President Would Have Vetoed Sea Level Bill Had It Been Passed. Burton Lectures House on Hig Ditch.

WASHINGTON, June 16. In com mittee of the whole the house of congross by a vote of 110 to 36 decided in favor of a lock canal across the isthmus of Panama, the amendment to that effect being presented by Representative Littauer (N. Y.). If congress had sent a measure to President Roosevelt providing for the construction of a sea level canal on the isthmus of Panama he would have vetoed it. This statement is made by authority. The bill appropriating $25,000,000 to ontinue the construction of the Panama canal, providing that no part of that sum be used in the construction of a sea level canni, was passed with the approval of the president.

With members of congress sitting on the short steps in the aisles of the house around the space in front of the speaker's desk, with a large member-company, who were familiar with ship of the lower branch of congress, the details of the business, than by the with the galleries filled and with Mr. examination of employees holding mi-Burton (O.), pointer in hand, indicating nor positions and who were not in posby charts the difference between sea session of the information which the level and lock level canal, the house presented every appearance of the class room of a great university.

Mr. Burton had given notice that when the item in the sundry civil bill was reached, approximating upward of $25,000,000, he would ask for an hour To the newspaper reporters he stated in which to present his views on the

that he returned from Europe for the lock level type of Panama canal. He prefaced his remarks by stating that in the so called Spooner law, autrip for no other purpose, leaving Mrs. thorizing the expenditure of $135,000,-000 for the Panama canal and giving the president the right to inaugurate The commission decided to suspend this movement and carry it to a successful conclusion, the type was left with the president with certain specifications and limitations. "It is not fair to the president," he said, "and to the executive officers of the government who have this great enterprise in charge to say to them with one breath, 'Proceed with the canal with all the speed you may' and with another breath to say that 'We have not yet made up our minds what ture is so strong that there is evident kind of a canal you shall build.' "A sea level canal would, in the judgment of those who have carefully $400,000,000 and more and would ex. Boston
