Displays Surprising Timidity, Yet Sometimes Exceeds White Pupils.

A teacher in the Indian schools says that the difference between red children and white are many, but that the similarities are more. "The most striking difference," he says, "was the excessive timidity of the Indian children."

Ideas Borrowed from America Are Being Put Into New Operations.

The mikado has borrowed his ideas of railroading from his two greatest friends—John Bull and Uncle Sam. Japanese railroad engineers have received their education in England or America, and many within the last year have visited this country's shops and plants to renew acquaintances...

Cause of Rejoicing.

The financier had at last consented to place his head in the hands of a phenologist. "This bump," the latter began, "assures us, sir, that you will never die in prison."

The Liquid Kind.

She—What a funny old fashion that was for people to wear night caps, wasn't it? He—It isn't out of date yet. "Night-caps" are still the fashion with some men I know.—Detroit Free Press.

Precisely. I say I didn't ever hear an Oyster Bay? Tommy Rot—Yes, it's a sort of a Long Island Sound.—N. Y. Times.

Gotham Expressions.

New Yorkers have recently become so dependent on the auxiliary adverb as if they had been accustomed to it always, and had not just begun to borrow it from the talk of London. The average dweller in Manhattan was formerly apt to dwell to say that a place was full. Now he can not express his meaning without adding the adverb and describing it as "full up."

In Their Own Tongue.

RECALL WITHOUT PRECEDENT.

Roosevelt's Order Rescinding Ambassador Storer's Visa.

VIENNA, March 25.—Emperor Francis Joseph has officially approved the appointment of Charles Spencer Francis of Troy, N. Y., to be ambassador of the United States to Austria-Hungary. The foreign office has received a dispatch from Secretary of State Root regarding Ambassador Storer as follows: "I have the honor to advise your excellency that the president has been pleased to terminate at once and without any such delay as would be incidental to the transmission of a letter of recall by mail the authority of his ambassador, Mr. Storer, to represent him. The president has accordingly recalled Mr. Storer, whose representative functions have already ceased."

"This action will be supplemented by a formal letter of recall, which has been signed and will be presented to you in accordance with the former custom in such matters. Secretary Rives of the Vienna embassy has been named as chargé. I request your excellency to receive him and treat him in that capacity."

Foreign office circles are not quite sure how to meet the request of President Roosevelt. The officials stick to the opinion that there is no precedent for recalling Mr. Storer as an ambassador as long as he stays in Vienna without having presented a letter of recall.

The key to the embarrassing situation is now in Mr. Storer's hands. He will reach Trieste tonight and proceed at once to Vienna. A letter of recall can only be presented, according to an ambassador to the emperor and not to the foreign minister, and by no means by a chargé. It is declared that the simplest way of settling the somewhat difficult situation is for Mr. Storer not to stay in Vienna, while the letter of recall may later be presented by his successor, Mr. Francis.

May Cut Adrift From America. LONDON, March 25.—The resignation of D. C. Haldean, British manager of the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York, and the Earl of Onslow's question in the house of lords as to whether in view of the disclosures made regarding certain American insurance companies the government would compel foreign companies doing business in this country to keep in Great Britain a sufficient portion of their securities to cover the claims of British policy holders have revived interest here in the affairs of American insurance companies. One suggestion is that British policy holders organize themselves into a new company and cut adrift from America.

Nixon Memorial Services. ALBANY, N. Y., March 25.—The assembly of the state of New York, by the senate, the governor and other state officers and representatives of the court of appeals and other courts in the presence of an audience completely filling the great assembly chamber and representing all parts of the state, last night formally honored the memory of Samuel Frederick Nixon of Westfield, who for fifteen years represented in the legislature the Second assembly district of Chautauque county and for seven consecutive years, according to all previous speakership records, served as speaker of the assembly.
