of heart failure following an attack of pneumonia from which she was apparently recovering. Miss Anthony was greatly beloved and respected in her home city and in fact throughout the United States. For years she had championed the cause of women's rights, and even those who opposed her views on this subject were her warm personal friends. Miss Anthony had just passed her 86th birthday.

FUNERAL THIS AFTERNOON

The funeral of Henry S. Gregg, who died on Friday evening at Philadelphia, was held from the home of his sister, Mrs. J. H. Murrelle, of No. 207 Miller street, this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The Rev. Dr. Ross, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Waverly, conducted the services. A number of out of town friends of the deceased attended the obsequies. The remains were taken to the Tioga Point cemetery for interment.

PLAY PLEASED ALL

The Murray-Mackey repertoire company opened a week's engagement at the Loomis last night, the attraction being a melodrama, entitled "Beware of Men." The audience was a large one and the play pleased all. Several first class specialties are introduced between the acts and the entire company is a strong one. The engagement promises to be a successful one.

BLACK DIAMOND CRASHED INTO FREIGHT

Accident Occurred in Coxton Yards and One Man Was Fatally Injured

The Lehigh Black Diamond express, No. 9, westbound, crashed into a freight train last night in the Coxton yards, smashing three cars to splinters and injuring James Dampman, a flagman on the freight train so seriously that he died while being taken to the hospital at Wilkes-Barre.

The Black Diamond was drawn by engine No. 2001 in charge of Charles Lowe of Sayre, and the cause of the accident is said to have been due to a misunderstanding of the signals. The freight train was going east over the cut-off and all but three or four cars had passed over the bridge which crosses Wyoming creek. In order to take the cut-off it was necessary for the freight train to pass across the main line tracks. The engineer of the Diamond saw the danger ahead, but before he could stop the engine "side-swiped" a carload of lumber. The car rose on end and two cars following were also thrown from the tracks into a tangled mass of wreckage. It is presumed that Dampman was standing on the car of lumber as his bruised and mangled body was found underneath. None of the passengers on the Diamond were injured, but some were rudely shaken up.

He was placed on board an engine and hurried toward Wilkes-Barre but died before reaching that city.

Engines No. 2564 and 1516 in charge of Enginemens Miles Ellis and A. G. Marsh, both of Sayre, were pressed into service and the Diamond was brought into Sayre some hours late.

"UNDER SOUTHERN SKIES"

The coming of "Under Southern Skies" to the Loomis is an event that will be looked forward to by large numbers of our theatregoers. It is now in its fifth year and its popularity is constantly increasing. It has been delighting crowded houses in other cities and it is everywhere admitted to be the best play of Southern life now before the public.

The management has made every effort to have the present tour surpass all previous efforts to please the public. An entirely new outfit of scenery has been provided, new costumes will be worn and new songs and dances will enliven the Hallowe'en celebration. A very strong cast will be seen in the play. "Under Southern Skies" will be at the Loomis opera house on Saturday, March 24, and seats should be secured well in advance as this attraction will no doubt crowd the theatre.

HIGH PRICE FOR FISH

Harry Bull had just pulled in a number of licensed nets from Cayuga Lake one day last week and dumped the fish in his boat and reached shore with them, when a game and fish protector, who had been watching him, overhauled the catch and found bushels of sun fish and other small fish, besides pickerel and other game fish. It cost Mr. Bull $100 to settle.

LET 'ER GO FLYNN IN DURANCE VILE

He Is Arrested Here on Charge of Maintaining a Disorderly House in Athens.

"Let 'er Go Flynn," is in durance vile again. The experience is nothing new for "Let 'er Go" as he has probably seen the inside of a cell more times than any man of his age in this section. "Let 'er Go Flynn" is well known in Sayre, particularly to the older of the Lehigh Valley men. At one time he was considered one of the best train hands in the business, but he got mixed up with booze, and finally lost his job. For the past two years Sayre has not seen much of "Let 'er Go." He and his estimable wife went to Waverly, where they were driven out of town. Then they migrated to Binghamton. At that place the officers of the law got after Mr. and Mrs. Flynn and the pair landed in jail. "Let 'er Go" went to jail for six months and Mrs. Flynn was ordered out of town. Nothing more was heard of them until last week when they returned to Sayre.

Last night "Let 'er Go" came to Sayre, and while here he got drunk, and while he was getting in this condition Justice Johnson of Athens was issuing a warrant, charging "Let 'er Go" and his wife with conducting a house in that borough that does not meet with the approval of the neighbors. In other words the warrant says that Mr. and Mrs. Flynn keep a house where revelry and drinking and carousing of a highly disorderly character is indulged in, contrary to the Act of Assembly in such case made and provided. On the strength of this warrant "Let 'er Go" was taken in custody and this morning he was escorted to Athens by County Detective McGovern.

FORMER RECORDS ECLIPSED

From one end of Bradford county to the other arises a bitter wail over the mud, which is one of the several features of the winter that helps to make it unique. Other seasons have brought mud, which for greater or less periods of time made the roads heavy, but the present spring seems to have eclipsed all former records. Only slow progress can be made on most roads, and many farmers who have heretofore been accustomed to drive into town at this season of the year are now remaining home. The four or five inches of snow which have fallen in the past twenty-four hours will do much toward making conditions even worse than before.

MEETINGS WILL CONTINUE

The Rev. A. O. Williams of Sterling, Pa., will assist in the meetings at the Methodist church, which will be continued all this week. Mr. Williams is a very able preacher, and conducted a very interesting meeting last evening, and it is thought that the interest manifested last week will continue during this week.

HOSPITAL NOTES
