SOUTH WAVERLY BOROUGH COUNCIL

Transacted Considerable Business at Session Held Last Night

The regular monthly meeting of the borough council of South Waverly was held in the borough building last night, with the following councilmen present: Messrs. Quick, Sinsabaugh, Murphy, McCraney, Welch, Stephens and Gates.

The matter of a sidewalk on Howard street that is in need of repairs was referred to the street committee.

An important matter was the passage of an ordinance providing for a renewal of the contract with the local electric light company for lighting the streets of the borough for five years, the agreement to be effective from April 1, 1906. The ordinance was adopted section by section and then as a whole.

Pleasant street was the subject of considerable discussion. This is one of the prettiest streets in the valley during daylight, but, as a citizen averred, it is dark as Egypt when the shades of night have fallen. The trouble is due to the overhanging branches of shade trees and the lack of suitable lighting arrangements along that thoroughfare. The street committee was instructed to look after matters there.

Grade was asked along Pennsylvania avenue adjoining the high school building, and the borough engineer will deliver the goods in this case. The school directors wish to lay a cement walk for which E. D. Ademy has the contract.

Grade was also ordered given Mr. Merrill for a sidewalk in front of his property.

A request was presented from J. H. Murray for a crosswalk over Bradford street at the east side of its intersection with Pennsylvania avenue. Mr. Murray offered to furnish the sand and gravel free in case the council should decide to lay a cement walk. The request was referred to the street committee.

Superintendent W. E. Case, on behalf of the trolley company, stated that about a year ago the company he represents had deposited with the borough authorities a certified check for $1,000 as an evidence of good faith in the construction of the South Waverly trolley line. The road had been completed and was in successful operation, so he asked that the check be returned to his company. The council voted unanimously to do so.

The street committee was empowered to attend to an application to rent the borough lot.

Chief of Police P. Ragan presented the police report for May, which showed two arrests and the imposition and collection of $4 in fines and costs. Of this amount $1.50 as fines will be turned over to the borough.

Complaint was made to the council relative to the crowded condition of Fulton street at late hours of the night. It was stated that men and women often congregate there in the evening in such numbers and conduct themselves in such manner that South Waverly citizens who sought to pass along the street were subjected to annoyance. The district where the trouble exists is across the state line and no action could be taken; but the president of the council was directed to confer with the authorities of Waverly village and make arrangements for abating the nuisance.

An adjournment was taken until the evening of June 9.

CARRIED STONE IN HEAD 28 YEARS

Yesterday, However, the Missile Was Removed With No Serious Results

Twenty-eight years ago R. N. Sterling, who was then a young man, dove into a millpond at Catharine, Schuylers county, N.Y. The pond was a shallow one and Mr. Sterling's head struck on the stony bottom, inflicting an ugly scalp wound which necessitated the services of a surgeon. The latter dressed the wound several times and although it took several weeks the wound eventually healed and Mr. Sterling thought no more of it until recently. Several weeks ago he began to feel slight pain in the region of the wound, and several times he was on the point of consulting a physician. Yesterday morning, however, while at the breakfast table he felt a small lump on his forehead, and he determined to investigate on his own hook. Charles Deidrick, a boarder at Mr. Sterling's restaurant, was asked to examine the lump. He did so and found that there was a hard substance of an unknown character lying directly underneath the skin. With Mr. Sterling's permission Deidrick took a knife and opened the lump, when a small stone, about the size of a pea, rolled out on the floor. Mr. Sterling is confident that the stone imbedded itself in his forehead at the time he took the plunge into the millpond twenty-eight years ago.

PLAN TO IMPROVE BOROUGH STREETS

Excellent Suggestion Which Should be Given More Than Passing Notice

A well known business man who has the interests of the borough at heart suggested a plan this morning whereby the condition of the streets in Sayre can be materially improved with but little trouble and practically no expense. At the present time the council appropriates the sum of $1,500 per year for street purposes, and this amount is confessedly small when it is taken into consideration that there are 28 miles of thoroughfares in the borough to care for and keep in passable condition. Street Commissioner Fields handles this amount judiciously and economically, and makes an excellent showing with the amount at his command. Notwithstanding this, however, in many parts of the borough stones accumulate in the street, making travel anything but a pleasant occupation. The suggestion made by the business man is that each property owner be requested to remove the stones from the street immediately in front of his residence or property at least once a month. If every property owner would do this the condition of the streets would be materially improved and persons who ride about in vehicles of any description would greatly appreciate it. Why not give it a trial?

CIRCLE DID IT

A heavy thunder storm passed over Sayre yesterday afternoon, and again last night the flood gates of heaven were opened and rain fell in torrents for nearly an hour. The storm was accompanied by a brilliant electrical display. The weather wise say that the heavy rain fall is due to the unusually distinct circle which encircled the sun on Monday forenoon. Those who observed the circle say that it was most beautiful, showing all the colors of the rainbow, and remaining visible to the eye for a considerable length of time.

The schools closed in Sayre yesterday afternoon for this year. The pupils will now enjoy a three months' vacation.

GYPSIES ORDERED OUT OF SAYRE

They Had Pitched Camp on the Ball Diamond Where Their Presence Was Not Desired

Yesterday afternoon while the rain was pouring down in torrents a band of gypsies passed through Sayre and drove to the ball grounds where they pitched their camp for the night, or rather they would have remained all night had the agents of the Sayre Land Company permitted them. Superintendent Loetzer sought the services of Chief Walsh and the latter went to the ball diamond and told the king of the camp that he and his band must move out as the owners of the property on which they were camping did not desire that it should be used for camping purposes. The knights of the road were preparing their evening meal and several were in the act of partaking of the same, but the chief was inexorable, so the king gypsy issued pre-emptory orders, and the band moved out. The band moved on toward West Sayre, but just where they spent the night is not known.

In Elmira Chief Cassidy drove the same bunch out of the city. The band consists of nearly forty members and among them are several women who go about from house to house gathering in shakels by telling fortunes.

The band camped last night on "Gypsy Green," near Tozer's bridge, and this morning Chief Walsh was called to go over to that point and settle a disturbance which had broken out among the women of the camp. It appears that one of the females is possessed of personal charms not enjoyed by the others, and that she therefore gets considerable more attention from the men. This fact precipitated a row early this morning, and when the chief and Officer DeGroff arrived there was a hair-pulling match in progress which threatened to result seriously for the combatants. Two of the women were bleeding from various wounds in the face and their toilets were badly disarranged. The officers succeeded in separating the irate females, and also ordered the king of the camp to again break up and vamoose.

THE HOODMACHER CASE

An examination of the opinion in the case of Hoodmacher vs. The Lehigh Valley Railroad Company reveals a serious misunderstanding of the facts by Justice Mitchell and on which the lower court was reversed. The Supreme Court judge in deciding the case believed Hoodmacher died in State of New Jersey, when as a matter of fact he died in Easton, Pa. The attorneys for the plaintiff, against whom the Supreme Court decided, are elated over the turn affairs have taken, and will proceed at once for a rehearing before Justice Mitchell. They are confident that when the matter is explained the Supreme Court will reverse itself.

Hoodmacher was killed in a boiler explosion on the Lehigh three years ago and his widow was awarded $7,500 damages by a jury. The Supreme Court set aside the verdict on the ground that the plaintiff should have been non-suited as Hoodmacher died in another state from that in which the action was brought.
