ALVIN C. SAWTELLE ORDAINED LAST NIGHT

Service Were Well Attended and of a Highly Interesting Character

Athen:—The ordination services at the Presbyterian church last evening were well attended and of a highly interesting character. Alvin C. Sawtelle, one of the candidates set apart for the ministry, is a son of the former pastor, Rev. W. H. Sawtelle, and his christian life has been developed under the fostering care of its membership. The other, John V. Axtell, has a close fellowship with some of its members. The music was specially prepared for the occasion and it was very fine. Rev. W. H. Sawtelle was present together with his son, W. L. Sawtelle of Fulton, N. Y., who was ordained to the ministry in the same church eight years ago. It is not often that a preacher can say he occupied the same pulpit for a quarter of a century and that during this time two of his sons have been converted and ordained to the ministry under his preaching. But this is true of Mr. Sawtelle, and it speaks volumes for his faithfulness.

The meeting last evening was in charge of the moderator of Lackawanna presbytery and Dr. E. D. Warfield, president of Lafayette College, preached the sermon. The Rev. Warfield said that he esteemed it a great favor to be present and to preach the sermon, for he had some very close relations with one of the candidates who was to be ordained to the sacred calling of the ministry. Mr. Sawtelle had been a student at the college he presided over and he had watched his progress with great interest all through his course at Lafayette and Princeton. His text was from Jeremiah ix, 23-24, and was an eloquent exposition of the lofty purposes of God and the exalted work of the christian ministry.

The ordination prayer of Rev. W. H. Sawtelle, father of Alvin, was most touching, full of earnest christian desire. The charge to the candidates was given by Rev. W. L. Sawtelle. After the singing of a hymn the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Alvin C. Sawtelle. The following clergymen were present and took part in the services: R. P. H. Brooks and R. B. Webster of Wilkes-Barre, H. C. Smitcher of Wyalusing, G. R. Merrill of Uniondale, E. C. Petrie of Sayre, M. L. Cook of Camptown, W. H. Sawtelle of Ulster, and W. L. Sawtelle of Fulton, N. Y.

VICTOR HOWE

Athen—Victor Howe died at the Packer hospital this morning of typhoid fever, aged 21 years. He came to Athens from Wysox about six years ago and has worked at his trade of stone mason most of the time since. He leaves a wife and two children, Arthur, aged 9, and Claude, aged 7, who reside on Chestnut street. A sister, Mrs. Warren Harper of Athens, went to Wysox today to arrange for the funeral at that place.

THE SECRET OF LONG LIFE. BY KENNETH HARRIS. "Uncle Jake" Somerby pulled a thick twist of natural leaf of his own curing from his pocket and crumbled off a pipeful, observing, as he declined the sack Marvin Parsons offered him, that "these yer mannyfac terbackers weren't fitten for a hawg to smoke." Parsons refrained from the obvious remark, but he caught Washington Hancock's eye and grinned. "If I'd smoked the stuff you boys do I'd ben dead long ago," continued the old man, picking up his mittens and pulling the laps of his cap over his ears. "You'll learn a right smart afore you're old as I am, an' the first thing you want to learn an' the last you're likely to be not to take anythin' inter your insides which you don't know what it's made of. That's the secret of keepin' peart an' hearty."

never done a lick o' work an' the most of his time when he wasn't off on a spree he was settin' in a rockin' chair with his feet in the oven. He had two boys an' they run the farm between 'em an' Mose bossed the whole outfit. He'd got the rheumatism so he couldn't walk more'n a jest hobbie, but he could ride, an' he'd make one of the boys saddle up a boss pension days off he'd go to town a-kittin'. He'd come back the same way, only a-whoopin' an' hollerin' all times o' night. "Wash," he'd say to me, "if you want to live to be as old as I am drink all the licker you can hold when you start in. Fill right up. Don't never quit so long as you can steer the neck of a bottle to your mouth—an' don't strain yourself workin'."
