PRaises Eagles' DEGREE TEAM

State Deputy Grand President Writes in a Most Complimentary Manner of Local Organization

Writing to the "Keystone Eagle," published in the interests of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, Jesse Hedrick, state deputy grand president, has the following to say concerning the degree team of the Sayre Aerie, which will be read with interest:

"On Wednesday evening, April 4, in Towanda, Bradford county, a new aerie was instituted, with a charter membership of 113 At the institution of this new aerie I was assisted by one of the most expert degree teams that I ever had the pleasure to witness performing the initiation ceremonies. This team compares favorably with any of the prize teams I have witnessed doing the work in the past four years. With a little more practice I am satisfied this team would have no trouble whatever in landing one of the prizes which is annually given by the Grand Aerie for the best drilled teams.

"The initiation they put on was the very best I have ever had the pleasure to witness. They had several stunts which were new to me, although, as you all know, I am an old campaigner."

In connection with the foregoing it will be of interest to know that the officers and degree team of the Sayre aerie have been invited to do the initiatory work at Wellsboro on May 30, at which time a new aerie will be instituted in that place.

HONIS WANTED HIS FRIEND'S PAY

And when the Lehigh Officials Refused to Give it to Him He Gets Obstreperous

Joe Honis, a Hungarian, who occasionally gets obstreperous and furnishes work for the police department, was arrested by Officer Bob DeGroff at the Lehigh Valley station last night, and later charged before Justice C. S. Gay with being drunk and disorderly. Honis was at the station with an Italian, and the latter wanted his pay that was due from the Lehigh Valley for manual labor performed. The Lehigh official told the foreigner that his pay for some unknown reason had not arrived at the local office, but that the matter would be looked into without delay. This statement seemed to satisfy the laborer, but Honis was not appeased. He demanded that the company settle with his friend immediately, and he became so demonstrative in trying to enforce his demands that Officer DeGroff interfered and took Honis to the lockup. He paid the usual fine and costs and was liberated.

WELL-KNOWN LEHIGH CONDUCTOR DEAD

William Corcoran Expired at His Home in Auburn Sunday Morning

William Corcoran, one of the oldest and best known Lehigh Valley conductors, who has been regularly employed on the Auburn division of the road, died at his home in Auburn Sunday morning after an illness of some weeks' duration. A few weeks ago an abscess appeared upon the back of the neck of the deceased, and despite careful medical attention blood poisoning developed and resulted in death.

The deceased was well known in Sayre and to nearly every man on the Lehigh. When in Sayre, which was every other day, he stopped at the Wilbur house, where he made many friends and acquaintances. He was well liked by his associates and he will be greatly missed by all who knew him. His funeral occurs in Auburn tomorrow.

GAVE FINE PERFORMANCE

The Cook-Church Stock Company, an organization new to patrons of the play in this section, opened a week's engagement at the Loomis last night, presenting an eastern comedy drama entitled "A Game of Hearts." The management of the company is featuring Miss Ruby Erwood, an exceedingly clever little woman, who instantly won favor with the audience and received unstinted applause. She is supported by a capable acting company and last night's bill gave excellent satisfaction to the large audience. The engagement of the company should be successful as a fine line of plays are to be presented, with appropriate stage settings and costumes. This evening "An Heiress to Millions" is the attraction, and it will no doubt be greeted by a crowded house. Matinees will be given on Thursday and Saturday afternoons.

WILL MEET IN SAYRE

John R. Farr of Scranton, the general secretary of the Press League, is expected to be present and will address the association upon the libel laws.

GROWING IN POPULARITY

A Grand Free Distribution of $4,325.00 in Prizes in the D. S. Andrus & Co. Word-Building Contest

The telephone and Uncle Sam's mail carriers were kept busy yesterday with inquiries about the D. S. Andrus & Co. "word building contest." Explicit though the rules and regulations were thought to be, many queries came about one thing or another. First, one person wanted to know if typewritten lists would be accepted. The answer can now be made that they will, and that gladly. Then some one wanted to know who would be the judges, and rightly, too. D. S. Andrus & Co. can answer that, too. Mrs. George Archibald Palmer, an authoress and widely known literary woman, also having an experience in active newspaper work, has consented to be "presiding jurist of the D. S. Andrus & Co. "word-building contest." These combined make Mrs. Palmer eminently fitted for the work in hand. Then there have been callers at the store to see the grand prizes, which are a $450 D. S. Andrus & Co. cabinet grand upright piano for the prize of the largest correct list of words from the firm name of "D. S. Andrus and Company," and also to see the second prize, which is a $350 Doylemarx concert grand upright piano, for the second largest correct list of words compiled. In fact, lists have already begun to arrive so early in the contest. The interest is intense. This grand free distribution of $4,325 in prizes is to introduce the D. S. Andrus & Co. and Doylemarx pianos, products of their piano factory. Facts about the word-building contest and all particulars and inquiries will be answered from the Elmira store of D. S. Andrus & Co., at 114 Baldwin street. Be sure if you are a contestant to comply rigidly with the rules published in the circulars and the press of the vicinity. These prizes will actually be distributed, for the reputation of D. S. Andrus & Co., for reliability, honesty, business integrity and square dealing must be maintained, and readers of The Record are assured that it will be at all times and under all circumstances.

BALL WELL ATTENDED

The dance given in the Movansho club rooms last night by the O. R. C. and the B. of R. R. T. was without doubt the largest that has been held in Sayre in a long time. Upwards of 150 couples were in attendance and the whole evening was most delightfully spent. The committee of arrangements had looked after the smallest detail with care and nothing was omitted that would add to the pleasure of the evening. The ladies' auxiliaries of the two organizations furnished a fine supper in Trainmen's hall at 12 o'clock, after which dancing continued until 2 o'clock.

FUNERAL THIS AFTERNOON

The funeral of Coe M. Brink, whose sudden death occurred on Saturday morning, was held from his late home, 312 South Lehigh avenue, this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Rev. George A. Briggs, pastor of the Baptist church of Waverly, officiated, and the railroad men attended in a body. The remains were taken to the Forest Home cemetery at Waverly, for interment.
