Horrors of Jewish Massacre Revealed by Correspondent.

and Mutilated, Some Beyond Recognition - Wanton Butchery

ST. PETERSBURG, June 19 .- The leaders of the douma have decided in view of the importance of their work and the gravity of the national crisis not to entertain any message from the throne for the prorogation of the douma. This decision will be presented to the doums in the form of a resolution and unquestionably will be accepted with virtual unanimity. The decision of the leaders was taken in anticipamessage fixing a time for closure.

It was further decided to act on the report of the parliamentary commission, headed by Deputy Tschepkin, new taking evidence at Bialystok, and to require the punishment of the persons guilty of the massacre without reference to the report of the minister of the interior.

A resolution has been adopted by the labor and peasant combination for presentation to the douma reaffirming the resolution adopted at the labor and peasant demonstration at Terick, Finland, declaring that the douma would not honor the second portion of the fereign loan recently raised on the ground that the loan is payable by a government which the representatives of the nation have repudiated and that the government is using it exclusively to resist the will of the nation. It is expected that President Muromtzeff will refuse to present this resolution. A message from a newspaper correspondent at Bialystok says: "I personally counted 290 Jewish corpses, a great number of which were herribly mutilated. Only six Christians were killed and eight wounded. "The outrage was provoked. 'The poice participated in it, and the troops actively supported the rioters. The local authorities had a bomb threwn at the Corpus Christi procession and then accused the Jews of deing it.

"The military authorities now have complete control. The governor general has left the city. Persons who tried to leave Bialystok were killed at the Best Quality & Prompt Delivery ratiroad station, and others who succeeded in reaching the open fields outside the tewn were run down by dragoons. There seems to be ne hope of stepping the attacks. The number of victims is large.

"While this appeal for immediate assistance is being written we hear about us the sound of volleys." The embargo on news from Bialystok was lifted, and for the first time correspondents were allowed to telegraph directly from the sacked city a leture of the sceme of ruin and desola tion left in the wake of the mob. Funerals are in progress almost the whole time, and the atmosphere is so super-charged that a slight event may suffice to precipitate a renewal of street fighting. The streets are literally packed with horse, foot and artillery to put down any further rioting. Some horrible details have been sent out by a correspondent, who says:

Words fall to describe the awful facts. The faces of the dead at the hospitals have lost all human semblance, and the corpses simply are crushed masses of flesh and bone, soaking in blood. It is impossible to conceive of such bestiality. "The corpse of Teacher Apstein lay on the grass with the hands tied. In the face and eyes had been hammered three inch nails. Rioters entered his home and after bestial outrages killed him thus and then murdered the rest of his family of seven. When the corpse arrived at the bespital it was also marked with bayonet thrusts.

"Beside the body of Apstein lay the corpse of a child of ten years, whose leg had been chopped off with an ax. Here also were the dead from the Schlachter home, where soldiers came and plundered the house and killed the wife, sen and a neighbors daughter and seriously wounded Schlachter and his two daughters.

"I am told that soldiers entered the apartments of the Lapidus brothers. which were crowded with people who had fled from the streets for safety. and ordered the Christians to separate themselves from the Jews. - A Chris tian student named Dikar protested and was killed on the spet. Then all of the Jews were shot. "Some of the corpses were marked with fire. These had been brought from a burned tannery and showed bullet and bayonet marks.

"In one corner of the yard was a demented Jowess trying to cover the body of her husband. But her efforts were in vain, as the pulpy flesh simply cozed from beneath its inadequate cov-

The correspondent, who adopts the bitterest tone toward the government, holds that the pogrom undoubtedly was provoked and attributes the responsibility to Police Lieutenant Sherematieff and says the distinctive characteristic of the outbreak, in which it differs from the excesses at Odessa, Kishineff, Gomel and Klev, aside from bestiality, is the comparatively small amount of actual robbery committed. The correspondent declares that not only the soldiers, but their officers also, participated and that he himself was witness as late as Saturday to the shooting down of a Jewish girl from the window of a botel by Lieutenant Miller of the Viadimir regiment. The governor of the province of Grodno, who happened to be passing at the mo-

Malystok, where the malority of the Jewish dead and most severely wounded were taken, was indescribably sickening. When the correspondent arrived there the grassplot outside the hospital House Committee Meets His was covered with mutilated and mangled corpses, arranged in two long rows, awaiting burial. The wooder walk from the gate to the door, over which the bodies were carried, was stained with blood, and the cobblestone pavement of the roadway was spatterriving. Many of them had been lying untouched in the streets for two or three days. Only the most severely wounded were taken inside the hos pital. The bodies of some of these were frightfully bruised. Some of the bodies had already been removed for ourial, but the hospital attendants as erted that about a hundred in all had been brought in and that many more remained in the outskirts of Blalystok

Cross detachments to venture. At the District hospital there wer six dead persons and eight or ten wounded. These were all Christians These bodies were not mangled or mu tilated as was the case with the Jews whose hands, arms and legs were sometimes chopped off from mere wan-

where it was still unsafe for the Red

The situation is still not entirely ranguil. A recrudescence of the trouble is not impossible. The streets are filled with Cossacks and infantry. Serious disorders have broken out among the sailors at Cronstadt. Two brigades of artillery and a regiment of nfantry have been dispatched from here to the fortress.

All Roosevelt Suggestions to Me Embodied In Amended Bill-House Adjourns Out of Respect For the Late R. E. Lester.

WASHINGTON, June 19.-The house unmittee on agriculture authorized hairman Wadsworth and Representative Brooks of Colorado to amend the meat inspection provision in the agri cultural bill to meet the views of President Roosevelt, after which the neasure will be submitted to the presient by Speaker Cannon.

The basis of a complete agreement between President Roosevelt and the ommittee was arrived at at the White House. Speaker Cannon represented the committee there. The bill author izes an annual appropriation of $8,000, 000 to pay the cost of inspection and will contain no provision for the levy of an assessment to make up any dedelency in the amount available for house. this work, as suggested by Mr. Cowan. representing the Texas cattle growers.

These changes made, the presiden indicated his entire satisfaction with the measure which was reported from the committee as a substitute for the Beveridge amendment.

There is to be no date on the labe of the packing of ment food products. In this the president yields to the committee. The language which gives inspectors the right to outer the packing pfants at all times is amplified by the words "whether the same be in operation or not.

It is stated that not all of the pres deptial suggestions will be accepted if the wishes of the committee are cor plied with. The discussion made it plain there was no objection to elimi nating the court review provision, as suggested by the president; also that his wishes that the civil service commission furnish the inspectors will be compiled with. There is opposition to placing the date of manufacture on the label and to inserting the words "to the judgment of the secretary of agri culture," thus making the secretary the final authority regarding the meas

There was some criticism by mem bers of the committee as to the method to be employed in handling the measare, as no Republican members who resented minority views nor any Demecratic members of the committee are to have anything to do with redrufting the substitute.

The house adjourned immediately upon the announcement of the death of depresentative Rufus H. Loster Georgia. Before the announcement the agricultural appropriation bill was sent back to the committee in order that the meat inspection amendment might be further amended.

The secretary replied that rather more than half the canned meat supplied to the British troops in South Africa during the late war came from the United States. He could not say bow much of this came from Chi cago. The war office knew nothing of any cases of enteric fever which could

A WRETCH DESPERATE FOR MONEY FRIENDS LOOKED FOR HIS RECOVERY

Little Boy, Found Unharmed, Was Imprisoned Six Days In Vacant Mouses at Philadelphia-Was Threatened With Death.

PHILADELPHIA, June 19.-Freddle Muth, the seven-year-old son of Charles Muth, the jeweler of 1632 Co lumbia avenue, who was kidnaped last Tuesday, was discovered by the police safe and sound in a vacant house at 427 North Sixty-second street with John Kean, a real estate dealer, who s charged with being his kidnaper. Kean was captured after a chase by Special Policemen Bale, Clarke and Duffy. Bale fired several shots after the fleeing man.

To Mrs. J. T. Wilson of 424 Horton street, whose house backs up directly against the North Sixty-second street house, belongs the credit of notifying the police of the boy's presence in the and unkempt. When the police entered the house they found the boy laying on the floor with his head on his schoolbooks, which he had with him the day be was taken from school. He seemed to the police to have been "doped."

With Kean he was put in a patrol wagon and burried to the city hall for fear of mob violence.

Driven by the commission of a comparatively small offense to the helnous crime of child stealing. Kean occupies cell in the central police station with life imprisonment staring him in the face. Replete with dramatic incidents from its inception, the climax of the abduction was sensational to a degree. The kidnaper was taken at the point of a pistol only after he had been fired upon and when he realized that escape was impossible. He gave as his reason for abducting the Muth boy that he needed money. From the day of the kidnaping until the arrest yesterday afternoon Kean had kept the child in three vacant houses in West Philadelphia

Kean is married and has a wife and three children. He lives at 415 Horton street, West Philadelphia. He had recently been in financial trouble.

Kean is said to be the agent for the building where the boy was found. Kean for several days past has been seen to carry bread and milk into the house by neighbors. This aroused sus picion, but Kean said he was taking the milk to cats that he had in the

The prisoner was conveyed to the ofty hall for examination and arraign ment. The detectives say they have evidence that Kean is demonted and stele the child in the belief that his parents were wealthy and would pay The lad, so far as can be learned, is practically unharmed. Not since the abduction of Charlie Rose has the community been so wrought up by the commission of a criminal act. The newspapers in order to aid the police in tracing the kidnaper were compelled to publish misleading stories for the purpose of throwing Kean off his guard. In the letters which the kidnaper wrote to Mr. Muth he threatened to kill the boy if his demands were not met. He demanded that Mr. Muth tell the police a fictitious tale about the disappearance of his son in order that the detectives might be withdrawn. Kean told the police that he abducted the boy primarily to secure the $400 he had embezzled from Charles J Cooke. In addition he said he is in debt, with no means of providing for his family. He said he never intended to harm the boy and declared the statements be made in his letters to Mr. Muth that the child was being dosed with whisky were untrue.

It has developed since Kean's arrest that he had stolen $20,000 from the Harlem bank, New York, when he was bookkeeper in 1894. He admitted the
