GET NORWAY CROWNS Coronation of King Haakon and Queen at Trondhjem.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN WAS PRESENT.

Large American Contingent There. Little Crown Prince Creates a Stir. Many Ancient Norse Customs Observed.

TRONDHJEM, June 22.—With a ceremonial modified from the old Norse forms to meet the modern democratic spirit of the country King Haakon VII. and Queen Maud at noon today in the old Trondhjem cathedral were crowned sovereign rulers of Norway. The young couple were adorned, blessed and presented with Norway's crowns.

When, nearly forty years ago, King Oscar of Sweden received the crown he bared his breast and ecclesiastics crossed it with sacred oils, according to the custom of older days. King Haakon was anointed only on the forehead and wrists, and the entire rite was much simpler. The king and queen entered the cathedral at 11 o'clock. King Haakon was crowned first and Queen Maud afterward with practically the same ceremony.

There were more than 3,000 persons present, that number including William Jennings Bryan, who had just arrived in Trondhjem for the coronation. Accompanying Mr. Bryan were the American special ambassador, Charles H. Graves, who is minister to Sweden, supported by Major William W. Gibson, military attaché at St. Petersburg, and Lieutenant Commander John H. Gibbons, a naval attaché at London, and attended by the Norwegian officers assigned to escort them by King Haakon, who later gave the Americans a cordial welcome, expressing his pleasure at their presence.

Among hundreds of notables present were the Prince and Princess of Wales, representing Great Britain, and Princess Victoria Alexandra, Prince Henry of Prussia, Crown Prince Christian and Crown Princess Alexandra and Prince Harald of Denmark, Grand Duke Michael Alexandrovitch, brother of the emperor of Russia, and Premier Michelsen, the "maker of the kingdom," from Christiania.

Admiral Bayle, representing France, had at an early hour presented King Haakon with the grand cross of the Legion of Honor. The king said he was glad to receive the decoration through a naval officer.

While his royal parents were receiving Grand Duke Michael of Russia the little Crown Prince Olaf of Norway had a reception of his own. He eluded his nurse, climbed to a side window of the palace and began calling and waving to the crowd. The street was soon blocked with people, cheering wildly. The nurse rescued the prince, but in response to calls repeatedly showed the baby at the window.

As the rulers were crowned all the church bells began ringing and continuing until their majesties left the cathedral.

At the pavilion before the cathedral their majesties were received by the bishop of Trondhjem, accompanied by the bishops of Christiania and Bergen and the clergy present. The bishop of Trondhjem greeted their majesties with the words "God bless your coming in and going out from now to all eternity."

To the sound of music the procession entered the cathedral.

The chief justices of the supreme court took a royal mantle from the altar and jointly with the bishop of Trondhjem placed it over the shoulders of the king, who knelt on the decorative stool before the throne. The bishop of Trondhjem took the anointment horn and anointed the king on the forehead and wrists, saying, "May the Almighty God anoint you with his spirit and grace and give unto you to reign with wisdom, power and mercy; that the name of God may be hallowed, right and truth may be confirmed to the benefit and happiness of the people and land."

The president of the storting then declared the coronation performed.

The first and last verses of a hymn, "God Bless Our Dear Fatherland," was then sung. The first two lines being recited by the bishop of Bergen.

Their majesties then left the church to the sound of music, accompanied by a great procession of notables, and drove back to the Stiftsgaard.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan are spending a week in Norway and will then go to England. They will sail from Gibraltar for home at the end of August.

Mr. Bryan, interviewed here, taking for his text the statement that he was being described as conservative, said: "I am not responsible for the phrases used in regard to me, but I am responsible for my position on public questions. That position ought to be well known. Take the trust question, for instance, as it seems uppermost just now. My position is that private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable. That was the Democratic platform in 1904, and it is the only tenable position.

There is some talk of controlling the trusts. You might as well talk of controlling burglary. We do not say men shall only steal a little bit or in some particular way, but that they shall not steal at all. It is so of private monopolies. It is not sufficient to control or regulate them. They must be absolutely and totally destroyed. Corporations should be controlled and regulated, but private monopolies must be exterminated root and branch. Now, you may call that a radical doctrine. Yet it is more conservative to apply this remedy now than to wait until predatory wealth has by its lawless-

ARMY IN MUTINY. Military Outbreak at Sevastopol, Russia and Krasnoyarsk.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 22.—A large proportion of the news appearing in the papers of this city this morning consists of dispatches telling of military disaffection.

In addition to the outbreaks at Sevastopol and Krasnoyarsk, the garrison of Krasnoyarsk, capital of the province of Yenisei and one of the principal cities of Siberia, has mutinied and killed its officers out of hand. The trouble was caused by an intoxicated colored named Shurin, who, hearing a titter from a group of enlisted men, snatched one of the soldiers. The latter's companions thereupon killed the colored man with clubs. Two of the soldiers were arrested, and as soon as the news spread the regiment mutinied and demanded the release of their comrades. Captain Kozmin, who ordered his company to fire on the mutineers, was killed by his own men. The entire population of Krasnoyarsk is in a panic.

Minister of Marine Birleff has again visited Cronstadt and urged the mutinous sailors to return loyally to their duty.

Kielce, a Polish city with a great Jewish population, was on the verge of an experience such as that through which Bialystok has just passed. During a religious procession a shot was fired, wounding a gendarme, but the police succeeded in holding the populace in check. The man who fired the shot, a Pole, was arrested.

At Genoa, where rumors of an impending anti-Jewish outbreak are rife, the military authorities summoned a deputation of Jews, who declared they had evidence that assassins were being planned and even named the leaders of the plot, but the commandant succeeded in reassuring them.

As the direct result of the Bialystok affair the Jews of Moscow have been allowed to open the only synagogue in the city, which has been closed for twenty years. The prefect in announcing the emperor's decision asked the rabbis to use their influence with the Jewish youth to restrain them from the revolutionary course.

LUCKY GO BETWEEN. Suburban Furnished Great Sport at Sheephead Bay. DANDELION BEATEN BY SHORT HEAD

NEW YORK, June 22.—Alexander Shields' five-year-old gelding, Judge, gelding, Go Between, carrying 140 pounds and third choice in the betting at 6 to 1, won the $20,000 Suburban handicap before one of the greatest crowds that ever witnessed the event at the Sheephead Bay course of the Coney Island Jockey club.

Go Between was but a short head in front of F. K. Hitchcock's four-year-old Hamburg colt Dandelion, which was equal favorite in the betting with Judge, but he was out of the race at the start.

The finish of the race was a terrific drive. Go Between catching Dandelion at the sixteenth pole in the stretch and fighting it out head and head to the wire. Shaw, on the winner, put up a masterly ride, while Miller on Dandelion got every ounce of strength out of his mount.

As the two leaders rushed to the judges' stand, both jockeys lashed the ribs of their horses into great foaming froth, the course rose to their feet and wildly shouted encouragement to jockeys and horses alike.

As the race started the lightweight Cederstrom and the three-year-old Astromer rushed away into the lead, with Dandelion third, Miller placing the horse secondly. Around the paddock turn and into the back stretch Cederstrom was at 60 to 1 in the betting, opened up a gap of three lengths on the field. Dandelion had replaced Astromer in second position, the latter falling back to third. Next came a compact bunch of six or seven horses.

Coming out of the back stretch, Cederstrom had to turn to fire, and the entire field had closed up to such an extent that seven or eight lengths covered the distance from leader to last horse. Sweeping into the stretch, Dandelion was in front, leading by a length. The thousands who had played the favorite were shouting with the surety of victory. Cederstrom was rapidly falling out of the race, but Calmorn, Bolly Spunker and Toka on the latter the winner of the Brooklyn handicap, were yet to be reckoned with.

And behind these was Go Between with Shaw sitting still in the saddle. The gelding's renowned stretch running qualities were well known to the race goers. Once the horses had straightened out for the finish Shaw let his mount have his head, and a great cry went up from the spectators. In a few jumps Go Between had passed every horse in the field but the last flying Dandelion. Then the red and black jacket of Shaw showed beside the Hitchcock green on Miller and the about "Go Between wins" was taken up from one end of the crowded stands to the other. The drive between the two was a furious one, but Go Between, running straight and true, was going away at the end.

Colonial girl dropped into third place from nowhere. The others finished in the following order: Agile Tokalon, Proper, Bolly Spunker, Kuroki, Calmorn, Astronmer, Cederstrom and Oxford.

The time of the race was 2:05.15. The record for the race is 2:05, made by Hermis in 1904.
