BRIDGE WORKS DAMAGED BY FIRE

Blaze Broke Out Early Yesterday Morning in the Boring Department

Athens—Yesterday morning at about 12:25 o'clock the watchman at the bridge works discovered a fire in the wooden building of the boring department and sounded the fire alarm whistle which brought out the fire department. Tom Spellman, the night watchman at the furniture works, looked out of the north windows and saw a light in the building at about the same time, and at first thought it was only a torch, as it moved around and had the appearance of being carried by some person. But looking again he saw the fire blazing up from the west end of the building which was wrapped in flames in an instant. He ran over and rang the fire alarm at No. 3 hose house. The fire had gained such headway when the firemen reached it that it took a long and desperate fight to put it out. The building is of wood with a slate roof, and the machinery inside is for the purpose of boring out eye bars as they come from the hammer shop. The power for running the machinery is taken from another building, and there had been no fire in the building, not even a torch, that night. Outside is a lot of crude oil barrels and it may be that some miserably sneaked some of this oil and set the fire. Although the building is insured the loss is very great at this time, for they have a large order for eye bars to fill, and the hindrance to their work will greatly inconvenience them. The building is almost a total wreck, and with all the workmen they can put upon it, it will take several days to repair it so the work can go on. The machinery is not damaged. There were about twenty men working in this department but they will be given work right along in the other departments, so that none of them will be thrown out of employment.

As they come to work this morning George Peck, the superintendent of that department, sent them into the rivet shop and yards, and told them that their time would go on as before and they could take it easy until the shop was repaired.

Permanent Dentistry LEHIGH VALLEY R. R.

A quarter of a century ago we placed some gold fillings in the teeth of a well known gentleman at present a resident of Sayre. These fillings today are just as bright, firm and useful as the day they were made. We will tell you the name of the party, if you wish to see him yourself.

There are variations in dental workmanship, just as there are differences in the various brands of flour. If you desire the highest degree of proficiency—the skill and knowledge that will make YOUR fillings serviceable twenty-five years from today—come in or phone for an appointment. On the other hand, if you take pleasure in having your teeth filled over and over again every year or two, you should go elsewhere—we do not do that kind of work.

MEMORIAL DAY SERVICES YESTERDAY

Athens—Yesterday was an ideal day and the Memorial day services were the best ever held. The Athens Cadets and G. A. R. conducted services at Sheshequin at 9 a. m., and the address by Paul E. Maynard, Esq., followed at 10 o'clock. It was a good address and was attentively listened to.

The parade in Athens formed at 2 o'clock, and accompanying the column were 20 little flower girls. The residences and business blocks along the line of march were decorated nicely and the parade was the finest in years. After the memorial services at the Perkins plot and the strewing of the flowers the G. A. R., the P. O. S. of A., and the Athens Cadets formed a hollow square at the soldier's burial plot and the dedication services were held. The column then repaired to the grand stand for the final services. After prayer by Rev. A. F. von Tobel little Miss Rogers recited "You Put No Flowers on My Papa's Grave." Rev. Dr. Simpson then gave the address, which was a most eloquent, patriotic one. Dr. Simpson has seen real service and knows what privations the soldier passed through. He went back to the early history of our country and showed how the antagonizing forces of early times had entered into our civilization and how these conflicting interests had led up to the Civil war; entering into the spirit of individual freedom, the powers of slavery had raised bloody hands to destroy our government. It was this power that brought about the rebellion which the valor of our brave boys in blue had conquered on the field of battle, and by their heroism the country was saved. Dr. Simpson gave such a true picture of the privations and sacrifices of the soldier as to touch the hearts of the boys, all of whom grasped his hand in appreciation of his earnest words. The ladies of the relief corps were in attendance and pre-

CONCERT WAS FINE

Athens—There was a fair audience at the Methodist church Tuesday evening to listen to the concert and they had an entertainment worthy of a much larger patronage. All of the persons represented in the program are artists and their selections were from the gems of classic and artistic compositions of the best masters. The first number, Sonata in E flat by Dudley Buck, performed by Robert G. Weigester, was brilliant in effect and masterly in its shading of tonal variations, which showed the wonderful skill of the performer. The next number, "Sweet Spirit, Hear My Prayer," one of the heart touching airs of Theodore Thomas, arranged by Julius Howe for violin with organ accompaniment, is one of the sweetest gems in the whole range of musical composition, and as Mrs. Hull brought out the tender pathos of the song in sweet harmony woven in with its web of organ accompaniment, it held the audience spell bound and she was obliged to respond with an encore. Miss Lillian Crane, the reader, is very gifted and her selections were given with faultless accuracy in voice and interpretation. Edwin F. Loomis is one of the best mandolin players we have ever listened to and his selection "Grand Concerto," by Stoddard, brought out the capabilities of his instrument to its highest point. In the second part Mr. Loomis gave "Adagio Religioso," composed and arranged by himself, which shows that he is a talented composer and arranger, as well as a thorough artist. The "Faust" fantasia brilliant, composed by Wienianski, one of the most difficult violin solos, was played by Mrs. Hull in the second part, and the concert ended with an organ selection from Wely by Mr. Weigester. It was a grand concert.

We Can Make You A Suit to Order

NOW IN A REASONABLE TIME.

Our merchant tailoring department was so unusually rushed with orders up to this week that we could not promise suits before at least a month after measures were taken. In some instances we were compelled to disappoint several—to those we wish to apologize. Now that every measure is in work, we can promise suits from one to two weeks. The men who voluntarily held back their orders are asked to call and select their favorite suitings and we will immediately turn them out in the same snappy, stylish and satisfactory way as all our made to order suits are characterized. We wish to state that while our business in the "made-to-order suit" department was greater this season than ever before, we still show a large and varied variety of woolsens which are recent arrivals from the woolen looms. The patterns are new and sedate.
