A cablegram from General Wood re garding criticisms of the recent battle of Mount Dajo, on the Island of Jolo, during which 900 natives were killed, together with correspondence between the president and Secretary Taft on the subject, has been made public. General Wood's cablegram was in an swer to one sept to him at the direction of Secretary Taft, who called attention to the criticisms of "wanton slaughter of Moroe" and asked him to send all the particulars

General Wood's reply denies that there was any wanton killing and says considerable number of women and children were killed in the fight because they were actually in the works cause they were actually in the works white, French blue, navy green and when assaulted, that Moro women red, worth 65c. special 49c. wore trousers and that children were used as shields.

The reply was sent by Secretary Taft to the president with a note in which the secretary says that General Wood's answer seems to him to show most clearly that the unfortunate loss of life was wholly unavoidable, to of the staple weaves. which the president replied that General Wood's answer "is of course en-

General Wood's report says: "In answer to the secretary of war's equest for information regarding the fight at Mount Dajo I was present throughout practically the entire action and inspected the top of the crater after the action was finished. I am onvinced no man, woman or child was wantonly killed. I do not believe that in this or in any other fight any American soldier wantonly killed a Moro woman or child or that he ever did it except unavoidably in close action. The action was most designed. perate, and it was impossible for men fighting literally for their lives in close quarters to distinguish who would be njured by fire. I assume entire responsibility for the action of the troops in every particular."

President Roosevelt's comment was: The officers and enlisted men under General Wood's command have performed a most gallant and soldierly feat in a way that confers added credit on the American army.
