MEADE AND KELLEY RELEASED TODAY

Inspector Gorman Believes the Men Guilty But Says The Evidence is Insufficient to Convict

Charles Meade and Edward Kelley, the two strangers who have been held here in the borough lockup for the past six days on suspicion of having been connected with a postoffice robbery, were released from custody this morning. Last night Inspector Gorman of Scranton, came to Sayre on the Lehigh Black Diamond and later interviewed the two men at the lockup. The inspector stated that the postoffice at Luzerne had been broken open and robbed of a quantity of postage stamps about ten days ago, but both men denied any knowledge of the affair and claimed that they had never been in Luzerne. After spending considerable time in questioning Meade and Kelley Inspector Gorman decided to set them at liberty, and they were accordingly released this morning.

The inspector before he left Sayre stated that there was no doubt as to the men having been concerned in the robbery, but unfortunately the government was not in a position to prove its case. When the men were arrested here they were endeavoring to dispose of postage stamps. One of them claimed that he had been given a dollar by his brother with which to purchase the stamps. Inspector Gorman, however, interviewed Meade's brother, and the latter says that this story was a lie and that he would not trust Meade under any circumstances. Gorman also learned that the two men answering the description of Meade and Kelley had been seen in Luzerne on the night the robbery of the postoffice is alleged to have taken place, and other circumstances connected with the case were decidedly against them, but for all that the inspector concluded that the government would have considerable difficulty in proving the case so it was decided to set the men at liberty.

Another thing which influenced the inspector to a considerable extent was the fact that the men had already spent six days and nights in the borough lockup, and after taking a glance at the cells the inspector stated that the men had been punished sufficiently anyway. When the men were released from custody this morning they immediately decamped from Sayre going in the direction of Waverly.

THE STONES FLEW

Yesterday morning when the gang of Italian laborers began digging the ditch for the telephone company's new conduit on Lockhart street dirt, and stones flew in every direction. The frost in the ground made the digging exceedingly hard, and at every stroke of the pick small pieces of frozen earth scattered in the air like sparks from a blacksmith's anvil. Two window lights in the office of Barnum & Taylor, the opticians, were broken and the occupants of the front office room were forced to take up their quarters in the rear of the building as a matter of self protection. The telephone company will, however, liquidate the damages for broken windows.

SLEIGHRIDE TO NICHOLS

A sleighride to Nichols was given last evening by a number of the Sayre high school. When they arrived at Nichols a fine oyster supper awaited them. A merry evening was spent, and at a late hour they started for home. All went well until they were struck by the blizzard. The horses left the road and tried to mount a wire fence along the road. Finally, after the wind had subsided they proceeded on their journey, and arrived home at an early hour without any more exciting events.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED ON ARTHUR GATFIELD

Pleaded Guilty but Upon Returning the Money He Stole Is Set at Liberty

Lehigh Detective Jesse Doty went to Hazleton yesterday for the purpose of returning to John Skuba the $40 stolen from him by Arthur Gatfield while the two were riding from Buffalo to Hazleton. Gatfield was arrested by Detective Doty in December last and was tried in the Ontario county (N. Y.) court one day last week. He pleaded guilty to the charge of taking Skuba's money but upon promising to return the amount sentence was suspended. One of the amusing incidents of Officer Doty's trip to Hazleton to return the money is that he called at the police station and after treating those present to cigars he requested that six be presented to the German policeman who walked with him so much to locate Skuba. Each cigar ordered by Doty represented one mile of the distance covered.

The public meeting will be held next month, at which the prizes for the historical essays will be awarded. It was decided to change the regular meeting next month to the fourth Wednesday that the reports of the delegates to the continental congress may be given then. Miss Finch gave a sketch of the Sons of Liberty, and their work before the Revolutionary War and also during the war. Mrs. Snow gave a description of the Van Rensselaer Manor House and the many interesting things she saw there. Historic items were read by several members. The business meeting closed with the singing of America, after which refreshments were served.

THREATEN TO STRIKE

It is said that the section foremen on the E. C. & N. and Auburn branches of the Lehigh are threatening to go out on a strike unless they receive an increase in their compensation. The men on these branches receive $45 per month, while on other branches of the same road it is said men are paid $50 per month for similar services. The foremen have demanded an increase by April 1.

ROADS IMPASSIBLE

The country roads in Bradford county are reported as being badly drifted and in some places it is impossible to get over the roads even with light cutters. Yesterday John W. Burt, a veterinary surgeon of Waverly, was called to visit a sick horse. He went part of the distance but was forced to turn back on account of the impassible condition of the roads.

ENGINEERS USE AUTOMOBILE GLASSES

The Latest Means Adopted by Enginemen for the Protection of the Eyes

One of the latest means adopted by many Lehigh Valley engineers for the protection of the eyes is the use of the automobile goggles. The goggles are not by any means handsome affairs but the manner in which they are constructed afford excellent protection against cinders and dust and therefore a large number of engineers have provided themselves with outfits and wear them only while on duty. As is well known the perfect condition of an engineer's eyes is one of the important factors and he must take every precaution to keep his vision clear. The automobile goggle is said by the engineers to be the best means of protection that they have yet found. This morning a local optician stated to a Record representative that he had disposed of a great many of the goggles during the past winter and that the engineers were rapidly becoming favorably impressed with their utility.
