YAQUIS ON WARPATH

Senor Pedro Meza and Party Ambushed and Shot.

SEVEN VICTIMS OF INDIAN CRUELTY

Rich Mexican Mining Contractor Made a Desperate Stand Near His Home at La Dura. In Sonora, but All Perished.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 26.—News has reached this city of the murder of five members of the family of Pedro Meza, president of La Dura, in Sonora, Mexico, and brother-in-law of Frederick Hartmann, president of the William Hoeg company of Los Angeles, and two others. All were massacred by Indians within a few miles of their home and their bodies left in the roadway between Ortiz and La Dura until a sufficient number of Mexican troops could be sent to overtake the raiding outlaws and bring in the victims. The names of those killed are: Senor Pedro Meza, president of La Dura, a rich mining contractor and one of the most prominent men in the district. Senor Elvira Meza, wife of the president. Senoritas Carmen, Elean and Pauchetta Meza, eighteen, twenty and twenty-three years of age, their daughters. Mrs. Wencelous Hoff, an old friend of Meza. Theodore Hoff, twenty-four years of age, her only son. Three members of the Meza family survive. They are the infant son of Pedro Meza and two young daughters, Mercedes and Elvira. The children had been left at home in La Dura when the rest of the family drove to Guaymas. Returning from Guaymas, the party stopped at Ortiz, and it is supposed they were joined there by Mrs. Hoff and her son. Here, it is said, they learned of the presence of a band of Yaquis in the Los Otafes mountains, near Otafes pass, through which they would have to travel to reach La Dura. The worst of the gorge was passed, and they had entered the wider valley, when from every ledge and mountain of debris came the crack of rifles. The men charged desperately up the slopes, calling upon their heads a rain of lead. To divert the fire from those they would be bound to protect. In this way they fell with their faces to the unseen foe. The last desperate stand of the survivors was made in the shelter of the overturned carriage, and they fought back, flying, but still fighting to the last, knowing that there was no mercy for them.

FIGHTING FIRE AND WAR.

Steamer Titan, With Cargo in Flames, Sinks in Gulf.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., March 26.—After being in peril from fire at sea and managing by desperate efforts to reach this port in the midst of a gale and blinding snowstorm the British freight steamer Titan struck a submerged rock in entering the harbor, had a hole torn in her hull and lies fast on the beach, where she was put to prevent sinking. The fire in the midship hold is still burning fiercely, while in the vessel's forehold the water admitted by a jagged cut in the hull has reached a depth of nine feet despite the continuous working of the steam pumps. The Titan is in no serious danger on the beach, but it is probable that before the fire abates there will be a flooded. This will make the work of floating the vessel much more difficult. It is believed that the greater portion of the cargo has either been burned or ruined by water.

NEGROES HANGED.

Two Murderers of Miss Allison Hanged at Mount Holly, N. J.

MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., March 26.—Rufus Johnson and George Small, both colored, were hanged in the jail yard here for the murder of Miss Florence W. Allison.

Overland Tourists in Pistol Melee. MANGUM, Okla., March 26.—At the home of William Rosewell, a farmer, near Kelley, Robert Vinson of Bradford, Ark., aged seventy years, was shot and killed and Rosewell was shot and mortally wounded. Robert Regan of Bradford, who, with Vinson and Vinson's daughter Katherine, was traveling overland and had stopped at the Rosewell house for the night, has been placed under arrest. Miss Vinson says that her father and Regan quarreled during the night, Vinson objecting to Regan's attention to his daughter, and that Rosewell was shot when he tried to interfere.

Wheeler Memorial at Atlanta. ATLANTA, Ga., March 26.—The memorial of General Joseph Wheeler to be held in Atlanta tomorrow promises to be a most notable gathering of veterans from the north and south to do honor to the honored leader of two wars. The event has assumed in advance a national character, and it is expected that a very large attendance from all parts of the country will be here. With one exception the surviving members of General Wheeler's family will be the honored guests of the occasion.

Courtesy After Fake Medicine. WASHINGTON, March 26.—Orders have been issued by Postmaster General Cortelyou instructing the postmasters at New York and Brooklyn to refuse to admit to mail the advertisements of fifty-two illegal "medical floors" located in those cities and also to refuse to deliver mail matter received addressed to the fictitious and assumed names under which parties conducting these concerns hide their identity.

Two Killed Near Allentown. ALLENTOWN, Pa., March 26.—John Kobser and Andrew Tully, employees of the Thomas Iron works, were struck and killed by a train on the Lehigh Valley railroad. The men were on their way to work and stepped out of the way of a train directly in front of an express.

FAMILY OF SEVEN KILLED.

Reading Express Hit Farm Wagon Near Sunbury, Pa.

SUNBURY, Pa., March 26.—Seven persons representing three generations of one family were killed here on the Philadelphia and Reading railway at Hass Crossing, one mile south of this place. The dead are: G. W. Neidig, aged sixty-three years; Clarence Neidig, aged forty-one years, and Silas Neidig, aged thirty-six, sons of the first named; Mrs. Clarence Neidig, aged thirty, and their three children—Mary, aged four years; Blanche, aged five years, and Gilbert, aged two years. All of the victims were instantly killed with the exception of Blanche, who died later at a hospital.

There was to have been a family reunion at the home of G. W. Neidig at Augustville, a small village near here, and the latter had driven to the home of his sons to convey the party to Augustville. At Hass Crossing the Pennsylvania railroad and the Philadelphia and Reading railway runs parallel a short distance apart. A curve renders one road invisible from the other, and to this fact the accident was due. The wagon containing the seven persons had crossed the Pennsylvania railroad tracks and had just reached the Reading tracks when an express train northbound from Shamokin dashed into the vehicle.

NEGROES HANGED.

Two Murderers of Miss Allison Hanged at Mount Holly, N. J.

MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., March 26.—Rufus Johnson and George Small, both colored, were hanged in the jail yard here for the murder of Miss Florence W. Allison.

Before leaving their cells to go to the gallows both men made statements. Johnson acknowledged his guilt, but Small steadfastly maintained that he was innocent. Early in the day Small became nervous and appeared to be on the verge of collapse, but as the time for the execution approached and walked to the gallows with a firm tread. Johnson was apparently unconcerned and met death unflinchingly.

The crime for which Rufus Johnson and George Small, both colored, were hanged was the murder of Miss Florence W. Allison, who was assaulted and killed in a barn near Moorestown, N. J., on Jan. 18.

The Famine in Japan. TOKYO, March 26.—The misery and suffering in the famine region has been slightly relieved by the prompt and liberal aid from foreign sources and by the abatement of the rigors of winter. Thousands are still on the verge of starvation. Many parents are parting with their children, sending them to the already crowded Okayama orphanage. The severity of the suffering undergone by the children is clearly depicted in the faces of those who are compelled to part from their homes, where the food consists of flour mixed with straw and weeds.

Smyth of the Boys High school, this city, has been designated by President Roosevelt to make the speech on behalf of the United States at the Franklin bicentenary exercises, which will be held in Paris on April 29 in the large auditorium of the Trocadero. GAINED HIS POINT.

Youthful Attorney General Made Standard Answer.

H. H. ROGERS OFF HIS HIGH HORSE

Oil Magnate, Flippancy and Evasiveness Formerly Hearing, Was Compelled to Tell of Great Monopoly's Business in Bulletin State.

NEW YORK, March 26.—Herbert S. Hadley, the youthful attorney general of Missouri, who has been prosecuting the case of that state against the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, alleging combination in restraint of commerce, declared at the conclusion of the resumed hearing here: "I have got all I came here for."

This statement followed an examination of Henry H. Rogers, chief executive officer of the universal Standard system, in which the corporation counsel had admitted that the Standard Oil company of New Jersey owned the majority of the stock of the Waters-Pierce company. It was also admitted that the Standard owned controlling interest in the Standard Oil company of Indiana and the Republic Oil company of New York, but practically this same information was given at a previous hearing in Missouri.

"This admission of stock control was what caused Mr. Hadley's relation. On this score he said:

"The admissions of counsel clear my way. I do not need the testimony of John D. Rockefeller or any other official of the Standard Oil company on the points which I have had such difficulty in clearing up."

The hearing was marked by a most decided change in the bearing and tactics of the Standard Oil witnesses and their counsel. At previous hearings Mr. Rogers was frequently flippant and constantly refused to answer questions to answer the questions asked him. In this instance the proceedings were of a most solemn character. Mr. Rogers so carefully permitted himself to smile during the hour he was on the stand, and not once did he decline to answer.

William V. Rowe, who previously sat at Mr. Rogers' elbow and advised him not to reply to Mr. Hadley's questions, sat twenty feet away from the witness and apparently took no part in the proceedings except when the Standard Oil counsel conferred on some matters. Up to the time that Mr. Rogers left the stand the testimony was taken down on a typewriter instead of in shorthand, as the Standard Oil lawyers insisted it should when they inaugurated their tactics of delay at the beginning of the hearings.

After Mr. Rogers left the stand Mr. Hadley asked if there would be any objection now to taking the testimony in the ordinary way. The Standard Oil people signified their willingness to accept the suggestion, and the typewriters were removed.

Mrs. Morgan Discovered Fire. HIGHLAND FALLS, N. Y., March 26.—Craigston, the country seat here of J. Pierpont Morgan, was threatened by fire. Mrs. Morgan, who arrived from New York to spend a few days, discovered dense smoke in the main hallway of the house and summoned the help about the place. There is a complete fire apparatus on the premises, and with this the blaze was quickly extinguished. The fire was confined to a partition wall and some flooring, and the damage is slight.

JAY GOULD WON.

Eastern Tennis Championship and Gold Hackett the Prize.

TUXEDO PARK, N. Y., March 26.—In the final round for the eastern states championship for the gold racket in court tennis at the Tuxedo Tennis and Racket club Jay Gould of Georgetown, Lakewood, easily defeated Pierre Lorillard, Jr., of the Tuxedo Tennis and Racket club in three straight sets, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1.

Gould seemed to be in fine form and easily outclassed Lorillard, although some excellent plays were witnessed on both sides. A large gallery of well known society people who were spending Sunday at the Tuxedo club followed the match. By winning the match Gould gets a leg on the $500 gold racket presented by T. Sufferin Tailor of the Tuxedo Tennis club. Gould also is looked upon as a probable winner of the national championship.

In addition to the final match for the gold racket, some very interesting tennis was witnessed in doubles. T. Sufferin Tailor, with C. Ledyard as partner, defeated George J. Gould and Benjamin Nicolli in two straight sets, 6-4, 6-8.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., March 26.—An appeal to the supreme court of Vermont is to be taken in behalf of Almon White, a Richford druggist, who was found guilty of the illegal sale of liquor in connection with the so called wood alcohol poisoning cases. Two other members of the White family, who acted as clerks in the drug store, are under indictment for manslaughter because of the allegation that from the sale of liquor containing wood alcohol three deaths resulted. They will be tried later.

Almon White was sentenced to pay a fine of $2,000 and costs of prosecution, with an alternative penalty of three days' imprisonment for each dollar of the fine and costs. If the alternative should be enforced it would mean imprisonment for nearly seventeen years.

Mormon Pastor Killed by Bolt.

CARSON, Ia., March 26.—While delivering a sermon to his congregation yesterday Rev. J. B. Lantz, pastor of the Latter Day Saints church, was struck by lightning, which caused his death within an hour. The bolt descended during a hard thunderstorm and was communicated to the preacher by a chandelier hanging directly above his head. The shock threw him to the floor in an unconscious state, while many persons in the audience were stunned. The church took fire, but the flames were soon extinguished.

A Trunk Horror at Stockton, Cal.

STOCKTON, Cal., March 26.—A baggage man at the Southern Pacific station discovered the body of a man about thirty-eight years old jammed into a large trunk. Officers assert that the man was placed in the trunk while yet alive. Clothing found in the trunk indicates that he was either an engineer or a miner. A small book containing an account between J. C. Leslie and M. Farre was found in a pocket. The names Mitar Myovich and Michail Myovich were found in the back of the book.

GOVERNOR IS MISSING

Fight at Magtoon Between Constables and Pulajanes.

FEAR CURRY HAS BEEN TRAPPED.

Fanatical Natives on Island of Samar, on Sampage, Wound Five Men. Officials Went to Receive Their Surrender.

MANILA, March 26.—A telegram received by the government from the island of Samar says that an engagement has occurred between the constabulary and a force of fanatical Pulajanes. Governor George Curry is missing.

The fight was at Magtoon, in the center of Samar, and two constabulary officers and several privates were wounded. The loss of the Pulajanes is unknown.

Governor Curry, Judge Lobinger and Superintendent of Schools Hoover proceeded to a town, expecting to receive in surrender a large band of Pulajanes. It is now suspected that the offer by the Pulajanes to surrender was a treacherous ruse.

Re-enforcements of constabulary have been ordered to proceed to the district, and Provincial Treasurer Whittier of Samar has recommended that federal troops be held in readiness.

George Curry, the governor of the island of Samar, whose former home was in New Mexico, was a member of the rough riders, reaching the rank of captain. He also was an officer of the volunteer troops sent to the Philippines and became Manila's first chief of police under American rule.

Early last year he was appointed governor of the province of Samar, succeeding Governor Felto, who resigned, and was given extraordinary powers for the purpose of bringing peace to the troubled district.

BOYS PLEDGED TO KILL.

Three Young Negroes Held For Burglary and Attempted Murder.

CLEVELAND, O., March 26.—Three negro boys giving their names as Harry Freeman, Joseph Morris and John Henderson were arrested by the police here on the charge of committing three burglaries and with stabbing a man so badly that he is dying at a hospital.

The boys broke into two hardware stores and a meat market, and while coming out of the latter they saw Benjamin Levensberg, an old man, who was on his way home from work, passing. One of the boys without a word plunged a stiletto in the man's abdomen, inflicting a terrible wound which the physicians say will prove fatal.

The police say that after being arrested the boys confessed that they had started out on their raid pledged to kill anybody that interfered with their work. They said they thought Levensberg had seen them in the act of burglarizing the meat market and that he would tell the police.

The boys were caught by the police in the act of robbing the second hardware store. They opened fire on the officers when discovered, but their shots went wild. The police say cheap literature is responsible for their crimes.
