Both the Chemung and Susquehanna rivers have raised considerably as a result of the recent heavy rains. There is no danger of floods.

MAUDE HAYNES MYSTERY SOLVED

Her Badly Decomposed Body Found Yesterday Floating in the Susquehanna River Near Binghamton

The mystery surrounding the disappearance of Maude Haynes has been solved at last. The girl disappeared from home in Susquehanna, this state, on the evening of December 13, 1905, and yesterday her dead body was found floating in the Susquehanna river near the Rock Bottom dam at Binghamton. Shortly after 4 o'clock two boys who were on the river with a boat saw what they believed to be a body floating on the surface of the stream. The boys followed the object until it passed over the dam. A boy who was fishing on the south side of the river below the dam was notified, and he dragged the object ashore. It proved to be the badly decomposed body of a young girl and the police were at once notified. The authorities at once came to the conclusion that the body was that of the missing Maude Haynes.

The parents of the girl were at once sent for and in the meantime the body was removed to an undertaking room. When Mr. and Mrs. Haynes arrived they went at once to the undertakers, but before being allowed to see the body were shown various articles of clothing which they identified as being those worn by the girl when she disappeared from home. The parents were then permitted to see the body which was decomposed past all recognition with the exception of the legs from the knees down. A feet cornered scar on one of the feet near the toes was instantly recognized by the mother of the girl which made the identification complete. As soon as Mrs. Haynes discovered the scar, thus determining that the body was that of her girl, Mrs. Haynes staggered to a chair and almost fainted. She and her husband returned to their rooms in the city and today took charge of the body and will take it to their home for burial.

Aside from the suspicions of relatives there is nothing to indicate how the girl met her death. The remains were so badly decomposed that it was impossible to tell whether or not she had met with violence. The coroner did not think an inquest necessary. On Thursday next the girl would have been missing six months.

REPORTED ROBBERY

A story comes from Waverly this morning to the effect that a certain well known Sayre business man was robbed of a valuable gold watch and a purse containing a considerable amount of cash at the circus last night. The local police department has not been informed of the robbery and when the chief was interviewed on the subject this morning he said that he had heard nothing of the matter. The story was told in Waverly this morning but the name of the man who was robbed is not known.

PERSONAL MENTION

G. A. Walsh and wife and son of Excelsior, Ark., are the guests of friends in Sayre.

Rev. J. L. Shanley went to Glen Summit this morning where a retreat is being held.

Contractor John F. Dolan was in Sayre this morning. He reports that the construction work of the Lehigh is progressing rapidly at Towanda.

The Rt. Rev. M. F. Hoban, of Scranton, will come to Sayre on Sunday next and in the afternoon confirm a class of 100 at the Church of the Epiphany.

F. H. Johnston, the contractor who is erecting the new county clerk's office at Owego, was in Sayre this morning and reports the work as progressing satisfactorily.

Charles St. John, formerly a well known Lehigh Valley conductor who worked for the company when the line run from Waverly over the Erie to Buffalo, was calling on Sayre friends today. He is now employed as a sales agent for a coal company.

WANTED HIS DAUGHTER

Yesterday afternoon a Waverly citizen came to Sayre and reported to the police that his fourteen-year-old daughter was being detained at the home of his sister-in-law against his will. He said that his daughter had come to Sayre somewhat against his wishes, for the purpose of visiting at the home of his brother. Yesterday he went to the place where the girl was stopping but was told that she had gone to work for a family in Athens. The man went to that place but learned that there was no person of that name residing in that place. He then returned to Sayre and reported the matter to the police. Chief Walsh telephoned to the house where the girl has been visiting but was informed that she had gone to her home in Waverly. The Waverly man then went home and said before leaving that if he failed to find his daughter there he would return to Sayre today and make trouble for some one.

All aged persons who expect to be present are requested to communicate that fact to the secretary before the day of the meeting. An especial invitation is extended to the old people of the county, and a general welcome to the public.

E. J. Ayers, President.

C. F. Heverly, Secretary.

PLEADED GUILTY

Howard Ferris of Sayre, who in company with Joseph McHale, of Waverly, robbed several stores in Waverly about three weeks ago, were indicted by the grand jury at Owego recently and when arraigned in court pleaded not guilty. Yesterday they were taken to court and withdrew their former plea and pleaded guilty. They will be brought up for sentence late this afternoon.

SALES FALLING OFF

As a result of the packing house exposures there has been a perceptible falling off in the sale of meats, and the dealers in meats and butchers are suffering thereby. There is usually a decrease in the demand for meats at this season of the year, but the dealers claim that at the present time it is more marked than ever. They claim that the packing house investigation is responsible for it.

SOCIAL LECTURE

WELL ATTENDED

Professor George Kirkpatrick Delivered Fine Address Last Night

Professor George Kirkpatrick delivered a lecture which he entitled "The Logic of Freedom," before a crowded house last night. He put his lecture under three heads: 1st, Something is wrong; 2nd, What is wrong; 3rd, How to right it. He maintained that it was wrong for one class of men to control the great natural resources and means of production and thereby make other men dependent upon them for work. That it was wrong for one class of men to be in a position where they could legally get a rakeoff from other men to whom the things they controlled were necessary. This, he said, created a master and a servant class, and maintained that no man was good enough to be another man's master. He said that this was due to the private ownership of the socially necessary industrial property, i. e.: 1st, Natural resources, raw material; 2nd, Machinery of production; 3rd, Machinery of distribution. He had no fault to find with the capitalist; he was a good enough fellow; but it is the system that makes him possible that is objectionable.

His proposed remedy is the Socialist program. The speaker stated that the Socialist program did not interfere with or object to private property for private uses, but only with that form of property that made one man or class of men economically dependent upon another man or class of men. That Socialism had nothing to do with religion or the family; these are personal and private matters, while Socialism is purely a political and economic movement. He said that the Socialist program required: 1st, The social or public ownership of the chief material means of production. 2nd, Social or public control of the means of production through the initiative, referendum, and right of recall. 3rd, Equal opportunity to use the means of production. 4th, Cooperation instead of competition; creation of commodities for use and not for profit.

At the conclusion of the lecture the speaker answered the questions asked.

TOWN HALL PLANS

There will be a meeting of the town hall committee of the borough council this evening. The preliminary plans have been received from Pierce & Bickford, the Elmira architects, and at the meeting this evening they will be fully discussed. It is expected that some changes will be made, and that when these are made the final plans will be drawn. As soon as these are completed the project will be in shape to report to the council. The next move then will be to submit it to the people of Sayre for their approval or disapproval.

HOTELS FULL

The hotels and boarding houses and other places where "roomers" are accommodated were filled to their capacity and it is said that travelers and strangers were unable to secure a place in which to sleep. Several people who arrived in Sayre on the late trains last night could not find rooms. The hotels were filled and the strangers were forced to go elsewhere or get along as best they could. Two men who had come from Buffalo sat in a restaurant all night and two or three others walked about the streets.

The Lehigh Valley employes have placed stringers on each end of the cross boards on the sidewalk on the Packer avenue bridge which crosses the tracks. Heretofore the smoke and steam from the engines have displaced these cross boards making travel exceedingly dangerous.
