

MORE STYLE

More style, that's the cry from one end of the country to the other. The more you know about style, the easier it will be to satisfy you that we are in closest touch with up-to-date clothing. When it comes to materials and making, the better you are posted, the more easier it will be to convince you that we can serve you well. But that isn't all—cost of selling is not so great where you have no rents to pay. Our stores are stocked with the best clothing money can buy and labor produce. Come in, we'll do our part to show you the style.

PERSONAL MENTION

E. E. Reynolds went to New York this morning on business.

Miss Cora Westbrook expects to spend next week visiting in Ithaca and Geneva.

Messrs. Charles and Walter Adams went to Horseheads today to attend the funeral of a cousin.

Miss Mary Strachm of Susquehanna, Pa., past grand master of the Eastern Star of Pennsylvania, accompanied by Mrs. Michael, grand associate conductress of the State of Pennsylvania, is in Sayre today for the purpose of organizing a chapter of the Eastern Star.

Several Witnesses Were Sworn at Hearing Which Began Yesterday

The hearing in the case of John York charged with stealing three valuable roosters from Mrs. May Pritchard came up yesterday afternoon and after hearing part of the evidence the case was further adjourned until May 15, York being released on bail. The evidence thus far shows that Mrs. Pritchard lost three chickens, and she claims that when she confronted York with the charge of having taken them that he confessed. Her statement in this respect is corroborated by Chief of Police Walsh, who testified that York admitted to him that he stole the chickens and that he wanted to settle, providing he was given the opportunity. York produced several witnesses who testified that between eight and nine o'clock on the evening the chickens were stolen, he and his wife were visiting at a neighbors.

York has a police record. Some time ago he was arrested on a charge of having broken into one of the cottages situated along the banks of the Susquehanna river. When arraigned for a hearing he gave bail for future appearance, but when the time arrived he was conspicuous by his absence.

TIOGA CHAPTER D. A. R.

Tioga Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution, met yesterday afternoon with the Regent, Mrs. C. S. Maurice. Thirty-one members responded to the roll call.

After the routine business was transacted the report was given of the Continental Congress held in Washington last week which Mrs. Maurice and Mrs. Bishop attended.

Mrs. Bishop gave a very interesting report of the enthusiastic meetings and receptions. There were 1129 delegates present. The report was as clear and comprehensive that the members almost felt that they had attended the meeting.

Mrs. Maurice attended the ceremonies over John Paul Jones' body at Annapolis and she gave an interesting account of that.

Final arrangements were made for the prize contest in the Sayre High School hall tonight, which all the resident members of the chapter expect to attend. After the meeting refreshments were served.

THE BALL GAME

As the Record goes to press a crowd numbering hundreds is gathered at the Riverside ball diamond to witness a game between the lawyers and doctors and the dentists and druggists, the proceeds of which are to go to the San Francisco relief fund. Up to the hour of going to press there had been no casualties, but a report received late from the field of battle states that the lawyers are preparing briefs and will appear in the event of being defeated.

MEET HERE TOMORROW

The Northeastern Pennsylvania Press Association will hold the regular spring meeting in Sayre tomorrow. After the arrival of No. 157 from the south the delegates will be shown about the new shops and other points of interest in the banner town of the valley. The business meeting will be held at the Wilbur House after dinner.

SLIGHT WRECK

A slight wreck on the E. & C. branch of the Lehigh yesterday made it necessary to call out the wrecking crew. Three freight cars were derailed and the contents of one of them, a quantity of coiled wire was spilled over the tracks. The wreck was cleared away in a short time and there was no delay in traffic.

MRS. ALMEDA EMMA HAMMOND

Expired at the Hospital This Morning at 9:35 O'Clock

Mrs. Almeda Emma Hammond, wife of Ellery L. Hammond of No. 211 South Elmer avenue, died at the R. A. Packer hospital this morning at 9:35 o'clock, following the removal of a tumor. Mrs. Hammond, who for the past two weeks has been confined to her bed, was taken to the hospital yesterday afternoon, her friends having been advised that an operation was the only chance of saving her life. Shortly after the operation was finished her heart collapsed and she expired.

The deceased had been a resident of Sayre for nearly four years, having come to this place with her husband and family from Owego. She was 48 years old and was a woman of excellent character, whose kind disposition and womanly qualities will be very greatly missed by those who were acquainted with her. She is survived by her husband, one son, Earl, and one daughter, Mrs. Frank Ward, all of whom reside in this place. The funeral arrangements are in charge of Grumme's undertaking establishment and will be announced later.

LATIMORE SENT TO PENITENTIARY

Former Shop Employee Completely Ruined by the Drink Demon

George Latimore was sentenced by the recorder of Ithaca to six months in the Monroe county penitentiary on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Latimore had been before the recorder six times within the past year.

Ordinarily the foregoing paragraph would not mean much to the citizens of Sayre, but in this instance the unfortunate individual who will spend the next six months in the penitentiary is well known in this place, he having given the local police department considerable trouble on several occasions. Latimore at one time worked in the Lehigh shops here, and when he first came to Sayre was a sober and respected citizen. The drink demon got the better of him, and several spree that he had ended in delirium tremens. After he had recovered he was induced to return to his home at Ithaca. This was several months ago and nothing has been heard from him until now.

LOCAL MENTION

"St Stebbins" at the Loomis this evening.

For fine values in millinery go to Miss Kaufman's, Athens. 299 2

E. B. McKee, business manager of the Towanda Daily Review and Reporter—Journal of Towanda, was a Sayre visitor this morning.

A concert will be given in the Baptist church May 16, by the same trio that appeared in the Presbyterian church some time ago under the direction of Evelyn Rathbun. Particulars will be given later.

Harvey Gray will give the second of his second series of dances in Eighmey's hall on tomorrow evening. The Loomis opera house orchestra will furnish the music. Dancing will commence at nine o'clock and continue until twelve. A good time is promised all.

WILL PLAY BALL

The Kane ball team and a bunch of local players will meet on the Riverside diamond tomorrow afternoon. The contest is expected to be a red-hot one, as the local tossers are in pretty fair condition and expect to give the visitors something to do every minute.

CITIZENS' COLUMN.

Editor Valley Record:

It has come to my notice that much criticism has been caused among labor organizations through an extract printed in one of the local papers, from my talk at the recent business men's banquet. Unfortunately the extract referred to was made to read exactly the opposite of what I either said or intended. I would be the last man to disparage in the least degree workingmen's organizations. In order that the matter may be set right and false impressions corrected I would be glad to have you print verbatim the portion of my talk referring to industrial organization, which, I think, is ample evidence that it was highly complimentary in every sense to workingmen and their organizations.

Yours truly,
Chas. C. West.

In our study of the subject, we will notice particularly the industrial side of the question, as it affects our local interests more closely than any other phase.

Organization and concentration of common interests have for the past few years been growing apace. The various trades, mercantile and other interests, find that by working together for one common end they can attain their object much better than when working single handed. This is but the natural result of a natural law which we must recognize.

Labor must organize in order to secure the best wages and capital must organize in order to secure the best return for the wages paid.

There was a time it was hoped, and by many believed, that organizations on either side, especially of those engaged in the higher trades, would not be needed and could never gain headway enough to be a seriously disturbing factor. The leaders of thought on both sides seemed to hold the opinion that the high order of intelligence required for the business world would enable the men engaged in it without serious difficulty and without resorting to force. Time has shown that view was entirely too optimistic. Organizations have been formed and bitter contests waged, but nevertheless the brains possessed by working men as well as employers have been in evidence all along.

To our mind, the great problem of the future in the organization of capital and labor can be solved in the coupling of responsibilities with power.

All signs point to the will of the people, that power whether in the hands of grasping corporations or in large groups of men shall be coupled with responsibilities. Common justice demands that the parties of both parts be held liable to damages and be made to obey the law without discrimination.

The unscrupulous employer is just as much a menace to the country as the professional labor agitator. The real value of organized effort will be brought out by promoting the education of the constituent member; an organization which will teach its members to become better citizens, to become more valuable to their employers, to become better educated for the work in which they are engaged is a positive blessing to its members and to the country at large.

To our mind the greatest evil resulting from clashes of organized labor and capital is not the financial loss, but rather the great increase of class feeling and bitterness. Here lies the great danger to our country and our democratic institutions and for this reason, if for no other, these difficulties should be deprecated to the last.

With all the difficulties that loom up in the labor problem, there is nothing to fear from the member who from his youth is looking forward to his own home, his savings account, the education of his children, as useful citizens and his peaceful retirement when old age comes on.

This man, the backbone of the nation, has had no difficulty to realize his ambition heretofore and will not have in the future, as organizations of capital will give him added chances for better work and by reducing the severity of hard times, keep him in steady employment. Men of this stamp are still the vast majority. Let us help them to help themselves by education and the future need give us no concern.

FUNERAL THIS MORNING

The funeral of Charles Lambert, whose death occurred on Tuesday morning, was held this morning at nine o'clock from the Church of the Epiphany, the Rev. J. L. Shanley officiating. The obsequies were attended by a large number of friends and relatives of the deceased. The arrangements were in charge of J. W. Grumme's undertaking establishment and the remains were taken to the Catholic cemetery for interment.
