At the close of the Te Deum the clergy retired, chanting, toward the palace chapel, and the empresses moved up the hall and ascended the dais on the right of the throne, while the grand dukes moved forward and occupied the three lower steps on the same side. The metropolitan, the emperor's private chaplain, the members of the holy synod, the master of the imperial bousehold and the special aidde-camp took their places at the foot of the throne to the left, the emperor himself remaining aloue in the center of the hall during the transformation. When all those participating in the ceremony had taken their new places there was a slight pause, and then the emperor walked slowly twenty paces to the dais, ascended the throne, seated himself in the imperial chair and an ald-de-camp stepped forward and presented him with the draft of his ad-

A pathetic figure in the scene at the palace was that of Count Witte, of whom a glance was caught before the ceremony pacing the corridor entirely alone. Great animosity to the wealth and plendor of the court ceremony was oticeable, and the display of jewels by ladies of the court, some of whom bore on their persons gems worth a king's ransom, furnished the theme of many radical imprompts tirades. At a conference of Constitutional Democratic leaders it was decided that Professor Mouromtseff, when he is received in audience by Eroperor Nicho ias today to receive the imperial con

GORKY DENOUNCES DOUMA.

Makes Open Appeal to "Brothers In Arms" In America

NEW YORK, May 11.-The douma just inaugurated at St. Petersburg was lenounced by Maxim Gorky, the Bussian author, in an appeal which he has issued addressed to "Brothers In Arms, the Authors of Free America." In it 7 to 2. Gorky declared that the Russian people know they must have a revolution in order to be free.

Gorky's appeal is entitled by him "An Open Letter to the Authors of Free America" and follows: were prominent in the running.

"Brothers In Arms-Why do I make my appeal to you? Because in Russia the literary men are everywhere the first. They are the foremost to enter into the struggle for freedom and the foremost to go down into the dun-geons. Men of art, men of intellect, aristocrats of the spirit, these are the only true kings of the earth.

"They first, before all others, ought to understand and feel the misery of a people thirsting for freedom. You, knights of the spirit, cannot regard with indifference the fate of my country, you cannot leek unmoved upon dress. His majesty rose and, looking the sufferings of my people.
