ITALIANS SOLD DOCTORED BUTTER

Pure Food Agent Causes Arrest of Camilo Moto and Joe Ocic, Charging Them With Violating Pure Food Law

Camilo Moto and Joe Ocic, Italian storekeepers who conduct places of business on Thomas avenue, Sayre, have fallen into the meshes of the pure food law. The men were arrested last night and taken before Justice H. F. Johnson of Athens, charged with selling a product known as "renovated" butter. The men were arrested on complaint of Robert S. Simmers pure food agent, who has been in this locality several days obtaining evidence against violators of the food law, being particularly interested in those who have been selling oleomargarine without a license. In Moto and Ocic's store the agent found packages of stuff that was being sold for butter, but when examined it proved to be of the renovated kind. Butter which has become rancid and unfit for table use is treated to a process which is said to restore its flavor so that none but an expert can tell the difference. The chemicals used for this purpose, however, are exceedingly harmful to the human stomach and its persistent use will cause chronic dyspepsia.

The Italians were arrested by County Detective A. C. McGovern and arraigned before Justice Johnson last night. Mrs. Ruggles of Athens qualified as bondsman and the men were released pending a hearing which will be held this afternoon.

TALMADGE--SPENCER

One of the most charming of the early spring brides was Miss Amelia Spencer, of Watervliet, who was married on Wednesday evening, April 4, to Mr. Harry Talmadge, of Sayre, Pa.

The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's parents on the Shaker road. The bride wore an imported lace robe over taffeta and carried sweet peas and white orchids. Instead of the conventional veil she wore a chaplet of natural orange blossoms. The maid of honor, Miss Ethel Patten, a niece of the bride, wore green chiffon and carried lilies of the valley. The ushers were Messrs Clifford Evory, Porter Spencer, and J. Willard Holler, all of Albany. The house was beautifully decorated with white lilies and ropes of laurel. The drawing room, where the ceremony was performed by Rev. J. J. Lawrence, of the Sate Street Presbyterian church, had an arch of palms and Easter lilies, with an aisle formed of small pine trees and white satin ribbon.

A stringed orchestra played Lohegrin's Wedding March and "O Promise Me."

After a southern trip Mr. and Mrs. Talmadge will reside at Sayre.

Among the wedding guests from Albany were Mr. and Mrs. John S. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. William Nicholl, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Evory, Mr. Porter Spencer, Mr. Clifford Evory, Mr. J. Willard Holler and Miss Bertha Jones. No cards.—Albany Argus.

CHURCH OF THE REDEEMER

Since the parish of the Church of the Redeemer was founded in Sayre, this is the first Holy Week and Good Friday that no services have been held in the church, but there will be the Easter services conducted by the Rev. E. K. Tullidge of Philadelphia. The church will be open all day Saturday so that all who have flowers or potted plants to beautify the altar and chancel can bring them.

FIRE BURNED HEDGE FENCE

Flames Originated From a Bonfire and Called Out a Large Crowd-- Damage Trifling

A bonfire which is said to have been started by children caused an alarm to be rung in at 11:30 this morning which called the department to the property which adjoins the hospital on the south and is occupied by R. T. James, shop superintendent for the Lehigh. The bonfire set fire to the grass in the dooryard and the flames quickly communicated with a hedge fence which runs at right angles from Wilbur avenue and forms the south boundary of the hospital lot. The hedge burned rapidly and despite the fact that the department arrived promptly 100 feet of the shrubbery was destroyed. The loss will be trifling. On account of today being a holiday nearly 500 people went to the scene of the fire, being attracted by the large cloud of smoke which arose heavenward and gave the impression that a disastrous conflagration was in progress.

ZINC ORE FOUND NEAR TIoga CENTER

Residents of That Place Somewhat Excited from the Fact That Ore Shows 75 Per Cent Zinc

Dr. Post, junior internae at the Packer hospital, whose home is at Tioga Center, is exhibiting several specimens of ore which were taken from the Pembleton and Lattimore farms near that place. Recently workmen have been drilling artesian wells on these farms, and the other day ore was struck which looked as if it might contain metal of a valuable nature. The ore was taken to an expert and it was found to contain 75 per cent zinc. The people living in the surrounding country are considerably exercised over the discovery and already are being afflicted with visions of zinc mines and the fortunes that are made from them.

CHANGING SIGNALS

The Lehigh Valley railroad is preparing to make changes in its signal boards and switch connections at Pittston Junction and work on the same will be started by a special force within a few days. The most important change will be the removing of one of the Hall signal boards from its present location 100 feet or more down the track. This change was advised by the coroner's jury that inquired into the death of the late Harry Dampman. Dampman was killed while standing on a freight car which was crashed into by the Black Diamond. As the signal is to be placed it will not be on a curve and will be plainly visible to the engineer without any special effort on his part. Several new levers are also to be added to "Ox" tower, which will give better switching facilities.

WILL "WORK OUT" HERE

Dell Higgins is authority for the statement that the Kane base ball team will come to Sayre this spring to "work out." ## BACHELOR SUPPER TO HIS FRIENDS

C. J. Symington to Entertain Those Who Have Been Associated with Him During His Stay in Sayre

C. J. Symington, who has been in Sayre for the past three years as an associate of W. T. Goodnow in the management of various companies, will give a bachelor supper at the Wilbur house on Saturday evening, in appreciation of the many courtesies which he has received during his stay in Sayre. Mr. Symington will leave Sayre on the 21st of the present month and go to Baltimore, where he will become connected with the sales department of the T. H. Symington Co., manufacturers of railway supplies. He will make his headquarters at Baltimore and have charge of the company's eastern territory as traveling representative.

During his stay in Sayre Mr. Symington has made many friends among whom his determination to leave Sayre will be sincerely regretted.

LEHIGH CLERKS MAY BE TRANSFERRED

Company Officials Favor Concentration of Clerical Force at Philadelphia

The Lehigh Valley proposes to make another important change, having under consideration the concentration of all its accountants at one point, viz: Philadelphia. If this comes to pass, and there are strong indications that it will, it may mean the removal of a number of accountants from this place, and also a number from each of the other divisions of the road. Superintendent Gildroy of Hazleton is making a vigorous effort to retain the services of his accountants. The higher officials, however, are impressed with the idea that the work of the accountants would be considerably facilitated by their concentration in one general office, and are strongly in favor of putting the plan into execution.

SIMPLY A JOKE

Yesterday a local paper copied an item from a county paper to the effect that Senator R. S. Edmiston of Milan had been fined ten dollars in Sayre for spitting on the floor of a street car. The item stated that an officer saw the senator expectorate on the floor of the car and immediately caused him to appear before a magistrate where he was fined the amount above stated. There never was the first foundation for the story except in the fertile brain of a practical joker who is a colleague of the senator in the state legislature. It was published in the Philadelphia papers in the form of a joke, written in such a manner as to cause the reader to recognize it as such. Certain papers up in this section, however, have printed it as news, despite the fact that there is no police record of the occurrence. Senator Edmiston was communicated with this morning by telephone and asked to say whether there was any truth in the story. He denied it most strenuously and said that the publication of it by the paper mentioned was one of those great stunts for which it has become noted.

TAKEN TO CLINTON, N. J.

The body of Mrs. Samantha Shipman whose sudden death occurred at the home of her son, E. H. Shipman, on Tuesday evening last, was taken to Clinton, N. J., this morning, where the interment will take place. Mrs. Shipman spent many years of her long life in Clinton, hence her remains were taken there for burial.
